Bases Asked From Tito, Plus Help

Praise Is Given

Glowing Tribute Paid to Yugoslavia's Stand Against Russia

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Sept. 15 (AP)—The United States has asked Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia for greater cooperation in the joint defense of southeastern Europe, including the use by American planes of air bases in this country.

From a responsible source, it was learned that Vice Adm. J. H. Cassady, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean-based Sixth Fleet, laid the proposition before Tito last week aboard the giant aircraft carrier Coral Sea during his visit to Split.

It was presented in the course of a special briefing, before the Coral Sea's sailors and aviators put on a demonstration of American sea and air power. Tito was shown charts outlining how and where carrier-based planes, operating from the Adriatic, could strike in Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria if Yugoslavia was attacked by the Soviet satellites.

Tribute Is Paid

Cassady was quoted as paying a glowing tribute to Yugoslavia's resistance against Russian pressure since its break with the Soviet-led Cominform in 1948. He expressed American gratification at this country's recent measures to increase defensive cooperation with Greece and Turkey.

But he said the United States would like even greater direct cooperation with Yugoslavia—cooperation already marked by increasing shipment of American arms to equip Tito's tough, well-trained troops.

Cassady reportedly offered two informal yet highly important suggestions. He said he would like to see:

1. Yugoslavia grant American fliers the right to operate over this country and to use Yugoslav air bases in order to become better acquainted with the terrain in the event they are called upon for aid in case of war.

Would Like Maneuvers

2. Participation by the Yugoslav navy in joint maneuvers with units of the American navy in the Adriatic.

Both suggestions underscore the reason behind the decision of the Navy and the State Department to send a flotilla—one of the world's three largest carriers, a modern heavy cruiser and four destroyers—here for the most impressive demonstration of western strength since the war's end.

Poker faced, Tito remained non-committal. This came as no surprise.

It was unlikely, in any event, that he would make an on-the-spot decision. Presumably, the question how far Yugoslavia should go in cooperation with the western world will arise next month at a conference of the country's ruling Communist party at Zagreb — the first since the Cominform break nearly five years ago.

9 Red MIGs Shot Down Over Korea

Cleveland Scores His Second Plane In Korean Fight

Woodstock Pilot Also Has One Probable in Earlier Combat Flying

Seoul, Sept. 15 (AP)—Two of the three U. S. jet aces still in action in Korea claimed destruction of one MIG-15 each in the series of blazing air battles deep in North Korea today.

In all, allied pilots claimed eight MIGs shot down, one maneuvered into the ground, one ground, one probably destroyed and two damaged.

The aces who added to their totals were Maj. Frederick Blesse, son of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. F. A. Blesse, Richmond, Va., and Capt. Clifford D. Jolley, Salt Lake City.

Blesse's score now stands at seven MIGs and one propeller-driven LA-9 destroyed and three MIGs damaged. Jolley's toll is six MIGs destroyed, one probably destroyed and five damaged.

Other Sabre pilots claiming MIGs destroyed include Lt. Col. Carroll B. McElroy, 127 Pelham, Mamaroneck, New York, his second; and Lt. Charles G. Cleveland, Woodstock, N. Y., his second, plus one probable in another engagement.

Give Japan New Control

Tokyo, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Mainichi Shimbun today said the U. S. plans to turn the defense of Japan's northern island, Hokkaido, over to a new Japanese army of 14 divisions within two years. The Mainichi, one of Japan's largest national dailies, said the plan was contained in a highly classified letter from Lt. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, General Mark Clark's chief of staff, to Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida. It did not say how it learned of the letter. U. S. headquarters and the Japanese Foreign Office declined comment.

Inspection Is Made

Tokyo, Sept. 15 (AP)—Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps, arrived today on a 10-day inspection of marine installations in the Far East. He will tour marine bases in Japan tomorrow and fly to Korea Wednesday.

Sabre Jets Inflict Heavy Toll While Flying Cover for Bombers

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 15 (AP)—U. S. Sabre Jet pilots destroyed at least nine Communist MIG-15s today while flying protective cover for allied fighter-bombers attacking Red targets deep in North Korea, the air force announced.

Eight MIGs were shot down, one was maneuvered into crashing, another probably was destroyed and two were damaged in 11 separate battles. Fighting ranged from 30,000 feet down to tree-top level.

The fighter-bombers plastered a Communist industrial complex at Sinuiju, only a few miles from the Manchurian border. Targets included an oxygen plant, an alcohol distillery and a rope factory.

More than 80 MIGs roared across the Yalu River from their big base at Antung in an attempt to protect the sprawling targets. They ran into 104 swift Sabres and the opposing Jets broke off into a series of twisting, turning dog fights.

41 Lost in Month

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said the day's bag of MIGs brought to at least 41 the number destroyed this month. Forty were KO'd by air force pilots and one by a carrier-based marine pilot. If the MIG which was outmaneuvered into crashing is officially confirmed, the total will be 42, within two of the one-month record of 44 racked up last April.

Allied losses, if any, will be reported later in a weekend summary.

Twenty-four F-84 Thunderjets hit Sinuiju in mid-afternoon to get the assault underway. They dropped tons of high explosives and fired thousands of machine-gun bullets into the targets.

Pilots reported dense clouds of smoke after the first bombing runs.

The air force said the rope factory appeared to be destroyed.

Oxygen Plant Destroyed

Two nearby industrial buildings also were reported destroyed.

Bombs from other Thunderjets flattened the oxygen plant, a T-shaped group of four large buildings. The bombs set off three roaring explosions, each of which erupted in huge clouds of smoke.

Allied pilots reported 14 direct hits on the alcohol distillery and direct hits on two structures near the oxygen plant.

The latest attack is one of a series of trip-hammer aerial blows against targets right up to the doorstop of Manchuria.

U. S. Navy plants Sunday paid a return visit to Hoeryang, less than two miles from Manchuria, and turned several warehouses and a power station into smoking ruins.

Eisenhower Asks Rights Be Protected

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that "we Americans are too likely to take for granted both the privileges and responsibilities of citizenship which stem from the constitution."

The Republican presidential nominee, who was campaigning in the midwest, issued a statement from his headquarters here on Citizenship Day, set by Congress for next Wednesday, the anniversary of the constitution.

"All of us can meet on the common ground of citizenship," Eisenhower said. "All can share that ground; and all must be ready to protect it."

Hits Levity Of Adlai in His Talks

General Sees No Humor in Korean War, Its Casualties, or Lack of Planning to End It

Begins Big Tour

Candidate Will Address Voters in 12 States in 12 Days

Aboard Eisenhower Special, Sept. 15 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told a mildly responsive crowd at Fort Wayne, Ind., today that "I see nothing funny" about the issues of the presidential campaign.

Opening a 12-day, 12-state drive, the Republican presidential nominee said:

"I am in this business (running for office) because I believe America is in peril. There is nothing funny in that."

Eisenhower was applauded by an estimated 5,000 persons as he jabbed at the levity with which his Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, has used in discussing some of the GOP reaction to political problems.

Sees No Humor in War

In an obvious effort to turn this satire against Stevenson, Eisenhower said solemnly:

"We are involved in a war in Korea without any plans for winning it. We have had 170,000 casualties in killed and wounded. There is nothing funny in that."

Eisenhower told the crowd that his greatest fun in campaigning is in making off the cuff speeches. He doesn't get much enjoyment out of so-called "major" speeches, he said.

Several Indiana Republican leaders, including Sens. William E. Jenner and Homer Capehart, joined the campaign train at a brief stop at Monroeville and in Fort Wayne.

Jenner, whose criticism of Gen. George C. Marshall as a "front for traitors" obviously has irked Eisenhower, was not included in the list of politicians scheduled to introduce the GOP nominee at seven appearances in the state.

Jenner and Eisenhower exchanged handshakes in the Fort Wayne station.

"I'm glad to see you again," said the general and then hurried on.

School kids perched on nearby housetops as Eisenhower spoke on the sunlit rail station.

In a series of whistle stop appearances in Indiana, the general prepared to pose political issues and inquire of his listeners if any of these is "a laughing matter."

Might Prove Value

The response of the Indiana crowds, expected to be predominantly Republican in character, might determine whether this technique would be continued.

The train's first scheduled stop was Fort Wayne, Ind. (9 a. m., EST).

Adams said in a statement that Eisenhower himself "will continue to present honestly, simply but thoroughly to the American people the issues and problems that confront them at these critical times."

This presentation was expected to take the form, in the 12-day, 12-state train tour on which he has embarked, of a three-pronged Eisenhower attack on Democrats on the issues of Korea, corruption and communism.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, one of the general's top advisers told this reporter the Eisenhower camp is convinced by a private survey of its own that Korea tops all other issues in eight midwestern farm states.

Korea Is on Top

Carlson said voters were asked to name from a list of ten their choice of the top issue. He said 27.4 per cent put Korea ahead of all others. This outstripped corruption and communism, he said, adding that farm price supports were well down the list.

Byrnes to Give Ike Introduction

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 15 (AP)—Gov. James F. Byrnes will introduce Gen. Dwight Eisenhower when the Republican presidential candidate speaks here Sept. 30. It will mark the first time any presidential candidate ever has campaigned in South Carolina.

Douglas McKay, chairman of the South Carolinians for Eisenhower, announced yesterday that Eisenhower would speak from the state house steps and afterward would be a dinner guest of Byrnes in the governor's mansion.

Byrnes, former representative and senator, Supreme Court justice and secretary of state, but now a critic of the Truman administration, signed a petition by which the South Carolinians for Eisenhower were able to get a second set of Eisenhower-Nixon electors on the South Carolina ballot in addition to electors of the regular Republican party. This was a move to attract dissatisfied Democrats and independents, who, it was felt, would not vote for an outright Republican ticket.

McKay said Byrnes' introduction of Eisenhower would not be an endorsement of the general's candidacy. The governor has said he is for the Stevenson-Sparkman Democratic ticket but reserved the right to change his mind.

Prudential Insurance Co. Will Move to Bank Building

Concern to Relocate in Rondout Nat'l at Broadway, Henry St.

The Kingston district office of the Prudential Insurance Company will move into the new Rondout National Bank building on Broadway at Henry street during next March or April, George G. McCarthy, district manager, revealed today.

The insurance company's present offices are at 40 John street, where they have been located more than a quarter-century. The company has maintained an office in the Kingston district for 60 years.

To Be on Second Floor

According to present plans, Prudential will take over the second floor of the new bank building, McCarthy said. The move will give the company more modern quarters, centrally located and convenient to banking facilities, it was pointed out.

Three Are Injured In Six Accidents

Two Men Are Arrested as Drunken Drivers by Local Police

Three persons were injured slightly and three arrests were made following six city traffic mishaps during the weekend.

Ralph F. Masten, 25, of 6 Hanratty street, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated, and Samuel Masten, 71, of the same address, was arrested on a public intoxication charge, following an accident near 315 Hasbrouck avenue Saturday afternoon.

Max Semder, 43, of Brooklyn, whose car, police said, left the road and damaged guard rails near Leherb's restaurant on the Boulevard, Sunday night, was also arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Police were notified at 6:40 p. m. and Officers Walter VanSteenburgh and Harold Bowers investigated.

Two Plead Innocent

The Mastens pleaded not guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Minto today and their cases were put over to Sept. 22. The bail for Ralph was $50 and for Samuel $5. They are represented by Attorney Bernard A. Culloton, and John Larkin appeared for the district attorney's office. Semder also pleaded not guilty and bail was fixed at $100. Attorney Howard C. St. John appeared for him with John Larkin for the district attorney's office.

Police were notified of the accident in which the Masten car was involved, at 4:30 p. m., Saturday, and the arrests were by Officers Gurnsey Burger, Jr., and Thomas Tomshaw.

The report said, the car, owned by Samuel and driven by Ralph Masten, was headed south on Hasbrouck avenue when it ran into a tree in front of 315 Hasbrouck avenue, and "the impact cut the tree off." The car also struck a second tree.

The Masten car was passing to the right of a car driven by Gladys F. Nickerson, of 321 Hasbrouck avenue, which was turning right into a driveway. The damaged trees, police said, were on the property of Edwin L. Kolts, 315 Hasbrouck avenue.

Car Strikes Pole

A report by Officer George Dougherty at 1:39 a. m., today said a car owned by Bernard Donnelly, of 39 West Union street, and operated by Robert Ellis Saulpaugh, of 139 Second avenue, headed up Broadway, skidded and struck a pole at Broadway and McEntee street.

Police listed Marlene and Betty Coughlin, of 48 Hunter street as slightly injured. Marlene was admitted to Kingston Hospital for treatment of contusions of the head and a slight scalp injury. Her condition was reported as "good" later today.

Officer Dougherty also reported

Accident Brings Process

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 15 (AP)—A laboratory "accident" has led to the development of new, double-duty dyes that make fabrics both water-repellent and colorful in one process, the American Chemical Society was told today. Dr. Clyde C. DeWitt of Michigan State College said the accidental spilling of a chemical compound designed for quite another use had paved the way for making dyes that increase the water-repellency of wool by 60 times and of cotton by 12 times—without any change in the texture or composition of the materials. He told the chemical society's 122nd national meeting that in methods commonly used today waterproofing is applied after the fabric is dyed, and that most have a shorter lasting waterproof effect than the new dyes.

Churches to Stay Closed

Rome, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Italian government today ordered all 22 branches of the Protestant Church of Christ in Catholic Italy to remain closed until they are granted official permission to operate. A Church of Christ spokesman said the American-sponsored religious denomination will go to the courts and fight the ban as unconstitutional.

Police Still Seek Fugitives Around Pennsylvania City

Also Admit Desperadoes Might Have Slipped Away — Ithaca Angle Noted

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 15 (AP)—Without a single positive clue for nearly 72 hours, police officials clung stubbornly today to the belief that three fugitive bank robbers, target of Pennsylvania's greatest manhunt in years, still might be holed up somewhere near this northeastern industrial city. They acknowledged, however, a growing possibility that the men had slipped away.

State police, FBI men, and local officers, all heavily armed, were cautiously on the lookout for the three who have been described officially as "desperate and vicious." Roadblock and patrols covered main and rural roads over an area hundreds of miles square.

"There is nothing to indicate the fugitives have gotten out of this area," said Arthur Cornelius, agent-in-charge of the Philadelphia FBI office.

Summoned on Monday

He disclosed that additional G-men were summoned here yesterday after one "hot tip," that the men had been seen near Pen-Mar, Pa., 120 miles to the south, apparently was canceled by a fruitless search.

Officials asked every resident to report anything that might be a clue. They got a steady trickle of reports that one or more of the men had been seen and every one was given a quick and thorough check. But state police admitted that the last time they were certain the fugitives had been seen was about 10 a. m. Friday at nearby Guthsville.

Officers said they were confident that the three men had not gotten the stolen car in which they were riding past the many roadblocks thrown up about that time. But the two-tone Pontiac sedan hadn't been sighted and officers said it was possible the men might have obtained another car, or cars.

Five Autos Stolen

Five autos have been reported stolen within a 100-mile radius of here within 48 hours. One which was being sought particularly was a maroon 1950 Studebaker sedan taken from an Allentown street early Saturday.

That car closely resembled one mentioned in a report from Ithaca, N. Y., more than 100 miles to the northwest. The report was that a man resembling one of the

Europeans Are Requested To Join in Unity of West

Strasbourg, France, Sept. 15 (AP)—Europe's first international constitutional convention today asked European states outside its own six-nation membership to join in work on a blueprint for a united western Europe.

The delegates from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—the Schuman Plan countries—got off to a quick start on their constitution-drafting task with the unanimous election of Belgian Paul-Henri Spaak as their president.

The vote to hear observers from members of the 14-nation council of Europe represented a gesture to Britain, who so far has confined her participation in moves toward European unity to membership in the council.

West Germany led the drive to silence the non-Schuman countries, but French Socialist Guy Mollet forced the issue with a demand to decide at once "whether our confederation is supposed to be open to all who want to become members or associates, or whether it is to be a closed corporation limited to the six Schuman Plan nations.

The vote admitting the other nations to the debate was 49 to 0, with four abstentions.

These other nations would not be permitted to vote, either in committee stages or in plenary sessions. The assembly decided the main drafting job would be done

Campaign Outlook

(This is the first of a series of five stories on the political situation as of now, as seen by newspaper editors and political writers in all 48 states.)

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

New York, Sept. 15 — Five politically potent Middle Atlantic States—New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware—are expected by editors and political writers at this stage of the campaign to go narrowly Republican in November as they did in 1948.

An Associated Press survey, based on county-by-county and section-by-section estimates of editors and correspondents, indicates there is a composite belief that if the election were run off now, Republican presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower would roll up bigger margins of victory in most of these states than Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York did four years ago.

Even so, the margins still are so slender that two of the states—Maryland and Delaware — must be considered doubtful, although they are regarded as tilting toward the GOP at this point.

Could Be Upset

Campaign developments between now and Election Day could upset present calculations as to winning margins and easily toss any of these states to the Democratic nominee, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

The 105 electoral ballots of the five states are a prize political package. They represent nearly one fifth of the total of 531 and almost two fifths of the 266 electoral votes needed to win the election.

In no other area of the country is there such a concentration of political power. And through two decades of political history the states have shown remarkable uniformity in their voting records.

In 1932, New York, New Jersey and Maryland went Democratic while Pennsylvania and Delaware voted Republican. But in every presidential election since, all have voted alike—Democratic in 1936, 1940 and 1944; Republican in 1948.

Four years ago, however, the GOP took New York and Maryland because Henry A. Wallace and the Progressive party drew votes away from the Democratic ticket.

Political soundings in the early stages of the 1952 campaign point toward the Republicans' capturing all five states once more, although by an eyelash again in Maryling and by a small margin in tiny Delaware.

Cooperation Is Given

These soundings, and those to follow for other states, are being taken through the cooperation of Associated Press member newspapers and radio stations, other newspapers and local correspondents. They are an effort to obtain, first of all, a picture of the political outlook in every county and

Green Indicates Backing For Stevenson by AFL Group

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—Delegates to the 71st annual AFL convention gathered today to hear an opening-day address by President William Green, who has indicated the group will endorse Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for president.

Decision on a presidential choice is expected to be made a week from tomorrow after the convention has heard addresses by Stevenson and his Republican opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The General will talk Wednesday, and Stevenson next Monday.

The 752 convention delegates represent eight million-odd AFL members.

The AFL's executive council filed a report last night in which it denounced the Taft-Hartley Act as "dismal failure" and called the wage-price control program unfair to labor.

Green made it clear at a pre-convention news conference that if the delegates decide on a presidential choice it will be largely—if not entirely—based on the candidates' views and their party platform regarding the Taft-Hartley Act.

Stevenson and the Democratic platform advocate repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, and a new labor relations act. Eisenhower is against repeal, but has recommended revisions to improve the

Cassady Meets Premier in Belgrade, Places Proposals Before Him for Review

Praise Is Given

Glowing Tribute Paid to Yugoslavia's Stand Against Russia

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Sept. 15 (AP)—The United States has asked Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia for greater cooperation in the joint defense of southeastern Europe, including the use by American planes of air bases in this country.

From a responsible source, it was learned that Vice Adm. J. H. Cassady, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean-based Sixth Fleet, laid the proposition before Tito last week aboard the giant aircraft carrier Coral Sea during his visit to Split.

It was presented in the course of a special briefing, before the Coral Sea's sailors and aviators put on a demonstration of American sea and air power, Tito was shown charts outlining how and where carrier-based planes, operating from the Adriatic, could strike in Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria if Yugoslavia was attacked by the Soviet satellites.

Tribute Is Paid

Cassady was quoted as paying a glowing tribute to Yugoslavia's resistance against Russian pressure since its break with the Soviet-led Cominform in 1948. He expressed American gratification at this country's recent measures to increase defensive cooperation with Greece and Turkey.

But he said the United States would like even greater direct cooperation with Yugoslavia—cooperation already marked by increasing shipment of American arms to equip Tito's tough, well-trained troops.

Cassady reportedly offered two informal yet highly important suggestions. He said he would like to see:

1. Yugoslavia grant American fliers the right to operate over this country and to use Yugoslav air bases in order to become better acquainted with the terrain in the event they are called upon for aid in case of war.

Would Like Maneuvers

2. Participation by the Yugoslav navy in joint maneuvers with units of the American navy in the Adriatic.

Both suggestions underscore the reason behind the decision of the Navy and the State Department to send a flotilla—one of the world's three largest carriers, a modern heavy cruiser and four destroyers—here for the most impressive demonstration of western strength since the war's end.

Poker faced, Tito remained non-committal. This came as no surprise.

It was unlikely, in any event, that he would make an on-the-spot decision. Presumably, the question how far Yugoslavia should go in cooperation with the western world will arise next month at a conference of the country's ruling Communist party at Zagreb — the first since the Cominform break nearly five years ago.

9 Red MIGs Shot Down Over Korea

Cleveland Scores His Second Plane In Korean Fight

Woodstock Pilot Also Has One Probable in Earlier Combat Flying

Seoul, Sept. 15 (AP)—Two of the three U. S. jet aces still in action in Korea claimed destruction of one MIG-15 each in the series of blazing air battles deep in North Korea today.

In all, allied pilots claimed eight MIGs shot down, one maneuvered into the ground, one ground, one probably destroyed and two damaged.

The aces who added to their totals were Maj. Frederick Blesse, son of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. F. A. Blesse, Richmond, Va., and Capt. Clifford D. Jolley, Salt Lake City.

Blesse's score now stands at seven MIGs and one propeller-driven LA-9 destroyed and three MIGs damaged. Jolley's toll is six MIGs destroyed, one probably destroyed and five damaged.

Other Sabre pilots claiming MIGs destroyed include Lt. Col. Carroll B. McElroy, 127 Pelham, Mamaroneck, New York, his second; and Lt. Charles G. Cleveland, Woodstock, N. Y., his second, plus one probable in another engagement.

Give Japan New Control

Tokyo, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Mainichi Shimbun today said the U. S. plans to turn the defense of Japan's northern island, Hokkaido, over to a new Japanese army of 14 divisions within two years. The Mainichi, one of Japan's largest national dailies, said the plan was contained in a highly classified letter from Lt. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, General Mark Clark's chief of staff, to Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida. It did not say how it learned of the letter. U. S. headquarters and the Japanese Foreign Office declined comment.

Inspection Is Made

Tokyo, Sept. 15 (AP)—Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps, arrived today on a 10-day inspection of marine installations in the Far East. He will tour marine bases in Japan tomorrow and fly to Korea Wednesday.

Sabre Jets Inflict Heavy Toll While Flying Cover for Bombers

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 15 (AP)—U. S. Sabre Jet pilots destroyed at least nine Communist MIG-15s today while flying protective cover for allied fighter-bombers attacking Red targets deep in North Korea, the air force announced.

Eight MIGs were shot down, one was maneuvered into crashing, another probably was destroyed and two were damaged in 11 separate battles. Fighting ranged from 30,000 feet down to tree-top level.

The fighter-bombers plastered a Communist industrial complex at Sinuiju, only a few miles from the Manchurian border. Targets included an oxygen plant, an alcohol distillery and a rope factory.

More than 80 MIGs roared across the Yalu River from their big base at Antung in an attempt to protect the sprawling targets. They ran into 104 swift Sabres and the opposing Jets broke off into a series of twisting, turning dog fights.

41 Lost in Month

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said the day's bag of MIGs brought to at least 41 the number destroyed this month. Forty were KO'd by air force pilots and one by a carrier-based marine pilot. If the MIG which was outmaneuvered into crashing is officially confirmed, the total will be 42, within two of the one-month record of 44 racked up last April.

Allied losses, if any, will be reported later in a weekend summary.

Twenty-four F-84 Thunderjets hit Sinuiju in mid-afternoon to get the assault underway. They dropped tons of high explosives and fired thousands of machine-gun bullets into the targets.

Pilots reported dense clouds of smoke after the first bombing runs.

The air force said the rope factory appeared to be destroyed.

Oxygen Plant Destroyed

Two nearby industrial buildings also were reported destroyed.

Bombs from other Thunderjets flattened the oxygen plant, a T-shaped group of four large buildings. The bombs set off three roaring explosions, each of which erupted in huge clouds of smoke.

Allied pilots reported 14 direct hits on the alcohol distillery and direct hits on two structures near the oxygen plant.

The latest attack is one of a series of trip-hammer aerial blows against targets right up to the doorstop of Manchuria.

U. S. Navy plants Sunday paid a return visit to Hoeryang, less than two miles from Manchuria, and turned several warehouses and a power station into smoking ruins.

Eisenhower Asks Rights Be Protected

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that "we Americans are too likely to take for granted both the privileges and responsibilities of citizenship which stem from the constitution."

The Republican presidential nominee, who was campaigning in the midwest, issued a statement from his headquarters here on Citizenship Day, set by Congress for next Wednesday, the anniversary of the constitution.

"All of us can meet on the common ground of citizenship," Eisenhower said. "All can share that ground; and all must be ready to protect it."

Stevenson to Visit Doubtful States; To Travel by Auto

Aides Consider New York 'Safe' for Governor— Satire's Effect No Good for Him

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 15 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson, mapping strategy on the basis of reports from his first campaign swing, prepared today for an assault on the Atlantic seaboard, battling for four states that are considered "doubtful" in this election.

The Democratic presidential candidate opens his second major drive next Thursday.

His line of march takes him through Connecticut, into Massachusetts, New York, Maryland and Virginia.

Of the five, his managers con-

Byrnes to Give Ike Introduction

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 15 (AP)—Gov. James F. Byrnes will introduce Gen. Dwight Eisenhower when the Republican presidential candidate speaks here Sept. 30. It will mark the first time any presidential candidate ever has campaigned in South Carolina.

Douglas McKay, chairman of the South Carolinians for Eisenhower, announced yesterday that Eisenhower would speak from the state house steps and afterward would be a dinner guest of Byrnes in the governor's mansion.

Byrnes, former representative and senator, Supreme Court justice and secretary of state, but now a critic of the Truman administration, signed a petition by which the South Carolinians for Eisenhower were able to get a second set of Eisenhower-Nixon electors on the South Carolina ballot in addition to electors of the regular Republican party. This was a move to attract dissatisfied Democrats and independents, who, it was felt, would not vote for an outright Republican ticket.

McKay said Byrnes' introduction of Eisenhower would not be an endorsement of the general's candidacy. The governor has said he is for the Stevenson-Sparkman Democratic ticket but reserved the right to change his mind.

Hits Levity Of Adlai in His Talks

General Sees No Humor in Korean War, Its Casualties, or Lack of Planning to End It

Begins Big Tour

Candidate Will Address Voters in 12 States in 12 Days

Aboard Eisenhower Special, Sept. 15 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told a mildly responsive crowd at Fort Wayne, Ind., today that "I see nothing funny" about the issues of the presidential campaign.

Opening a 12-day, 12-state drive, the Republican presidential nominee said:

"I am in this business (running for office) because I believe America is in peril. There is nothing funny in that."

Eisenhower was applauded by an estimated 5,000 persons as he jabbed at the levity with which his Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, has used in discussing some of the GOP reaction to political problems.

Sees No Humor in War

In an obvious effort to turn this satire against Stevenson, Eisenhower said solemnly:

"We are involved in a war in Korea without any plans for winning it. We have had 170,000 casualties in killed and wounded. There is nothing funny in that."

Eisenhower told the crowd that his greatest fun in campaigning is in making off the cuff speeches. He doesn't get much enjoyment out of so-called "major" speeches, he said.

Several Indiana Republican leaders, including Sens. William E. Jenner and Homer Capehart, joined the campaign train at a brief stop at Monroeville and in Fort Wayne.

Jenner, whose criticism of Gen. George C. Marshall as a "front for traitors" obviously has irked Eisenhower, was not included in the list of politicians scheduled to introduce the GOP nominee at seven appearances in the state.

Jenner and Eisenhower exchanged handshakes in the Fort Wayne station.

"I'm glad to see you again," said the general and then hurried on.

School kids perched on nearby housetops as Eisenhower spoke on the sunlit rail station.

In a series of whistle stop appearances in Indiana, the general prepared to pose political issues and inquire of his listeners if any of these is "a laughing matter."

Might Prove Value

The response of the Indiana crowds, expected to be predominantly Republican in character, might determine whether this technique would be continued.

The train's first scheduled stop was Fort Wayne, Ind. (9 a. m., EST).

Adams said in a statement that Eisenhower himself "will continue to present honestly, simply but thoroughly to the American people the issues and problems that confront them at these critical times."

This presentation was expected to take the form, in the 12-day, 12-state train tour on which he has embarked, of a three-pronged Eisenhower attack on Democrats on the issues of Korea, corruption and communism.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, one of the general's top advisers told this reporter the Eisenhower camp is convinced by a private survey of its own that Korea tops all other issues in eight midwestern farm states.

Korea Is on Top

Carlson said voters were asked to name from a list of ten their choice of the top issue. He said 27.4 per cent put Korea ahead of all others. This outstripped corruption and communism, he said, adding that farm price supports were well down the list.

Eisenhower has accused the Campaign Outlook

(This is the first of a series of five stories on the political situation as of now, as seen by newspaper editors and political writers in all 48 states.)

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

New York, Sept. 15 — Five politically potent Middle Atlantic States—New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware—are expected by editors and political writers at this stage of the campaign to go narrowly Republican in November as they did in 1948.

An Associated Press survey, based on county-by-county and section-by-section estimates of editors and correspondents, indicates there is a composite belief that if the election were run off now, Republican presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower would roll up bigger margins of victory in most of these states than Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York did four years ago.

Even so, the margins still are so slender that two of the states—Maryland and Delaware — must be considered doubtful, although they are regarded as tilting toward the GOP at this point.

Could Be Upset

Campaign developments between now and Election Day could upset present calculations as to winning margins and easily toss any of these states to the Democratic nominee, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

The 105 electoral ballots of the five states are a prize political package. They represent nearly one fifth of the total of 531 and almost two fifths of the 266 electoral votes needed to win the election.

In no other area of the country is there such a concentration of political power. And through two decades of political history the states have shown remarkable uniformity in their voting records.

In 1932, New York, New Jersey and Maryland went Democratic while Pennsylvania and Delaware voted Republican. But in every presidential election since, all have voted alike—Democratic in 1936, 1940 and 1944; Republican in 1948.

Four years ago, however, the GOP took New York and Maryland because Henry A. Wallace and the Progressive party drew votes away from the Democratic ticket.

Political soundings in the early stages of the 1952 campaign point toward the Republicans' capturing all five states once more, although by an eyelash again in Maryling and by a small margin in tiny Delaware.

Cooperation Is Given

These soundings, and those to follow for other states, are being taken through the cooperation of Associated Press member newspapers and radio stations, other newspapers and local correspondents. They are an effort to obtain, first of all, a picture of the political outlook in every county and

Europeans Are Requested To Join in Unity of West

Strasbourg, France, Sept. 15 (AP)—Europe's first international constitutional convention today asked European states outside its own six-nation membership to join in work on a blueprint for a united western Europe.

The delegates from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—the Schuman Plan countries—got off to a quick start on their constitution-drafting task with the unanimous election of Belgian Paul-Henri Spaak as their president.

The vote to hear observers from members of the 14-nation council of Europe represented a gesture to Britain, who so far has confined her participation in moves toward European unity to membership in the council.

West Germany led the drive to silence the non-Schuman countries, but French Socialist Guy Mollet forced the issue with a demand to decide at once "whether our confederation is supposed to be open to all who want to become members or associates, or whether it is to be a closed corporation limited to the six Schuman Plan nations.

The vote admitting the other nations to the debate was 49 to 0, with four abstentions.

These other nations would not be permitted to vote, either in committee stages or in plenary sessions. The assembly decided the main drafting job would be done

Green Indicates Backing For Stevenson by AFL Group

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—Delegates to the 71st annual AFL convention gathered today to hear an opening-day address by President William Green, who has indicated the group will endorse Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for president.

Decision on a presidential choice is expected to be made a week from tomorrow after the convention has heard addresses by Stevenson and his Republican opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The General will talk Wednesday, and Stevenson next Monday.

The 752 convention delegates represent eight million-odd AFL members.

The AFL's executive council filed a report last night in which it denounced the Taft-Hartley Act as "dismal failure" and called the wage-price control program unfair to labor.

Green made it clear at a pre-convention news conference that if the delegates decide on a presidential choice it will be largely—if not entirely—based on the candidates' views and their party platform regarding the Taft-Hartley Act.

Stevenson and the Democratic platform advocate repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, and a new labor relations act. Eisenhower is against repeal, but has recommended revisions to improve the

Wallkill Man Hurt As Car Overturns

A young Wallkill man was critically injured early Sunday morning when his convertible overturned on Route 208 in that village.

State police of the Highland station reported that Harold Auchmoody, 20, suffered severe lacerations of the head, a possible skull fracture and shock in a 3:30 a. m. accident.

After treatment at the office of Dr. Ira Wickner in Wallkill, Auchmoody was taken by ambulance to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh, where his condition late this morning was reported "critical."

Troopers said Auchmoody was the only occupant of his 1947 automobile, which apparently had been traveling in a southerly direction, failed to make a sharp right curve, sideswiped a tree and overturned.

Spitsbergen was visited by the Norse Vikings about 1194. They named it Svalbard, "Land of the Cold Coasts."

Child Safety Is Urged by Police

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren today stressed the fact that nearly 170,000 children in the nation are traffic accident victims in one year.

The chief asked support of the child safety program sponsored by the Police Bureau of the New York State Division of Safety this month.

"Children," he said, "must be taught to take care of themselves in traffic. What good is a balanced diet, adequate rest, and the many comforts and luxuries most parents try to provide, if the child knows no better than to risk his life in traffic?"

Chief Van Buren advised parents to teach by practice as well as by precept, since children learn most readily by example, and stressed the necessity of coordinating the home instruction in traffic safety with the traffic safety program at school. Any conflict between the two, he said, will hopelessly confuse youngsters.

Chief Van Buren urged everyone to cut down the alarming toll of traffic deaths and injuries among our young people and to wholeheartedly support the State Division of Safety's program for the month of September—Child Safety.

law without changing its "basic principles."

"His is bound to have an effect on the delegates," Green said. He added that they were waiting to "see what Eisenhower has to say."

The AFL executive council issued an 11th-hour invitation to Sen. Wayne Morse (R.-Ore.) to address the convention Thursday or Friday.

The New York Times said Morse accepted the invitation.

The invitation was extended to the self-styled liberal Republican last night after he announced he would not campaign for Eisenhower. He previously had indicated he would campaign vigorously for the nominee.

Morse said in Washington Saturday that he would sit out this campaign. He indicated that, among other things, he doesn't like Eisenhower's agreement with many of Sen. Robert A. Taft's views.

Morse said yesterday that for the present, at least, he plans to vote for Eisenhower. The senator said he would not repudiate the general if Eisenhower does not "repudiate the sound Republicanism which constitutional liberals in the Republican party have been fighting for."

If the AFL convention formally endorses either candidate, it will be the first time in AFL history. The AFL in 1924 backed the late Sen. Robert M. Lafollette, the Progressive candidate. But the action was taken by a special committee— not by a convention as a whole.

The AFL's committee to oust racketeers from the ranks of unions began an investigation yesterday into the operation of some New York locals which reportedly have ex-convicts as officers.

Skulls, Bones Are Caucasian Relics, Derman Declares

Skulls and bones turned up by a shovel operator at the Century Manufacturing Company in Rosendale are believed to be those of an elderly white man and 13-year-old child, Dr. Herbert I. Derman of the Kingston laboratory said following an examination today.

Two skulls, five large bones and several smaller bones found on Saturday morning were referred to Dr. Derman today by Coroner Ernest A. Kelly.

Measurements indicate one skull was that of an elderly male, "probably Caucasian, about 5 feet, 8 inches in height," Dr. Derman reported early this afternoon. The other was that of a child, about 13, also "probably caucasian," and about 4 feet 8 inches in height.

In Ground Long Time

The skulls and bones had probably been in the ground "a long time," Dr. Derman said, although he was unable to fix the time definitely. Prior to today's examination, the skulls were thought to be those of Indians, according to state police who investigated.

At the cement company offices, a spokesman said that the bones were uncovered about four or five feet below the surface by a type of automatic shovel known as a pay loader. The shovel and a crew of men were taking fill dirt from a bank alongside the mill at the time, the company spokesman said. The workmen, whose names were not available, immediately reported the find to state police and Coroner Kelly. The George J. Moylan Funeral Home of Rosendale was also notified and was directed by the coroner to take charge of the remains pending final disposition.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—The stock market was lower today with the railroads and oils in front of the decline.

The greatest losses in pivotal areas went to between 1 and 2 points with the bulk of the fall in fractions. Scattered plus signs were almost entirely fractional.

Trading was at a rate of around a million shares a day as compared with 1,040,000 shares traded Friday.

At the start of trading, stocks were irregular and moderately active, and as the session progressed they turned lower. Trading, it was noted, was on the quiet side while prices were dropping.

In addition to the weakness in railroads and oils, minus signs of larger than average size cropped up in chemicals.

Some sources mentioned the growing threat of a coal strike as a cause of uneasiness in the stock market. Other than that, the news coming out over the weekend continued to favor the market, it was felt.

Lower stocks included Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Illinois Central, Standard Oil (N. J.), American Telephone, Phelps Dodge, Union Carbide, General Motors, National Distillers, and Radio Corp.

Stocks on the curb exchange were generally lower including Consolidated Mining & Smelting, Great Lakes Oil, International Petroleum, Rio Grande Valley Gas, and Standard Brewing.

Corporate bonds were mixed while U. S. Governments in the over the counter market were lower.

Jury Might Get Snyder Case; Held As Child's Slayer

Carmel, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—A jury may start deliberating today the fate of convict Donald Snyder, accused of stabbing to death nine-year-old Betty June Arnold.

Snyder, 25, is accused of slaying the little girl last June 11 while holding her as hostage in trying to make good his escape from nearby Green Haven State Prison. The slight, balding Snyder had been serving a sentence for auto theft.

Snyder admitted he seized Betty June and her mother, Mrs. Marvin Arnold, of Mahopac, N. Y., in their car and tried to get the mother to drive him to New York city. He also said he used the child as a shield when a policeman closed in on him with a gun.

The policeman shot Snyder twice, in the neck and shoulder.

Counsel for Snyder contends that the stabbing was a "reflex action" caused by the first bullet wound, in the neck.

A few hours after the slaying, police said, Snyder signed a statement confessing the stabbing in detail. Last week during the trial, however, Snyder took the stand and said he could not remember plunging the six-inch knife into the child or being shot by the policeman.

The state rested its case last Thursday and the defense on Friday.

The state completed its rebuttal testimony today.

Dr. Perry Lichtenstein, psychiatrist attached to the New York City District Attorney's Office, was asked if he believed Snyder, after being wounded, was in possession of all his faculties.

"It is my opinion that he was in full contact with reality all times," Lichtenstein said.

The defense summing up was expected to take until about mid-afternoon, when the case is expected to go to the jury of five women and seven men. The state is demanding the death penalty for Snyder.

Sees Last Minute Rush For Auto Licenses

Harry D. Sutton, county clerk of Ulster county, said today that considerably less than half the operators' licenses expiring September 30, 1952, have been issued to date, which indicates that the next two weeks will be exceptionally busy in the Motor Vehicle Bureau and long waiting lines can hardly be avoided. Applications sent through the mail are not too heavy.

Many applications are being presented on which all questions are not answered, and which are not signed in three places. These licenses must be returned, resulting in delay in the issuance of renewals.

Highland Man Injured; Pinned Beneath Truck

Henderson Jones, 26, of Highland, was taken to Vassar Hospital for treatment of lacerations of the groin received when he was pinned beneath an overturned panel truck on Route 44-55 one mile east of Clintondale about 6:30 p. m. Sunday, state police of Highland reported. Four other passengers escaped injury, troopers said.

Jones, who was driving, told troopers he swerved to his right to avoid colliding with an unknown car that cut sharply in front of him after passing him on a sharp curve. The truck struck a large tree and turned over on its left side, pinning the driver between it and pavement, troopers reported.

Police Still Seek

fugitives had attempted to purchase beer at 9 a. m. yesterady and left after being told he was three thours ahead of the legal sales deadline, another report about the same time said that three men resembling the convicts had been seen at a diner in Afton, N. Y., and were headed east when they left. New York State Police were investigating.

The fugitives are Joseph Nolen, 26, and his brother Ballard, 22, both of Harlan county, Ky., and Elmer Schuer, 21, of Chicago. All were serving long terms for bank robbery when they fled the Federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., early Wednesday.

Since then they have stolen at least four cars: knifed one man; looted a West Reading, Pa., sporting goods store of six shotguns and a quantity of ammunition; held a family of seven captive for 19 hours while they ate and rested, and obtained $240 in the holdup of a roadside diner at Hamburg, Pa.

Two Rob Police Store

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—Two armed men held up a private store that sells police equipment in the Bronx today and fled with at least a dozen guns, plus ammunition. Victor Demayor, 27, son of the store owner, fired three shots at a black limousine in which the men fled. He said he thought he hit the car at least once.

Ohio ranks fourth in U. S. soybean production, with about 12,000,000 bushels annually.

Priests Relate Torture by Reds

Hong Kong, Sept. 15 (AP)—A Belgian Catholic father, whose beard literally had been torn from his face, and an Irish priest who once was forced to squat on his heels continuously for eight days, reached Hong Kong last night, weak but thankful. Catholic headquarters here told about the tortures.

Both men were still jittery, but are recovering.

Chinese Reds falsely accused Father Maurice Kavanagh of Wesford, Ireland, and Father Joseph Schyns of Brussels of heading a spy ring in Peiping. The two said they were tortured almost continuously for 14 months.

Arms Chained to Chairs

Father Kavanagh said his arms once were chained for weeks. Another time he was seated on a chair, and his feet placed on another chair. The Reds took turns sitting on his knees and bouncing up and down. He fainted repeatedly.

His joints were temporarily paralyzed and running sores covered his broken skin.

The 55-year-old Irishman said he refused to confess to false charges, although Communists in relays tugged at his ears for a week. After months of torture, he said, he could sleep only a few mintues at a time.

Beard Pulling Worst

Father Schyns suffered similar treatment, but he said the worst was the beard pulling * * *

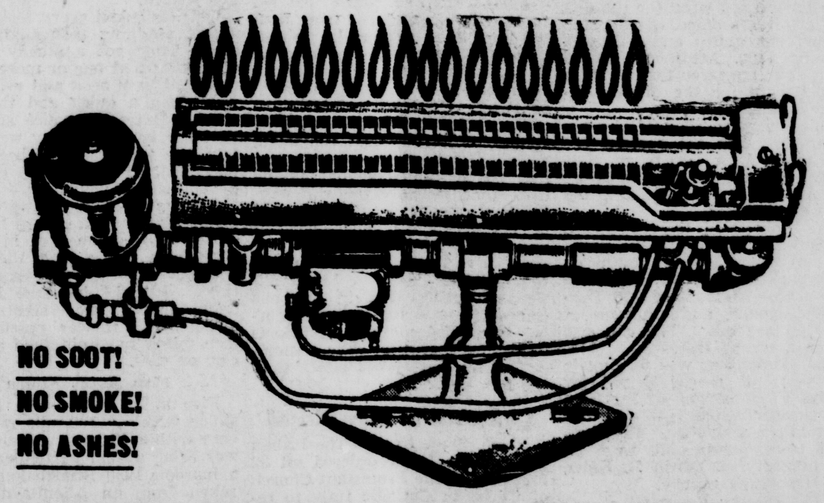

First the Reds knocked him to the floor and pulled him from wall to wall by his beard. Next they knotted a small rope to the beard, tied the other end to a hook in a wall, grabbed his legs and ran until the rope snapped them short.

Sometimes part of the beard ripped out; sometimes the knot slipped. Several times he thought his neck had broken.

Father Schyns said the Reds didn't give up until there wasn't enough beard left to tie the rope to.

Two months ago, the priests said, the Communists ordered them expelled, gave them medicine and fed them well. Both said the Reds are getting sensitive to the publicity which follows when "half-starved human scarecrows stumble out of China.

Wallkill Man Hurt As Car Overturns

A young Wallkill man was critically injured early Sunday morning when his convertible overturned on Route 208 in that village.

State police of the Highland station reported that Harold Auchmoody, 20, suffered severe lacerations of the head, a possible skull fracture and shock in a 3:30 a. m. accident.

After treatment at the office of Dr. Ira Wickner in Wallkill, Auchmoody was taken by ambulance to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh, where his condition late this morning was reported "critical."

Troopers said Auchmoody was the only occupant of his 1947 automobile, which apparently had been traveling in a southerly direction, failed to make a sharp right curve, sideswiped a tree and overturned.

Spitsbergen was visited by the Norse Vikings about 1194. They named it Svalbard, "Land of the Cold Coasts."

Child Safety Is Urged by Police

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren today stressed the fact that nearly 170,000 children in the nation are traffic accident victims in one year.

The chief asked support of the child safety program sponsored by the Police Bureau of the New York State Division of Safety this month.

"Children," he said, "must be taught to take care of themselves in traffic. What good is a balanced diet, adequate rest, and the many comforts and luxuries most parents try to provide, if the child knows no better than to risk his life in traffic?"

Chief Van Buren advised parents to teach by practice as well as by precept, since children learn most readily by example, and stressed the necessity of coordinating the home instruction in traffic safety with the traffic safety program at school. Any conflict between the two, he said, will hopelessly confuse youngsters.

Chief Van Buren urged everyone to cut down the alarming toll of traffic deaths and injuries among our young people and to wholeheartedly support the State Division of Safety's program for the month of September—Child Safety.

Brooklyn Man Victim Of Heart Attack Here

Frank Mammola, 68, of 1069 39th street, Brooklyn, who had been a summer resident of Rifton, died Saturday night of a heart attack shortly after he entered Kingston Hospital for treatment.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly said today that death was due to coronary occlusion.

Mammola, with his wife and another woman, entered police headquarters between 11 and 11:15 p. m. Saturday and Sgt. Lemuel Howard was informed that the man was suffering from a heart condition. Sgt. Howard took them to the hospital where Mammola was pronounced dead at 11:30 p. m.

law without changing its "basic principles."

"His is bound to have an effect on the delegates," Green said. He added that they were waiting to "see what Eisenhower has to say."

The AFL executive council issued an 11th-hour invitation to Sen. Wayne Morse (R.-Ore.) to address the convention Thursday or Friday.

The New York Times said Morse accepted the invitation.

The invitation was extended to the self-styled liberal Republican last night after he announced he would not campaign for Eisenhower. He previously had indicated he would campaign vigorously for the nominee.

Morse said in Washington Saturday that he would sit out this campaign. He indicated that, among other things, he doesn't like Eisenhower's agreement with many of Sen. Robert A. Taft's views.

Morse said yesterday that for the present, at least, he plans to vote for Eisenhower. The senator said he would not repudiate the general if Eisenhower does not "repudiate the sound Republicanism which constitutional liberals in the Republican party have been fighting for."

If the AFL convention formally endorses either candidate, it will be the first time in AFL history. The AFL in 1924 backed the late Sen. Robert M. Lafollette, the Progressive candidate. But the action was taken by a special committee— not by a convention as a whole.

The AFL's committee to oust racketeers from the ranks of unions began an investigation yesterday into the operation of some New York locals which reportedly have ex-convicts as officers.

Skulls, Bones Are Caucasian Relics, Derman Declares

Skulls and bones turned up by a shovel operator at the Century Manufacturing Company in Rosendale are believed to be those of an elderly white man and 13-year-old child, Dr. Herbert I. Derman of the Kingston laboratory said following an examination today.

Two skulls, five large bones and several smaller bones found on Saturday morning were referred to Dr. Derman today by Coroner Ernest A. Kelly.

Measurements indicate one skull was that of an elderly male, "probably Caucasian, about 5 feet, 8 inches in height," Dr. Derman reported early this afternoon. The other was that of a child, about 13, also "probably caucasian," and about 4 feet 8 inches in height.

In Ground Long Time

The skulls and bones had probably been in the ground "a long time," Dr. Derman said, although he was unable to fix the time definitely. Prior to today's examination, the skulls were thought to be those of Indians, according to state police who investigated.

At the cement company offices, a spokesman said that the bones were uncovered about four or five feet below the surface by a type of automatic shovel known as a pay loader. The shovel and a crew of men were taking fill dirt from a bank alongside the mill at the time, the company spokesman said. The workmen, whose names were not available, immediately reported the find to state police and Coroner Kelly. The George J. Moylan Funeral Home of Rosendale was also notified and was directed by the coroner to take charge of the remains pending final disposition.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—The stock market was lower today with the railroads and oils in front of the decline.

The greatest losses in pivotal areas went to between 1 and 2 points with the bulk of the fall in fractions. Scattered plus signs were almost entirely fractional.

Trading was at a rate of around a million shares a day as compared with 1,040,000 shares traded Friday.

At the start of trading, stocks were irregular and moderately active, and as the session progressed they turned lower. Trading, it was noted, was on the quiet side while prices were dropping.

In addition to the weakness in railroads and oils, minus signs of larger than average size cropped up in chemicals.

Some sources mentioned the growing threat of a coal strike as a cause of uneasiness in the stock market. Other than that, the news coming out over the week-end continued to favor the market, it was felt.

Lower stocks included Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Illinois Central, Standard Oil (N. J.), American Telephone, Phelps Dodge, Union Carbide, General Motors, National Distillers, and Radio Corp.

Stocks on the curb exchange were generally lower including Consolidated Mining & Smelting, Great Lakes Oil, International Petroleum, Rio Grande Valley Gas, and Standard Brewing.

Corporate bonds were mixed while U. S. Governments in the over the counter market were lower.

Jury Might Get Snyder Case; Held As Child's Slayer

Carmel, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—A jury may start deliberating today the fate of convict Donald Snyder, accused of stabbing to death nine-year-old Betty June Arnold.

Snyder, 25, is accused of slaying the little girl last June 11 while holding her as hostage in trying to make good his escape from nearby Green Haven State Prison. The slight, balding Snyder had been serving a sentence for auto theft.

Snyder admitted he seized Betty June and her mother, Mrs. Marvin Arnold, of Mahopac, N. Y., in their car and tried to get the mother to drive him to New York city. He also said he used the child as a shield when a policeman closed in on him with a gun.

The policeman shot Snyder twice, in the neck and shoulder.

Counsel for Snyder contends that the stabbing was a "reflex action" caused by the first bullet wound, in the neck.

A few hours after the slaying, police said, Snyder signed a statement confessing the stabbing in detail. Last week during the trial, however, Snyder took the stand and said he could not remember plunging the six-inch knife into the child or being shot by the policeman.

The state rested its case last Thursday and the defense on Friday.

"It is my opinion that he was in full contact with reality all times," Lichtenstein said.

The defense summing up was expected to take until about mid-afternoon, when the case is expected to go to the jury of five women and seven men. The state is demanding the death penalty for Snyder.

Sutton, county clerk of Ulster county, said today that considerably less than half the operators' licenses expiring September 30, 1952, have been issued to date, which indicates that the next two weeks will be exceptionally busy in the Motor Vehicle Bureau and long waiting lines can hardly be avoided. Applications sent through the mail are not too heavy.

Many applications are being presented on which all questions are not answered, and which are not signed in three places. These licenses must be returned, resulting in delay in the issuance of renewals.

Highland Man Injured; Pinned Beneath Truck

Henderson Jones, 26, of Highland, was taken to Vassar Hospital for treatment of lacerations of the groin received when he was pinned beneath an overturned panel truck on Route 44-55 one mile east of Clintondale about 6:30 p. m. Sunday, state police of Highland reported. Four other passengers escaped injury, troopers said.

Jones, who was driving, told troopers he swerved to his right to avoid colliding with an unknown car that cut sharply in front of him after passing him on a sharp curve. The truck struck a large tree and turned over on its left side, pinning the driver between it and pavement, troopers reported.

Police Still Seek

fugitives had attempted to purchase beer at 9 a. m. yesterady and left after being told he was three thours ahead of the legal sales deadline, another report about the same time said that three men resembling the convicts had been seen at a diner in Afton, N. Y., and were headed east when they left. New York State Police were investigating.

The fugitives are Joseph Nolen, 26, and his brother Ballard, 22, both of Harlan county, Ky., and Elmer Schuer, 21, of Chicago. All were serving long terms for bank robbery when they fled the Federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., early Wednesday.

Since then they have stolen at least four cars: knifed one man; looted a West Reading, Pa., sporting goods store of six shotguns and a quantity of ammunition; held a family of seven captive for 19 hours while they ate and rested, and obtained $240 in the holdup of a roadside diner at Hamburg, Pa.

Two Rob Police Store

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—Two armed men held up a private store that sells police equipment in the Bronx today and fled with at least a dozen guns, plus ammunition. Victor Demayor, 27, son of the store owner, fired three shots at a black limousine in which the men fled. He said he thought he hit the car at least once.

Ohio ranks fourth in U. S. soybean production, with about 12,000,000 bushels annually.

Priests Relate Torture by Reds

Hong Kong, Sept. 15 (AP)—A Belgian Catholic father, whose beard literally had been torn from his face, and an Irish priest who once was forced to squat on his heels continuously for eight days, reached Hong Kong last night, weak but thankful. Catholic headquarters here told about the tortures.

Both men were still jittery, but are recovering.

Chinese Reds falsely accused Father Maurice Kavanagh of Wesford, Ireland, and Father Joseph Schyns of Brussels of heading a spy ring in Peiping. The two said they were tortured almost continuously for 14 months.

Arms Chained to Chairs

Father Kavanagh said his arms once were chained for weeks. Another time he was seated on a chair, and his feet placed on another chair. The Reds took turns sitting on his knees and bouncing up and down. He fainted repeatedly.

His joints were temporarily paralyzed and running sores covered his broken skin.

The 55-year-old Irishman said he refused to confess to false charges, although Communists in relays tugged at his ears for a week. After months of torture, he said, he could sleep only a few mintues at a time.

Beard Pulling Worst

Father Schyns suffered similar treatment, but he said the worst was the beard pulling * * *

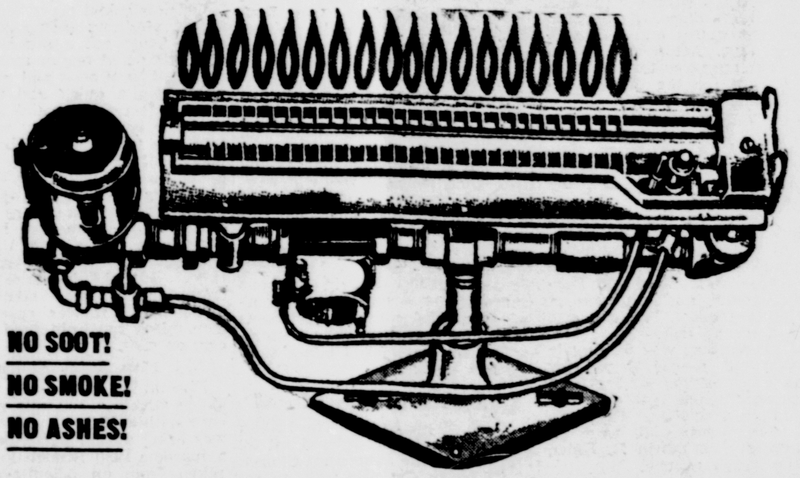

First the Reds knocked him to the floor and pulled him from wall to wall by his beard. Next they knotted a small rope to the beard, tied the other end to a hook in a wall, grabbed his legs and ran until the rope snapped them short.

Sometimes part of the beard ripped out; sometimes the knot slipped. Several times he thought his neck had broken.

Father Schyns said the Reds didn't give up until there wasn't enough beard left to tie the rope to.

Two months ago, the priests said, the Communists ordered them expelled, gave them medicine and fed them well. Both said the Reds are getting sensitive to the publicity which follows when "half-starved human scarecrows stumble out of China.

Lewis Maps Plans For Coal Contract

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—With a possible coal strike only a week off, John L. Lewis huddles with his 200-man policy committee today to map negotiating strategy.

The contract between the United Mine Workers Union and the northern mine owners expires Saturday.

Lewis' union members traditionally won't work without a contract. However, agreements with southern soft coal operators and with the Pennsylvania anthracite, or hard coal, owners extend until Sept. 30.

The UMW policy committee, due to meet with Lewis in mid-afternoon, is the group Lewis usually consults when major union decisions are to be made.

It was reported that some progress has been made in the bituminous, or soft coal, industry peace talks, but not enough to assure an agreement before a strike could develop. However, both sides were described as seeking to avoid a shutdown.

Wesey Is Elected

Dayton, O., Sept. 15 (AP)—Alexander Wesey of Great Neck, L. I., Saturday was elected president of the National Knights of Lithuania for the third consecutive year.

GETTING OUT THE VOTE

Civic groups, newspapers, radio and television stations are waging an intensive campaign to get people to register and vote. Everywhere a prospective voter turns he is likely to see a reminder of his duty to go to the polls in November and play his part in making democracy work.

But merely voting is not enough. To secure good government it is necessary for the electorate to be wise in its choice, to base its vote on consideration of issues, on knowledge of the character and ability of candidates and on a careful scrutiny of the past record of all those who seek office.

Too many people who vote do so without understanding what an election really means. Many people continue to vote as their parents did without bothering to observe how the times and parties have changed. Others vote a straight ticket giving support to weak candidates because their names are associated on the ballot with able leaders. Still others are bound to political machines which do their thinking for them.

The movement to get out the vote is a worthy one and deserves the support and gratitude of all citizens. But the November election can only produce good results if those who go to the polls make an enlightened choice of leaders. May the number of such voters be great.

OVERLOOKED ANNIVERSARY

An important anniversary overlooked by most Americans comes on September 22. On that day 90 years ago President Lincoln announced his intention of freeing the slaves in Confederate territory if the war should not end by the close of the year. It did not end, and the Emancipation Proclamation of January 1, 1863 terminated slavery in so far as the Northern army could accomplish it. Victory in the war and the passage of the 13th Amendment to the Constitution ended slavery forever under the United States flag.

Originally Lincoln had planned to announce his intention on July 22. Things were then going badly for the Northern forces, causing Secretary of State Seward to suggest that the announcement be deferred until the federal army had won an important victory. McClellan's defeat of Lee at Antietam met this requirement, and Lincoln gave out notice of his intention.

It is a wonder that more notice has not been taken of this occasion.

RUSSIA'S FREE MAN

In all the diatribes against Communist Russia and the specifications connected with its total lack of personal liberty, one man and his status in soviet society has been overlooked. Russia permits complete freedom of action to one man. He can go where he pleases whenever the fancy strikes him. He has supreme freedom of choice in any election or government question. That man is Josef Stalin himself.

Stalin won his freedom the hard way. He fought and battled his way to the top. Competition was demoted, imprisoned or liquidated. Today he stands alone. He need court no one nor flatter the vanity of any neurotic to insure staying alive. As leader of the communist movement around the world, he has influence over many countries. His empire extends from the Baltic to the Yellow Sea.

But the groaning millions under him have no liberty, no freedom of thought or action. They must suffer in silence and wear a false smile. In a dictatorship there is room for only one free man.

But is that man ever really free? Stalin is said to be too ill to travel. He has the members of the Politburo counting his days, each hoping to take his place. He is never free from fear of assassination. The higher a man appears to rise, the more enemies he has made. And if his foot slips, the harder he falls.

A nation at war and at the same time strengthening its defenses while recovering from other wars could be expected to carry a heavy budget. But when $10,606,000,000 goes in one year for things not in any way connected with war, defense, veterans, debt or past wars, it seems cumbersome, indeed. This was the United States in 1951.

A man tired to death of political oratory and beer commercials wonders whether Marconi was really the benefactor of mankind that history claims he was.

'These Days'

THE ROLE OF SENATOR TAFT

Oftimes when a candidate for the nomination for the Presidency is defeated at his party's convention, he subsides politically. Sometimes, as in the instance of William Jennings Bryan, he remains a life-long candidate. Sometimes, as in the instance of Thomas E. Dewey, he tries again and gets the nomination.

Senator Taft's situation is different because he remains the leader of his party in Congress. It would take two elections to unseat him from this leadership because of Senatorial seniority. It would take the election of the Senate of an intellect superior to Taft's to achieve his present moral position. There is no one like that running for Congressional office in the Republican Party in this election.

Another factor in this situation was wholly unexpected by Taft or anyone else at the time of the convention. A die-hard Taft element has appeared in the Republican Party. That did not happen in 1948 when Dewey defeated Taft. Taft, himself, on holiday at Murray Bay, Quebec, was not at all conscious of the dimensions or character of this element.

A part of the Eisenhower management has sought to win Senator Taft to the idea of active campaigning. It was suggested to him that he come to the Commodore Hotel in New York, during American Legion convention week, to meet General Eisenhower. Obviously, this was a set-up for a photographers' picnic, with a press conference in public and no discussion of issues, principles or the conduct of the nation in private.

Accompanying this proposal, a press blitz was arranged to give the impression that the Senator was coming to Ike at the Senator's suggestion, with various stories that lacked even interesting imagination. I was told by an unusually responsible man one night during that week that Taft was actually in New York for this conference with Eisenhower. I knew that at the moment he was at Murray Bay.

Senator Taft will make two or three speeches, as he is committed to campaign for some of his colleagues in the Senate who are running this year. As a Republican who believes in party loyalty, and recognizing that the Republican Party has showered honors upon his father, himself and other members of his family, he will support the party's candidate.

If that is not sufficient, then the Eisenhower management needs to deal with Senator Taft on the high level of ideas and purposes and their implementation. In other words, he has a program which he is willing to advocate. Actually, he has presented his program in writing. His preliminary discussions with Governor Carlson and National Committee Chairman Summerfield made it clear that it is the program that he wants to discuss with General Eisenhower. He does not want a pat on the back; a brotherly smile; pictures taken shaking hands, with a joint press interview.

The growth of Taft's personal following involves him in the responsibility of recognizing their claims to his leadership. They do not object to Eisenhower; they are adamant that Thomas E. Dewey and Paul Hoffman should not be paid off for getting Eisenhower his nomination. They are prepared to admit that Eisenhower could have got it without Dewey or Hoffman, but television, more than any other instrument, has created a devil-symbolism concerning these two men.

Taft cannot allay this feeling. Even were he to go whistle-stop campaigning, he could not quiet the opposition to Dewey and Hoffman. In fact, he might even accelerate the emotionalism which this opposition is stimulating. Therefore, he must ask General Eisenhower what his intentions are concerning these two men.

This goes deeper than emotionalism, however. The office of Secretary of State has grown to be the second most powerful in the government. For several years, the Republican Party has fought Dean Acheson and his policies. Active Republican partisans have accustomed their minds to this opposition. Should it be General Eisenhower's intention to make either Thomas E. Dewey or Paul Hoffman his Secretary of State, the opposition would be so intense that an effort might be made to block confirmation by the Senate.

Taft has now come into the campaign in full support of General Eisenhower. Their agreement is now complete. Those who have tried to separate the two men have failed. Those who have accepted Senator Taft's leadership will now support General Eisenhower.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DISCOVERING EARLY MENTAL CASES

We are reading so much about the research work done in psychiatry and psychology that we are not surprised at the new findings given to the medical profession and often to the general public. All these findings are authentic and open avenues of thought and investigation that will mean much to mankind now and in the future.

A technique for detecting serious psychoses (mental ailments in which the patient believes, sees, and hears things that do not exist) was reported by Drs. Arthur Raymond and Mortimer Sackled at the Creedmor State Hospital, New York. Working on the theory that the blood of an insane patient clots differently from that of a normal person, these scientists made a checkup of the blood-clotting behavior of psychotic and nonpsychotic people with an accuracy of 83 per cent. The testing machine was one used in industry to measure the viscosity of oil and plastic. A blood sample was put in the tube; a small metal instrument that vibrated to produce high-frequency sounds was placed in the blood. The blood absorbed the energy of the sound waves. Changes occurring in the blood, as revealed by the sound waves, inaudible to the human ear, were then measured electronically by the machine, recorded on a graph and checked mathematically.

Scientists have long known that human beings, like batteries, give off electrical waves. In a new study at Duke University Medical School, Durham, North Carolina, Dr. Leonard J. Ravitz measured these "electrical potentials" in insane and normal persons with a simple electronic device. In the psychotic (insane), the electrical potential readings were higher than in normal people. Day-by-day checks showed, too, that the marked changes coincided with the sun-moon phases and also with the seasons. The most seriously ill mental cases were much more emotionally upset during the phases of the new or full moons and in the winter or spring.

Dr. Ravitz measured a mental patient for five months and from his findings made a mathematical prediction of his behavior for the rest of the year. The prediction was correct.

These mental research findings, discovered early, should mean that under proper psychiatric investigation, early cases may be helped so much that mental hospital treatment may not be necessary.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—One reason why Frankie Costello, kingpin of the gambling underworld, had not hitherto been deported probably was his friends in high places. Some of these friends in Congress have just been revealed through a little black book carried by Costello's Washington lobbyist, Murray Olf, whose job it was to defeat the anti-slot machine bill and block other legislation which would hamper gambling.

The Justice Department has known, ever since I revealed it on July 21, 1947, more than five years ago, that Costello could be deported because he lied about a previous conviction when he took the oath as a naturalized citizen.

Furthermore, I personally called this to the attention of Howard McGrath when he was attorney general, and incidentally to the attention of other Justice Department officials.

Only last week did new Attorney General McGranery finally announce that proceedings would be started to deport Costello.

In view of this, Costello's lobbying setup in Washington is significant, especially the manner in which his lobbyist was able to entertain certain congressmen at shrimp dinners and cocktail parties.

Costello's Nerve-Center

The man who did this lobbying, Murray Olf, an ex-convict and former prison mate of Jake Guzik, served as a nerve-center for Costello's and other gambling problems in Washington. He occupied a suite at the fashionable Congressional Hotel within a stone's throw of the capitol, where he held court for congressmen. He picked up tabs at the bar, loaned his phone for long-distance calls, and threw shrimp parties for congressmen every Friday night.

Meanwhile the nation's top mobsters also used his apartment for a hangout. There, Costello's partner, racketeer Joe Adonis, hid overnight while the Kefauver Committee was searching for him. There, Meyer Lanksy, another notorious gangster, parked his car at the Congressional Hotel's garage and charged the bill to Olf's apartment. From there Olf was also on the phone to gangland chiefs throughout the country—"Dandy Phil" Kastel in New Orleans, "Greasy Thumb" Jake Guzik in Chicago, and Morris Kleinman in Cleveland.

Meanwhile, congressmen were wandering in and out of Olf's room, or huddling with him at the Congressional bar. Costello's lobbyist also had about $60,000 in cash from the Costello treasury to distribute in the right places.

No wonder Costello, sitting in New York, felt relatively easy about the possibility of being deported.

Rollcall of Contacts

Here is the rollcall of congressmen and other interesting characters who either frequented the Costello lobbyist's parties or appeared in his little black book. All names of reputable people published below have been checked to make sure they actually did know Olf, and, in the case of the congressmen, this column warned two years ago that he was Costello's lobbyist. Yet these congressmen continued to associate with him.

Congressmen Jimmy Morrison of Louisiana, Louis Rabaut of Michigan, Edwin Willis of Louisiana, Jim Murphy of Staten Island, N. Y., Chester Gorski of Buffalo, N. Y., and Phil Welch of Missouri.

Gorski, who was defeated for re-election last term, used Olf's telephone freely to call his home in Buffalo. Questioned by this column, Gorski swore he always paid Olf back, though he had trouble explaining why he used Olf's phone in the first place, since he had a telephone in the same hotel.

Edith Scheffer, secretary to Congressman Welch, borrowed money from Olf, and made long-distance calls to such places as Detroit and Madison, Wis. Though made from her own phone, she charged the calls to Olf's bill. When this column asked her for an explanation, she blurted:

"I'm stunned. Where did you get your information?"

However, she refused to comment until she "cleared it with the congressman." She never called back.

Other names listed in the Costello lobbyist's little black book are Eddie Vogel, Chicago's slot-machine king (Buckingham 8873), Morris Kleinman of Cleveland (Main 8034), Jimmy Rutkin of Jersey City (Bigelow 3-6000), Emmitt Waring of Washington (Emerson 7525). Guzik's private Chicago number is listed under "Jack G." (Webster 9-0877).

Washington Judge Innocent

One of the most interesting names in the little black book was that of a federal judge, together with the telephone number of his former Washington law office. This column is not printing the judge's name because, after interviewing the judge, I am satisfied that he was not connected with Costello or Olf.

The judge explained that at one time he defended one of Olf's friends, Al Blickfield, and had met Olf himself on one occasion. However, the judge claimed he had never represented Olf and did not know him socially.

As for the girls in the little black book, this column checked with several and found that, in many cases, they had met Olf at parties without having any idea of his underworld connections. In fairness to the innocent, this column will not publish any of the girls' numbers. However, Congressman Welch's secretary, Edith Scheffer, has been unable to explain why she borrowed money from the racketeer and charged long-distance calls to Olf's bill. This was at the same time her boss was attending Olf's parties in the Congressional Hotel.

What the public has a right to know is why certain congressmen were so close to Olf, even after this column had identified him two years ago as an ex-convict, and lobbyist for Frankie Costello.

Adlai Still Shows Astonishing Unfamiliarity With Communism Issue in America

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 15—Governor Stevenson at Albuquerque, New Mexico, vigorously denounced external and internal communism and in that respect his speech was a welcome emphasis on some of the things he glossed over in his American Legion speech in New York.

But the Democratic nominee still reveals an astonishing unfamiliarity with the issue of communism and anti-communism in America and of some of the basic factors which gave Senator McCarthy his sweeping victory in the Wisconsin primary. The governor swallows, perhaps unwittingly, the line of attack which the ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) has been following.

It's one thing to denounce communism, as Governor Stevenson now does and as President Truman did, but it's another thing to do something about it spontaneously and without the needling and prodding of a McCarthy or a McCarran or a Dies or a Ferguson, all of whom through congressional committees have uncovered laxity and carelessness in the handling of Communists by our government.

Governor Stevenson in his New Mexico speech says in part:

"We have tightened up our espionage and security legislation. We have instituted a federal loyalty system—and we did so, I should add, in 1947—three years before the senator from Wisconsin made his shrill discovery of the Communist menace."

It was on November 14, 1947, that President Truman announced the present loyalty program. But it was much earlier the same year—and after considerable crusading by the Republicans in the congressional campaign in the autumn of 1946—that attention was being repeatedly called to negligence in the handling of Communists by the federal government.

Here is a letter, confidential at the time, which describes what was happening in 1946 and 1947. It was written under date of June 10, 1947, to Secretary of State George C. Marshall, secretary of state, by the Senate subcommittee on appropriations and reads as follows:

"It becomes necessary due to the gravity of the situation to call your attention to a condition that developed and still flourishes in the state department under the administration of Dean Acheson (Under Secretary of State at the time).

"It is evident that there is a deliberate, calculated program being carried out not only to protect Communist personnel in high places, but to reduce security and intelligence protection to a nullity.

"Regarding the much-publicized Marzani case, the evidence brought out at his trial was well known to state department officers who ignored it and refused to act for a full year.

"Marzani and several other department officials, with full knowledge of the state department and with government time and money, promoted a scheme called 'Presentations, Inc.' which contracted with a Communist-dominated organization to disseminate propaganda.

"Security objections to these and other even more dangerous developments were rebuffed by high administrative officials; and there followed the substitution of unqualified men for these competent, highly respected personnel who theretofore held the intelligence and security assignments in the department. The new chief of controls is a man utterly devoid of background and experience for the job, who is, and at the time of his appointment was known to those who appointed him to be, a cousin and close associate of a suspected Soviet espionage agent.

"The next development was the refusal of the FBI, G-2 (Army Military Intelligence), ONI (Office of Naval Intelligence), and other federal investigative agencies to continue the wholehearted cooperation they had for years extended to the State Department.

"On the file in the department is a copy of a preliminary report of the FBI on Soviet espionage in the United States, which involves a large number of State Department employes, some in high official positions. This report has been challenged and ignored by those charged with the responsibility of administering the department with the apparent tacit approval of Mr. Acheson. Should the case break before the State Department acts, it will be a national disgrace.

"Voluminous files are on hand in the department proving the connection of the State Department employes and officials with this Soviet espionage ring. Despite this, only two persons, one of whom is Marzani, were released under the McCarran rider because of their subversive activity. . . ."

The letter went on to list some of the names which, however, were deleted from the published version but the Senate subcommittee said these were "only a few of the hundreds now empolyed in varying capacities who are protected and allowed to remain despite the fact that their presence is an obvious hazard to national security."

Yet the State Department still boasts it never found a single Communist in the department and, though all other departments have fired an average of about 6 per cent of their employes on grounds related to Communist activity or connections, the State Department says it has none. Small wonder that there are McCarthys in the land! For it was McCarthy who pointed to these facts as late as 1950 when the President's loyalty program, so far as the State Department is concerned, was still not ferreting out all the guilty. Indeed the President's loyalty review board so charged as late as February 1951.

Governor Stevenson isn't being given all the facts on the anti-Communist issue. In his New Mexico speech he went on to say:

"Where the law has been violated, the Justice Department has indicted and convicted the criminals. In all this effort, we have had the faithful and resourceful work and national protection of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. I do not believe that any agency of government is infallible and I think that of all agencies a bureau of detection should get the most strict and unrelenting public scrutiny.

"But so far as I can see, the FBI is doing an excellent investigation job. To tell you—or to imply—as some do for political reasons—that the government is crawling with Communists today is to say that the FBI does not know its business."

Now, what are the facts?

First, the FBI hasn't any right to order Communists out of government. It only collects evidence and if, as the Department of State has done time and again, the evidence is ignored, nothing can be done about it except to raise a fuss in public as Senator McCarthy courageously did. The FBI and the State Department for several years knew about Alger Hiss because Whittaker Chambers told them about him. But it was not until Senator Nixon, then a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, broke the case wide open in 1948 that the Department of Justice began to prosecute.

Second, the issue in most instances does not involve the violation of any laws. Persons who are disloyal or are bad security risks cannot readily be prosecuted under any existing laws, especially if they don't confess their offense or if the date of the offense is such that time for prosecution—the statute of limitations—has expired. They can only be fired from their government jobs and that's what the loyalty program is for.

Third, the idea of subjecting the FBI or any other investigation agency to "public scrutiny" as Governor Stevenson advocates is one that enemies of the FBI have been trying for several years to foster and it will be a sad day for America if, should Governor Stevenson be elected, he falls for the idea of undermining the FBI by the "public scrutiny" device.

Fourth, the Americans for Democratic Action, some of whose members sit at Governor Stevenson's right hand and presumably help him with these speeches, have carried on a campaign attacking both the FBI and the present loyalty program. The work of the FBI has been frustrated by administration officials largely because of ADA type of influence.

Fifth, the governor gives the impression that the Democratic administration, before McCarthy's exposures, did of its own initiative and spontaneously develop the present loyalty program in 1947. This simply isn't true. It was due to several years of investigation and hearings by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and the congressional Appropriations Committee which repeatedly pointed the finger of suspicion at the handling of Communists in government and the job is still not being done efficiently.

GETTING OUT THE VOTE

Civic groups, newspapers, radio and television stations are waging an intensive campaign to get people to register and vote. Everywhere a prospective voter turns he is likely to see a reminder of his duty to go to the polls in November and play his part in making democracy work.

But merely voting is not enough. To secure good government it is necessary for the electorate to be wise in its choice, to base its vote on consideration of issues, on knowledge of the character and ability of candidates and on a careful scrutiny of the past record of all those who seek office.

Too many people who vote do so without understanding what an election really means. Many people continue to vote as their parents did without bothering to observe how the times and parties have changed. Others vote a straight ticket giving support to weak candidates because their names are associated on the ballot with able leaders. Still others are bound to political machines which do their thinking for them.

The movement to get out the vote is a worthy one and deserves the support and gratitude of all citizens. But the November election can only produce good results if those who go to the polls make an enlightened choice of leaders. May the number of such voters be great.

OVERLOOKED ANNIVERSARY

An important anniversary overlooked by most Americans comes on September 22. On that day 90 years ago President Lincoln announced his intention of freeing the slaves in Confederate territory if the war should not end by the close of the year. It did not end, and the Emancipation Proclamation of January 1, 1863 terminated slavery in so far as the Northern army could accomplish it. Victory in the war and the passage of the 13th Amendment to the Constitution ended slavery forever under the United States flag.

Originally Lincoln had planned to announce his intention on July 22. Things were then going badly for the Northern forces, causing Secretary of State Seward to suggest that the announcement be deferred until the federal army had won an important victory. McClellan's defeat of Lee at Antietam met this requirement, and Lincoln gave out notice of his intention.

It is a wonder that more notice has not been taken of this occasion.

RUSSIA'S FREE MAN

In all the diatribes against Communist Russia and the specifications connected with its total lack of personal liberty, one man and his status in soviet society has been overlooked. Russia permits complete freedom of action to one man. He can go where he pleases whenever the fancy strikes him. He has supreme freedom of choice in any election or government question. That man is Josef Stalin himself.

Stalin won his freedom the hard way. He fought and battled his way to the top. Competition was demoted, imprisoned or liquidated. Today he stands alone. He need court no one nor flatter the vanity of any neurotic to insure staying alive. As leader of the communist movement around the world, he has influence over many countries. His empire extends from the Baltic to the Yellow Sea.

But the groaning millions under him have no liberty, no freedom of thought or action. They must suffer in silence and wear a false smile. In a dictatorship there is room for only one free man.

But is that man ever really free? Stalin is said to be too ill to travel. He has the members of the Politburo counting his days, each hoping to take his place. He is never free from fear of assassination. The higher a man appears to rise, the more enemies he has made. And if his foot slips, the harder he falls.

A nation at war and at the same time strengthening its defenses while recovering from other wars could be expected to carry a heavy budget. But when $10,606,000,000 goes in one year for things not in any way connected with war, defense, veterans, debt or past wars, it seems cumbersome, indeed. This was the United States in 1951.

A man tired to death of political oratory and beer commercials wonders whether Marconi was really the benefactor of mankind that history claims he was.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE ROLE OF SENATOR TAFT

Oftimes when a candidate for the nomination for the Presidency is defeated at his party's convention, he subsides politically. Sometimes, as in the instance of William Jennings Bryan, he remains a life-long candidate. Sometimes, as in the instance of Thomas E. Dewey, he tries again and gets the nomination.

Senator Taft's situation is different because he remains the leader of his party in Congress. It would take two elections to unseat him from this leadership because of Senatorial seniority. It would take the election of the Senate of an intellect superior to Taft's to achieve his present moral position. There is no one like that running for Congressional office in the Republican Party in this election.

Another factor in this situation was wholly unexpected by Taft or anyone else at the time of the convention. A die-hard Taft element has appeared in the Republican Party. That did not happen in 1948 when Dewey defeated Taft. Taft, himself, on holiday at Murray Bay, Quebec, was not at all conscious of the dimensions or character of this element.

A part of the Eisenhower management has sought to win Senator Taft to the idea of active campaigning. It was suggested to him that he come to the Commodore Hotel in New York, during American Legion convention week, to meet General Eisenhower. Obviously, this was a set-up for a photographers' picnic, with a press conference in public and no discussion of issues, principles or the conduct of the nation in private.

Accompanying this proposal, a press blitz was arranged to give the impression that the Senator was coming to Ike at the Senator's suggestion, with various stories that lacked even interesting imagination. I was told by an unusually responsible man one night during that week that Taft was actually in New York for this conference with Eisenhower. I knew that at the moment he was at Murray Bay.

Senator Taft will make two or three speeches, as he is committed to campaign for some of his colleagues in the Senate who are running this year. As a Republican who believes in party loyalty, and recognizing that the Republican Party has showered honors upon his father, himself and other members of his family, he will support the party's candidate.

If that is not sufficient, then the Eisenhower management needs to deal with Senator Taft on the high level of ideas and purposes and their implementation. In other words, he has a program which he is willing to advocate. Actually, he has presented his program in writing. His preliminary discussions with Governor Carlson and National Committee Chairman Summerfield made it clear that it is the program that he wants to discuss with General Eisenhower. He does not want a pat on the back; a brotherly smile; pictures taken shaking hands, with a joint press interview.

The growth of Taft's personal following involves him in the responsibility of recognizing their claims to his leadership. They do not object to Eisenhower; they are adamant that Thomas E. Dewey and Paul Hoffman should not be paid off for getting Eisenhower his nomination. They are prepared to admit that Eisenhower could have got it without Dewey or Hoffman, but television, more than any other instrument, has created a devil-symbolism concerning these two men.

Taft cannot allay this feeling. Even were he to go whistle-stop campaigning, he could not quiet the opposition to Dewey and Hoffman. In fact, he might even accelerate the emotionalism which this opposition is stimulating. Therefore, he must ask General Eisenhower what his intentions are concerning these two men.

This goes deeper than emotionalism, however. The office of Secretary of State has grown to be the second most powerful in the government. For several years, the Republican Party has fought Dean Acheson and his policies. Active Republican partisans have accustomed their minds to this opposition. Should it be General Eisenhower's intention to make either Thomas E. Dewey or Paul Hoffman his Secretary of State, the opposition would be so intense that an effort might be made to block confirmation by the Senate.

Taft has now come into the campaign in full support of General Eisenhower. Their agreement is now complete. Those who have tried to separate the two men have failed. Those who have accepted Senator Taft's leadership will now support General Eisenhower.

That Body of Yours

DISCOVERING EARLY MENTAL CASES

We are reading so much about the research work done in psychiatry and psychology that we are not surprised at the new findings given to the medical profession and often to the general public. All these findings are authentic and open avenues of thought and investigation that will mean much to mankind now and in the future.

A technique for detecting serious psychoses (mental ailments in which the patient believes, sees, and hears things that do not exist) was reported by Drs. Arthur Raymond and Mortimer Sackled at the Creedmor State Hospital, New York. Working on the theory that the blood of an insane patient clots differently from that of a normal person, these scientists made a checkup of the blood-clotting behavior of psychotic and nonpsychotic people with an accuracy of 83 per cent. The testing machine was one used in industry to measure the viscosity of oil and plastic. A blood sample was put in the tube; a small metal instrument that vibrated to produce high-frequency sounds was placed in the blood. The blood absorbed the energy of the sound waves. Changes occurring in the blood, as revealed by the sound waves, inaudible to the human ear, were then measured electronically by the machine, recorded on a graph and checked mathematically.

Scientists have long known that human beings, like batteries, give off electrical waves. In a new study at Duke University Medical School, Durham, North Carolina, Dr. Leonard J. Ravitz measured these "electrical potentials" in insane and normal persons with a simple electronic device. In the psychotic (insane), the electrical potential readings were higher than in normal people. Day-by-day checks showed, too, that the marked changes coincided with the sun-moon phases and also with the seasons. The most seriously ill mental cases were much more emotionally upset during the phases of the new or full moons and in the winter or spring.

Dr. Ravitz measured a mental patient for five months and from his findings made a mathematical prediction of his behavior for the rest of the year. The prediction was correct.

These mental research findings, discovered early, should mean that under proper psychiatric investigation, early cases may be helped so much that mental hospital treatment may not be necessary.

The man who did this lobbying, Murray Olf, an ex-convict and former prison mate of Jake Guzik, served as a nerve-center for Costello's and other gambling problems in Washington. He occupied a suite at the fashionable Congressional Hotel within a stone's throw of the capitol, where he held court for congressmen. There, Meyer Lanksy, another notorious gangster, parked his car at the Congressional Hotel's garage and charged the bill to Olf's apartment. From there Olf was also on the phone to gangland chiefs throughout the country—"Dandy Phil" Kastel in New Orleans, "Greasy Thumb" Jake Guzik in Chicago, and Morris Kleinman in Cleveland.

Meanwhile, congressmen were wandering in and out of Olf's room, or huddling with him at the Congressional bar. Costello's lobbyist also had about $60,000 in cash from the Costello treasury to distribute in the right places.

No wonder Costello, sitting in New York, felt relatively easy about the possibility of being deported.

Rollcall of Contacts

Here is the rollcall of congressmen and other interesting characters who either frequented the Costello lobbyist's parties or appeared in his little black book. All names of reputable people published below have been checked to make sure they actually did know Olf, and, in the case of the congressmen, this column warned two years ago that he was Costello's lobbyist. Other names listed in the Costello lobbyist's little black book are Eddie Vogel, Chicago's slot-machine king (Buckingham 8873), Morris Kleinman of Cleveland (Main 8034), Jimmy Rutkin of Jersey City (Bigelow 3-6000), Emmitt Waring of Washington (Emerson 7525). Guzik's private Chicago number is listed under "Jack G." (Webster 9-0877).

Washington Judge Innocent

One of the most interesting names in the little black book was that of a federal judge, together with the telephone number of his former Washington law office. This column is not printing the judge's name because, after interviewing the judge, I am satisfied that he was not connected with Costello or Olf.

The judge explained that at one time he defended one of Olf's friends, Al Blickfield, and had met Olf himself on one occasion. However, the judge claimed he had never represented Olf and did not know him socially.

In fairness to the innocent, this column will not publish any of the girls' numbers. However, Congressman Welch's secretary, Edith Scheffer, has been unable to explain why she borrowed money from the racketeer and charged long-distance calls to Olf's bill. This was at the same time her boss was attending Olf's parties in the Congressional Hotel.

What the public has a right to know is why certain congressmen were so close to Olf, even after this column had identified him two years ago as an ex-convict, and lobbyist for Frankie Costello.

Adlai Still Shows Astonishing Unfamiliarity With Communism Issue in America

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 15—Governor Stevenson at Albuquerque, New Mexico, vigorously denounced external and internal communism and in that respect his speech was a welcome emphasis on some of the things he glossed over in his American Legion speech in New York.

But the Democratic nominee still reveals an astonishing unfamiliarity with the issue of communism and anti-communism in America and of some of the basic factors which gave Senator McCarthy his sweeping victory in the Wisconsin primary. The governor swallows, perhaps unwittingly, the line of attack which the ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) has been following.

It's one thing to denounce communism, as Governor Stevenson now does and as President Truman did, but it's another thing to do something about it spontaneously and without the needling and prodding of a McCarthy or a McCarran or a Dies or a Ferguson, all of whom through congressional committees have uncovered laxity and carelessness in the handling of Communists by our government.

Governor Stevenson in his New Mexico speech says in part:

"We have tightened up our espionage and security legislation. We have instituted a federal loyalty system—and we did so, I should add, in 1947—three years before the senator from Wisconsin made his shrill discovery of the Communist menace."

It was on November 14, 1947, that President Truman announced the present loyalty program. But it was much earlier the same year—and after considerable crusading by the Republicans in the congressional campaign in the autumn of 1946—that attention was being repeatedly called to negligence in the handling of Communists by the federal government.

Here is a letter, confidential at the time, which describes what was happening in 1946 and 1947. It was written under date of June 10, 1947, to Secretary of State George C. Marshall, secretary of state, by the Senate subcommittee on appropriations and reads as follows:

"It becomes necessary due to the gravity of the situation to call your attention to a condition that developed and still flourishes in the state department under the administration of Dean Acheson (Under Secretary of State at the time).

"It is evident that there is a deliberate, calculated program being carried out not only to protect Communist personnel in high places, but to reduce security and intelligence protection to a nullity.

"Regarding the much-publicized Marzani case, the evidence brought out at his trial was well known to state department officers who ignored it and refused to act for a full year.

"Marzani and several other department officials, with full knowledge of the state department and with government time and money, promoted a scheme called 'Presentations, Inc.' which contracted with a Communist-dominated organization to disseminate propaganda.

"Security objections to these and other even more dangerous developments were rebuffed by high administrative officials; and there followed the substitution of unqualified men for these competent, highly respected personnel who theretofore held the intelligence and security assignments in the department. The new chief of controls is a man utterly devoid of background and experience for the job, who is, and at the time of his appointment was known to those who appointed him to be, a cousin and close associate of a suspected Soviet espionage agent.

"The next development was the refusal of the FBI, G-2 (Army Military Intelligence), ONI (Office of Naval Intelligence), and other federal investigative agencies to continue the wholehearted cooperation they had for years extended to the State Department.

"On the file in the department is a copy of a preliminary report of the FBI on Soviet espionage in the United States, which involves a large number of State Department employes, some in high official positions. This report has been challenged and ignored by those charged with the responsibility of administering the department with the apparent tacit approval of Mr. Acheson. Should the case break before the State Department acts, it will be a national disgrace.

"Voluminous files are on hand in the department proving the connection of the State Department employes and officials with this Soviet espionage ring. Despite this, only two persons, one of whom is Marzani, were released under the McCarran rider because of their subversive activity. . . ."

The letter went on to list some of the names which, however, were deleted from the published version but the Senate subcommittee said these were "only a few of the hundreds now empolyed in varying capacities who are protected and allowed to remain despite the fact that their presence is an obvious hazard to national security."

Yet the State Department still boasts it never found a single Communist in the department and, though all other departments have fired an average of about 6 per cent of their employes on grounds related to Communist activity or connections, the State Department says it has none. Small wonder that there are McCarthys in the land! For it was McCarthy who pointed to these facts as late as 1950 when the President's loyalty program, so far as the State Department is concerned, was still not ferreting out all the guilty. Indeed the President's loyalty review board so charged as late as February 1951.

Governor Stevenson isn't being given all the facts on the anti-Communist issue. In his New Mexico speech he went on to say:

"Where the law has been violated, the Justice Department has indicted and convicted the criminals. In all this effort, we have had the faithful and resourceful work and national protection of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. I do not believe that any agency of government is infallible and I think that of all agencies a bureau of detection should get the most strict and unrelenting public scrutiny.

"But so far as I can see, the FBI is doing an excellent investigation job. To tell you—or to imply—as some do for political reasons—that the government is crawling with Communists today is to say that the FBI does not know its business."

Now, what are the facts?

First, the FBI hasn't any right to order Communists out of government. It only collects evidence and if, as the Department of State has done time and again, the evidence is ignored, nothing can be done about it except to raise a fuss in public as Senator McCarthy courageously did. The FBI and the State Department for several years knew about Alger Hiss because Whittaker Chambers told them about him. But it was not until Senator Nixon, then a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, broke the case wide open in 1948 that the Department of Justice began to prosecute.

Second, the issue in most instances does not involve the violation of any laws. Persons who are disloyal or are bad security risks cannot readily be prosecuted under any existing laws, especially if they don't confess their offense or if the date of the offense is such that time for prosecution—the statute of limitations—has expired. They can only be fired from their government jobs and that's what the loyalty program is for.

Third, the idea of subjecting the FBI or any other investigation agency to "public scrutiny" as Governor Stevenson advocates is one that enemies of the FBI have been trying for several years to foster and it will be a sad day for America if, should Governor Stevenson be elected, he falls for the idea of undermining the FBI by the "public scrutiny" device.

Fourth, the Americans for Democratic Action, some of whose members sit at Governor Stevenson's right hand and presumably help him with these speeches, have carried on a campaign attacking both the FBI and the present loyalty program. The work of the FBI has been frustrated by administration officials largely because of ADA type of influence.

Fifth, the governor gives the impression that the Democratic administration, before McCarthy's exposures, did of its own initiative and spontaneously develop the present loyalty program in 1947. This simply isn't true. It was due to several years of investigation and hearings by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and the congressional Appropriations Committee which repeatedly pointed the finger of suspicion at the handling of Communists in government and the job is still not being done efficiently.

GOP Boss Cleared of Perjury Counts

Gloversville, Sept 15 (AP)—Justice Willard L. Best of state Supreme Court to day dismissed a two count indictment against Republican boss James A. Leary of Saratoga county.

Leary, 71-year-old Saratoga Springs lawyer, was indicted by the extraordinary Grand Jury investigating gambling and possible underworld-political links in Saratoga county.

Justice Best said the indictment was not founded upon sufficient legal evidence.

Best said the indictment was "founded upon illegal evidence and upon prejudicial matter improperly brought to the attention of the Grand Jury to the prejudice of the defendant and in violation of Leary's legal and constitutional rights."

Leary had been charged with first and second degree perjury. The jury accused Leary of lying when he denied he owned 688.8 shares of stock in the Saratoga National Bank.

The prosecution contended that Leary owned the stock through a "dummy," identified as Herbert C. Stone, Gloversville television repairman.

It also was charged that Leary owned the stock through Stone and the late Mack Finn, a Saratoga druggist who allegedly sold Leary the shares in December, 1933.

She will oppose Rep. Sterling Cole (R., N. Y.) in the race for a seat in the House of Representatives.

Campaign Outlook

every section of every state. Editors and correspondents were asked to estimate how their own particular areas are likely to go.

On the basis of talks with voters, research, their own knowledge of their counties, actual polls wherever possible, they were requested to estimate the percentage of the vote individual counties will cast for Eisenhower and Stevenson.

While a majority of the newspapers that have taken sides favor Eisenhower, numerous editors reported trends opposite to those their papers advocate editorially. Efforts were made to obtain estimates untainted by wishful thinking.

Many of the analysts taking part in the survey said it is too early to tell now what is likely to happen in their areas in November. Some newspapers declined to participate in the surveys and in some states estimates were not sent in for every county.

The surveys were undertaken in late August or early September. Another state-by-state survey is planned for October.

With few exceptions, trend estimates for the Middle Atlantic States indicated the political appraisers thought Eisenhower would run ahead of Dewey if people had been voting two months ahead of the actual election date.

Eisenhower's personal popularity was described generally as a more forceful factor in the campaign than time-for-a-change sentiment and such specific issues as high taxes and corruption in government.

Here and there, editors noted that Republicans who had preferred Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio as the presidental nominee seemed to be holding back from Eisenhower, perhaps with intentions of not voting at all. Others reported that some independent voter appeared to be turning toward the general.

Stevenson's greatest strength, as is usual for Democratic candidates, was assigned to industrial and urban areas.

State by State

State by state, this is the picture:

New York (45 electoral votes).

Estimates put together from 65 participating newspapers indicate belief that Eisenhower should take Stevenson's measure by some 360,000 votes, whereas Dewey edged out Truman by 61,000 in 1948. That's on the assumption that the total vote this year will be the same as the 6,131,000 ballots cast in 1948 for the Republican, Democratic and Progressive party candidates. Actually, the vote may be considerably larger than four years ago.

The editors and writers believe Eisenhower will make a stronger showing than Dewey did both in the five counties making up New York city and the 57 upstate counties outside the city. They see Stevenson as running ahead of Truman in the city but behind upstate.

That points to the idea that Stevenson will get some of the 422,000 New York city votes that went to the Progressive party in 1948, but not enough to offset Democratic losses to the GOP upstate.

But again the Progressive party has an entry, Vincent Hallinan, in the presidental derby. And that injects an element of uncertainty into prospects for New York city, which is a traditional keystone of Democratic strenth.

The outlook, on the basis of combined estimates of five of the eight New York city newspapers, is that Stevenson will carry three of the five counties in the city and pace Eisenhower by a little more than 400,000 votes.

Most editors upstate figured that in their areas Eisenhower would run ahead of Dewey, who had a 1948 lead of 549,000 upstate. Some cited Eisenhower's personal popularity.

In Dutchess county, where Dewey lives, the Poughkeepsie New Yorker reported that "Eisenhower should do better than Dewey did in 1948." The newspaper is supporting the general.

Only One for Adlai

Upstate papers thought Stevenson would get only one of the 57 upstate counties — Albany, which is usually overwhelmingly Democratic. Truman took Albany and three other upstate counties in 1948.

The New York state vote ordinarily is divided fairly evenly between New York city and the upstate counties.

Of the 65 papers taking part in the New York survey, 49 are for Eisenhower, five for Stevenson and 11 uncommitted.

New Jersey (16 electoral votes)

The combined opinions of 27 newspapers throughout the state add up at this stage of the politicking to a comfortable lead for Eisenhower, with the GOP nominee pocketing 17 of the 21 counties, scoring heavily in rural and residential areas and making some inroads against Democratic strength in industrial districts.

Yet New Jersey editors believe the margin could be narrowed, even reversed, depending on the twists and turns the campaign may take.

Dewey polled some 85,000 votes more than Truman in 1948 and got 15 of the 21 counties. Even though President Roosevelt won the state four times, New Jersey usually is considered a Republican state. The GOP has been in control of the Legislature for years and more often than not the state elects a Republican governor.

Pennsylvania (32 electoral votes)

Editors in the Keystone state, as shown by bringing together their county estimates, consider Pennsylvania fairly safe for Eisenhower. Their composite opinion is that he may run a shade better than Dewey, who won by 150,000 in 1948.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, the state's two great metropolitan centers, are regarded as likely to go Democratic. Nine other counties are put in the Democratic column, but the editors regard 56 more as Republican territory for 1952. The state has 67 counties.

Maryland (9 electoral votes).

It's normally Democratic Baltimore against the generally Republican counties. And Maryland editors consider the state a toss-up but leaning slightly toward Eisenhower. Some of them say the general may do a fraction better than Dewey, who won by only 8,300 votes four years ago.

The 23 counties outside Baltimore cast a little more than half the vote for the state. Estimates from Maryland editors indicate they believe the GOP will draw a little more strength from the counties this year and the Democrats a little less from Baltimore. And if that happens, Maryland again would be in the Republican column, as in 1948.

But the editors are saying, too, that a lot can happen in the next few weeks.

Delaware (3 electoral votes).

Republican but so close as to be doubtful is the combination estimate of editors of three papers covering the three counties in Delaware.

Their calculations would give Eisenhower a November victory by some 3,000 votes against a Dewey margin of 1,775 four years ago. The state cast 139,000 votes in the last presidential election.

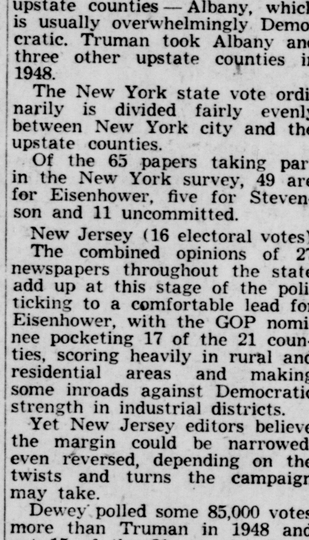

Outlook Spurs Workers

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 15 (AP)—A probable new record high total of voters eligible for the Nov. 4 election spurred Republican and Democratic party officials launching statewide campaigns today. Registration books closed Saturday with many areas, including Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, reporting a flood of new registrations had boosted their rolls to all-time high levels. Accurate statewide figures will not be available for about a month, but officials of both parties said they were confident the previous mark of 5,014,710, set in 1940, would be surpassed.

No Action Is Planned

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP) — American officials are almost despairing of efforts to end the Anglo-Iranian oil impasse. Authorities said privately today that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh has shown no interest in the proposal sponsored by President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill Aug. 30 to get negotiations going again. Furthermore these officials, who had previously been counting on concessions made to Mossadegh in that propoal, have no new moves in readiness if the situation should go from bad to worse.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, the state's two great metropolitan centers, are regarded as likely to go Democratic. Nine other counties are put in the Democratic column, but the editors regard 56 more as Republican territory for 1952. The state has 67 counties.

Maryland (9 electoral votes).

It's normally Democratic Baltimore against the generally Republican counties. And Maryland editors consider the state a toss-up but leaning slightly toward Eisenhower. Some of them say the general may do a fraction better than Dewey, who won by only 8,300 votes four years ago.

The 23 counties outside Baltimore cast a little more than half the vote for the state. Estimates from Maryland editors indicate they believe the GOP will draw a little more strength from the counties this year and the Democrats a little less from Baltimore. And if that happens, Maryland again would be in the Republican column, as in 1948.

But the editors are saying, too, that a lot can happen in the next few weeks.

Delaware (3 electoral votes).

Republican but so close as to be doubtful is the combination estimate of editors of three papers covering the three counties in Delaware.

Their calculations would give Eisenhower a November victory by some 3,000 votes against a Dewey margin of 1,775 four years ago. The state cast 139,000 votes in the last presidential election.

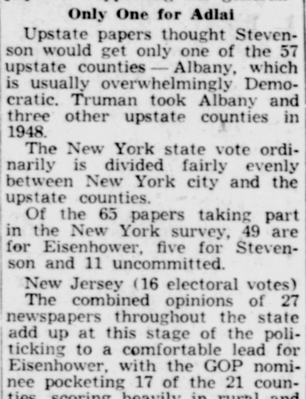

Outlook Spurs Workers

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 15 (AP)—A probable new record high total of voters eligible for the Nov. 4 election spurred Republican and Democratic party officials launching statewide campaigns today. Registration books closed Saturday with many areas, including Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, reporting a flood of new registrations had boosted their rolls to all-time high levels. Accurate statewide figures will not be available for about a month, but officials of both parties said they were confident the previous mark of 5,014,710, set in 1940, would be surpassed.

No Action Is Planned

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP) — American officials are almost despairing of efforts to end the Anglo-Iranian oil impasse. Authorities said privately today that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh has shown no interest in the proposal sponsored by President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill Aug. 30 to get negotiations going again. Furthermore these officials, who had previously been counting on concessions made to Mossadegh in that propoal, have no new moves in readiness if the situation should go from bad to worse.

Hard to Get Truth

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—Because people and governments want to show only their good side, says a panel of topflight newsmen, the reporter's search for truth is harder than ever. The half-dozen experts, on the NBC television program "American Inventory" broadcast yesterday from the National Press Club, considered the question: Is there greater or less freedom of information now than in years past? It was generally agreed that there was less.

BALLANTINE BEER

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have learned that in carrying on a developing story it is impossible to review the preceding material in each new instalment. The synopsis grows and the daily continuation resembles "49 Blue Bottles" and "Old MacDonald." Therefore, I will just proceed to proceed with the discussion of the queer personal, political and business relations of China-boy Henry Luce and his wife, Clare, Paul Hoffman, the president of the Ford Foundation, William Benton, Robert M. Hutchins, and others.

Luce is the founder and principal practitioner of a monstrosity which may properly be called the new yellow journalism. He has many imitators, chief among them the Cowles interests, which publish "Look," and his jerked-English affections have grievously infected not only our daily journalese but the simian prattle of broadcasters. The Chicago Tribune called him the Peeping Tom of our journalism with reference to his lip smacking gusto over embarrassing misfortunes of prominent persons.

Henry's magazine "Time" is more a scavenger of news than a reporter. He hops awkwardly over the carcasses of events, and political and personal motives almost always are visible to the naked eye of the professional in the emphasis and malice of "Times's" discussions. Some prominent persons absolutely refuse to say anything to "Time" or "Life" on the theory that it is impossible to distort nothing.

Nevertheless, this morose and touchy fellow had the effrontery in Dec. 1942, to instigate and subsidize a completely unofficial and private "commission" to attack the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press. Luce put up $200,000 and the Encyclopedia Britannica, of which he is a director, put up $15,000.

Frank Hughes, a truly professional reporter, spent three years investigating the character and works of this "commission" and presented his expose of Luce, Hutchins, Hoffman, Benton and others in a solid work called "Prejudice and the Press."

The "commission's" report was called "A Free and Responsible Press." The dust jacket of this document says Luce and Hutchins conceived this bright idea "during a lull in an Encyclopedia board meeting." Although he and his wife profess to be Republicans and took an aggressive part in the Eisenhower pre-convention boom, they are political and social friends of Benton, a left-wing Democrat or Social-Democrat, and of Hutchins, formerly chancellor of the University of Chicago, who is anti-Republican but otherwise too jumbled for classification.

Hughes reports that Luce, himself, in an edge-of-the-chair interview with him, limited to 20 minutes, said the idea was born not at a Britannica meeting but at another gathering at which he was host.

Hughes wrote that Luce said Hutchins drew up a list of twelve "commissioners" beside himself and admitted that he could have vetoed any or all of them but did not.

"Asked whether he was aware that the panel had been loaded with men of leftist leanings and that among them they had managed to amass at least 68 affiliations with organizations which the attorney general and congressional committees declared to be Communist fronts," Hughes wrote, Luce refused to answer. He also refused to give his opinion of the "report" of the "commission."

The vice-chairman, under Hutchins, was Zechariah Chaffe, Jr., a professor of law at Harvard, whose record in the files of the House Committee on Un-American Activities is enormous. This would be a timely place to note that when Luce's wife was a member of Congress, elected on the Republican ticket, she voted to kill the committee in 1943 and confirmed her position by voting against the creation of the present permanent committee in 1945.

The earlier committee had been temporary. The Communists all opposed the committee on both votes and those Democrats who opposed it were mainly urban types and others who hoped to suppress the guilt of the Roosevelt regime in fostering Communist treason. Mrs. Luce was more Democratic than Republican in both terms, judged by her votes on party issues.

Miss Vivien Kellems, the independent Republican aspirant for Senate in Connecticut, in a direct personal challenge to a political hair-pulling, announced: "If that woman gets the Republican nomination from the Hartford convention, I will lay her out in lavender."

The convention spared Mrs. Luce the risk of such a free-style contest with another personable woman utterly untimidated by her "glamour." The convention nominated Prescott Bush, a Wall Street partner of the far left-wing Democrat and long-time pro-Russian, Averill Harriman.

In discussing the Ford Foundation, I shall try to make the fact clear that this foundation is not a part of Ford Motors. Mistakes were made in the selection of Paul Hoffman, Hutchins and Milton Katz, a Frankfurter man of the same group that insinuated dangerous Communists into our government, but they can be rectified.

Katz was Hoffman's chief deputy in the administration of the Marshall Plan squanderbund and in the carpet-bag administration of Germany which put great obstacles in the path toward peace and reconstruction there. Hoffman popped up as a pushful, high-pressure political adventurer in the pre-convention Eisenhower campaign, and, as I have noted, signed off with an almost unforgivable insult to the earnest, patriotic Taft following when he returned to his soft, lucrative and fabulously powerful job as boss of the foundation. His service with Eisenhower was a hit-and-run job. Now, for the first time and belatedly Hoffman himself is coming under scrutiny.

I find it beyond by ability at the moment to establish the master plan of these strange associations and activities. I will continue however to offer you verified facts and my best efforts at interpretation.

Fugitives Hunted

Planes, like the one above soaring over the Allentown, Pa., area, are helping in the vast two-state search for three "desperate and vicious" convicts who escaped from a Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary last week. Nearly 1,000 soldiers, policemen and FBI agents are combing Maryland-Pennsylvania border country for the trio of convicted bank robbers, the Nolan brothers, Joseph and Ballard, and Elmer Schuer. 24 Horses Perish In Belmont Fire; 25 Animals Saved

Elmont, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—Crackling flames swept through a Belmont Park barn last night on the eve of the famous race track's three-week fall meeting. Twenty-three valuable thoroughbred horses were burned to death. Another horse had to be destroyed.

Twenty-five horses were rescued, although the blaze engulfed the huge wooden structure in 15 minutes. Some of the rescued thoroughbreds also were injured.

Two nationally known horses stabled here for today's opening were among those saved. They were Primate, Kentucky Derby hopeful of last season from the Starmount stable, and Navy Page, a stake race winner who ran with the top two-year-olds at the recent Saratoga meeting.

Some of the horses that died in the fire were listed by track officials as Greensboro, a two-year-old owned by E. B. Benjamin of New Orleans; Devil's Spy, Wild Jamie, Buzzing Bee and Tocoli, all owned by Willie Knapp; and Eraser, Big If, Ornament and Burladero, owned by J. T. Maloney.

Loss Runs High

Washburn, trained by Morris Dixon, Jr., had to be destroyed.

The value of the lost animals was estimated to be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A groom, Mike Novach, was taken to a hospital with smoke poisoning. Several firemen were treated at the scene for minor injuries.

Belmont has its own fire department but help was summoned from surrounding communities in this Long Island area at the New York city line.

The fire leveled the barn. Nearby is the wreckage of another stable in which a young groom and 21 valuable thoroughbreds were killed by fire last spring.

Cause Not Known

Bob Kelley, Belmont public relations director, said a watchman had checked the barn at 7:30 p. m. and found everything normal. Ten minutes later, Kelly said, the alarm was sounded. A few minutes later the wooden building was a mass of flames.

Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Another groom, John Hess, said he was sleeping in an adjacent barn when the fire broke out.

"We heard someone yell fire and she was up (in flames) before we could get there," Hess said.

Spy Bands Smashed

Pusan, Korea, Sept. 15 (AP) — South Korean police have smashed a band of 17 women spies operating from within the United Nations organization, the government announced today. Police arrested 17 women, including two alleged ringleaders identified as Miss Pak Chung, Ja, 25, and Miss Yoon Chil Sung, 24, both graduates of the Seoul Women's Medical College. Others arrested included entertainment girls, another woman doctor, three college students, two army employes and several factory workers.

Would Lean to Religion

Boston, Sept. 15 (AP)—Both major candidates for president say they would lean to religion to help them face the responsibilities of the presidency. The views of Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on the importance of religion will appear in the Sept. 21 issue of Episcopal Church News, a weekly published in Richmond, Va. The statements were released yesterday by Maurice E. Bennett, Jr., publisher of the magazine, while attending the 57th Triennial General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Boston.

Automobile Accidents

Editor, The Freeman

There isn't any factual basis for the common belief that truck drivers cause more than their share of accidents because of road crowding, sleeping at the wheel and general negligence.

From my experience as a driver, I find them really, "gentleman of the road," commanding respect.

I object in one way—and these drivers are not to blame—the fact is that they are sometimes compelled to work too many hours at a stretch, causing fatigue.

To be a good driver, one should be alert continuously, ready to act on sudden impulse in an instantaneous situation, but not the fatigued driver.

A cause of accidents is the lack of uniformity in traffic signs of different states, relative to varying standards of installation. Some communities have their own methods of doing things, even within a state, thus confusing the driver. For example, divergency of color, shape, size and wording of signs, and placing warnings too near busy intersections—in addition to a multiple of signs at that same intersection pointing to many directions of destination.

The driver slows down to unravel the mixup, impeding traffic. If he has miscalculated, making a sharp turn, the possibility of an accident increases.

Another cause of accidents is improper signalling, not holding the hand out long enough and far enough to allow the driver behind to know your intentions in time, because sudden stops cause accidents. Caution should be used concerning road clearance in passing cars to avoid headon collisions.

It isn't understandable when a car is parking on a busy street why the driver can't emerge on the right side, because bicyclists have been injured by the sudden opening of the left door.

Therefore the courteous driver, who is alert to these dangerous situations, observe the rules, keeps his vehicle in good mechanical order and puts his alcohol in the right place as a general conclusion, will never have an accident.

Sincerely
EDWIN J. HIGBY

To Attend State Kiwanis Meeting

The Kiwanis Club of Kingston will be represented at the 1952 convention of the New York Kiwanis District at Syracuse September 20-24, Club President Raymond Garraghan announced today.

The local delegates are Harold E. Keator and Charles Synder.

W. Donald Dubail, trustee of Kiwanis International and a prominent St. Louis attorney, will be a featured speaker during the five-day meeting at the Hotel Syracuse.

Delegates from 203 clubs in the district, representing a membership of 12,000 business and professional leaders, will participate in the various sessions. Committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year, and election of officers will highlight the convention program Garraghan said.

The presiding officer will be Lawrence A. Hapgood, superintendent of the Malone public schools and governor of the New York Kiwanis District.

Dubail, the official representative of Kiwanis International at the meeting, is a past governor of the Missouri-Arkansas Kiwanis District and has been a member of the community service organization 23 years. He was chairman of the general convention committee which guided the 1951 Kiwanis International convention, which more than 10,500 persons attended at St. Louis.

Call for Conference

Bombay, India, Sept. 15 (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's All-India Congress party has called for the United States, Britain and France to meet with Russia and Communist China to settle East-West differences and start world disarmament. The ruling party's policy-making congress committee, meeting at Indore yesterday, unanimously approved a resolution urging the big five conference. The proposal reportedly was drafted by Nehru.

$205,671 for School

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP) — Reservation of $205,671 in government funds for Union Free School District 21 Oyster Bay-Bethpage, N. Y., school construction project was announced today by Earl James McGrath, U. S. Commissioner of Education.

VINDICATION AFTER 138 YEARS—Electus D. Litchfield, 82, of New York, left, receives a certificate signed by President Truman, which posthumously restores his great-grandfather, William S. Cox, to the rank of third lieutenant in the Navy, which Cox held during the War of 1812. The presentation is being made by Admiral Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter, commandant of the Third Naval District, at New York. Cox had been court-martialed and banished from the Navy, and Litchfield has waged a lifetime fight for vindication of his ancestor's name.

UNPOPULAR UNIFORMS—Shelves of this West Berlin clothing store are filled with uniforms and accessories confiscated from East Berlin policemen who have deserted, and found sanctuary in the western sector of Berlin. Over 200 of the "People's Police" have managed to slip through chinks in the "Iron Curtain," and desertions still continue.

Suspected Burglar Killed by Police

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—A suspected burglar was killed by police last night in an exchange of gunfire that threw a quiet residential area of Brooklyn into turmoil.

Police estimated that 40 shots were fired in a three-block chase before the quarry fell with half a dozen bullets in his body.

Patrolman Howard Leventhal suffered a wound in the right leg from a riccocheting bullet.

The suspect was identified tentatively by police as George Hubert, 34, of Brooklyn.

Twice during the chase, in which at least eight policemen took part, he pleaded with his pursuers to hold their fire—and each time he continued firing.

He was cut down on Troutman street, in the Bushwick section, by a concentrated police barrage, as he fired five shots at them.

Residents of the area, aroused by the near-midnight disturbance, ran through the streets in nightclothes in their excitement.

Signs of Depression Show Up In Europe

United Nations, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—A United Nations report says signs of depression—a slump in retail trade, more unemployment and reduced industrial production—have shown up in western Europe.

The report by the Economic Commission for Europe, issued here and in Geneva last night, covered the first quarter of 1952. It said increases in defense production still were "insufficient to offset declines" in production of durable consumer goods both for export and for home consumption.

Behind the iron curtain, the report said, industrial production increased 20 per cent over the first three months of 1951 but shortages continued in such key fields as coal, steel and iron, heavy machinery and electric power.

Nests are made by mammals, amphibia, fishes and other kinds of life as well as by birds.

WALLKILL NEWS

Wallkill, Sept. 13—On Wednesday at 7 p. m. the members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Reformed Church held their annual mothers and daughters banquet at the Reformed Church Hall with about 50 members and their guests attending. Guests of the society were Mrs. J. D. Crist of Walden, an aunt of the speaker, Mrs. John Crist of Walden, mother of the speaker and the Rev. John and Mrs. Crist of the East Harlem Section of New York. The Rev. Mr. Crist gave an inspiring talk on the conditions of that section of New York and what the Protestant Church is doing to help to overcome the situation. Miss Bonnie Jane Walker of Walden sang two selections, A Brown Bird Singing, and the familiar Trees. William Nevel Jr., accompanied her at the piano. Members of the society in charge of arrangements were Mrs. Macey Van Wagenen, Mrs. Daniel DuBois, Mrs. Herman Mahlandt, and Mrs. Herbert DuBois. Mrs. Richard Hine, president of the society was toastmistress of the evening.

The Wallkill Alumni Association held its first fall dance of the season on Friday night at the Wallkill Central School gymnasium. Dancing was from 9 to 1, to the music of Johnny DeSantis of Maybrook. The committee in charge of arrangements were John Howard, general chairman; Joseph Camarda, refreshments, Gordon Jamison, decorations; and Geraldine Traphagen, tickets. This dance was held for the benefit of the alumni scholarships which are given each year at Commencement Exercises to a student graduating to help in furthering his education.

Wallkill's Madhatters swept both ends of a doubleheader from Plattekill Sunday at Wallkill, 1 to 0 and 11 to 8, to strengthen their hold on first place in the Hudson Valley League. Their position was aided by Gardiner which defeated Middletown in a single game the same day. Manager Ray Haas' men had a rough time of it with Al Charney, Plattekill hurler who fanned 14. He gave up but six hits, three of which in the fifth gave Wallkill its only run. Backofen led off with a single, stole second. Two batters struck out and then Yukoweic singled Backofen to third and Jerry Headlam produced another single to send him safely home, Backofen pitched a complete game for the winners and gave up only four hits. The second game was called because of darkness and lasted only five innings. Each team scored in each inning except Plattekill which failed to produce in the fifth and final inning played. Hyde started for Wallkill, then Mahoney, who was finally replaced by Dolce. Wickes began for Plattekill and was replaced by Charney in the fifth. In the game triples were belted by Headlam and Stuhmer for Wallkill. The Hatters play their remaining two double-headers away on the next two Sundays. This Sunday they will battle Napanoch and on the 21 will conclude the season at Gardiner with high hopes of winning the Hudson Valley League Championship of 1952.

Mitchell Guresky has entered the Orange County Community College to study under the scholarship awarded to him by the Wallkill Teachers Association in June at graduation. Also entering the college for the first time will be Donald Kazimir of Wallkill, another June graduate. Returning for their second year will be Richard Leetch and John Meyn, both of Wallkill.

'Specifications, Inc.'

The farmer boy came up from the cellar with a basket of beautiful apples, sound and rosy. "You ain't goin' to eat them good apples be you; take 'em back, they ain't spotted yet," said his pappy.

This old yarn about pappy and the apples is as dubious a thrift morsel as ever was quoted. By pappy's standards it was thrifty to use spoiling apples, while the sound ones caught up to them.

Frugal pappy was kidding himself. He had so many apples that he never got around to using the fresh ones—then sold them as surplus, at a sacrifice. Somehow pappy's cockeyed philosophy has gotten into government.

Did you ever think of pappy when you read of the billions spent for army and navy supplies; then turn the page to the ads for government surplus?

Army and navy stores in every sizable city have rarely been out of stock since World War 1, and big mail order houses do a flourishing business in Uncle Sam's wares; "brand new," "good as new," "used but perfect," "outdoor stored" or what have you.

THERE WAS HUMOR, though belated enterprise, in the offer not too long ago of cavalry saddles left over from the Civil War. It evidenced that army things really can get out of date. Items do become obsolete and unusable, even from World War 2.

But can somebody explain how come the everlasting and unending surplus of millions of army and navy blankets, tents, clothes, shoes, shirts, underwear, socks, coveralls and unexpendables like utensils, wire, paint, machinery and tools no end? I've bought them; they're okay.

There is country-wide traffic in federal buyers' blunders, reaching many millions a year, while tax money of the very people who buy them is wantonly slushed into the purchase of essentially the same supplies.

IF THESE OFFERS of army and navy "surplus" are genuine, what suckers we are. If they are phony, why hasn't the government cracked down on them—which it would at the drop of the hat?

Assuming then that they are genuine, consider the kind of buying that is going on. When for 20 years usable over-purchases can stock the whole land. Surplus so plentiful that it has to be pushed by frantic advertising to dispose of it.

Such offers as "now $49.50; cost the government $250" are as common as the weather report. "Only a drop in the bucket," says you. Brother, that wasted $200 was a considerable bulk of the bucket of the worker who had it deducted from his wages.

It is understandable that changes in specifications are necessary in many things used in warfare and defense. Any time that changes help the fighting man that's swell. But if you junked half that you own every time a cute peddler put two more screws in the same old gadget, you'd be all the time broke—just like the government.

THERE IS A RACKET rampant in federal buying that filches more from the people than have all of the Capones, Gordons and Costellos put together.

It is the "specifications" racket. Whereby great stores of usable supplies become obsolete, are virtually given away, then replaced by goods that are identical for all practical purposes.

Concealed behind the veil of "defense," and the fears of the people, who cannot detect the humbug when the specifications boys get through, the higher-ups, and Congress itself, let the racket go on—parading inefficiency before the people, with its attendant implication of dishonesty. Unrestrained inefficiency IS dishonest.

"O defense, what crimes are committed in thy name."

The specifications racket is not confined to Washington. One hears of it from state capitals too. Instances where revised specifications tune in with the facilities of a certain bidder, who is exclusively able to fill a fat order.

Coincidence, of course!

"My gracious!" exclaimed Senator Westcott admiringly. "I wish I could say that."
"Why don't you?" blandly inquired Mr. Reed. "Choate did."

Speaker Reed, Ambassador Choate and Senator Westcott were chatting together one evening. Mr. Choate said with great solemnity: "Well gentlemen, I have not drunk whiskey, played cards for money, or attended a horse race in twenty-eight years."

"My gracious!" exclaimed Senator Westcott admiringly. "I wish I could say that."

"Why don't you?" blandly inquired Mr. Reed. "Choate did."

ADA to Support Liberal's Counts

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—The New York State Board of Directors of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) has endorsed the Liberal party's nominee for U. S. senator, George S. Counts.

The directors of the ADA, which makes "expansion of the New Deal" a basic principle, took the action yesterday at a closed meeting.

A spokesman said Counts won a majority among the 44 directors who voted. There also was some support for Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives, and some directors opposed any endorsement.

The spokesman said there were no votes for the Democratic nominee, Brooklyn Borough President John Cashmore. The board has 66 members.

Counts is a state vice-chairman of the Liberal party and a Columbia University professor.

The board adopted a resolution saying state leaders of the Democratic party "have betrayed the Roosevelt-Wagner-Lehman tradition of the Democratic party state organization by the nomination of a run-of-the-mill candidate."

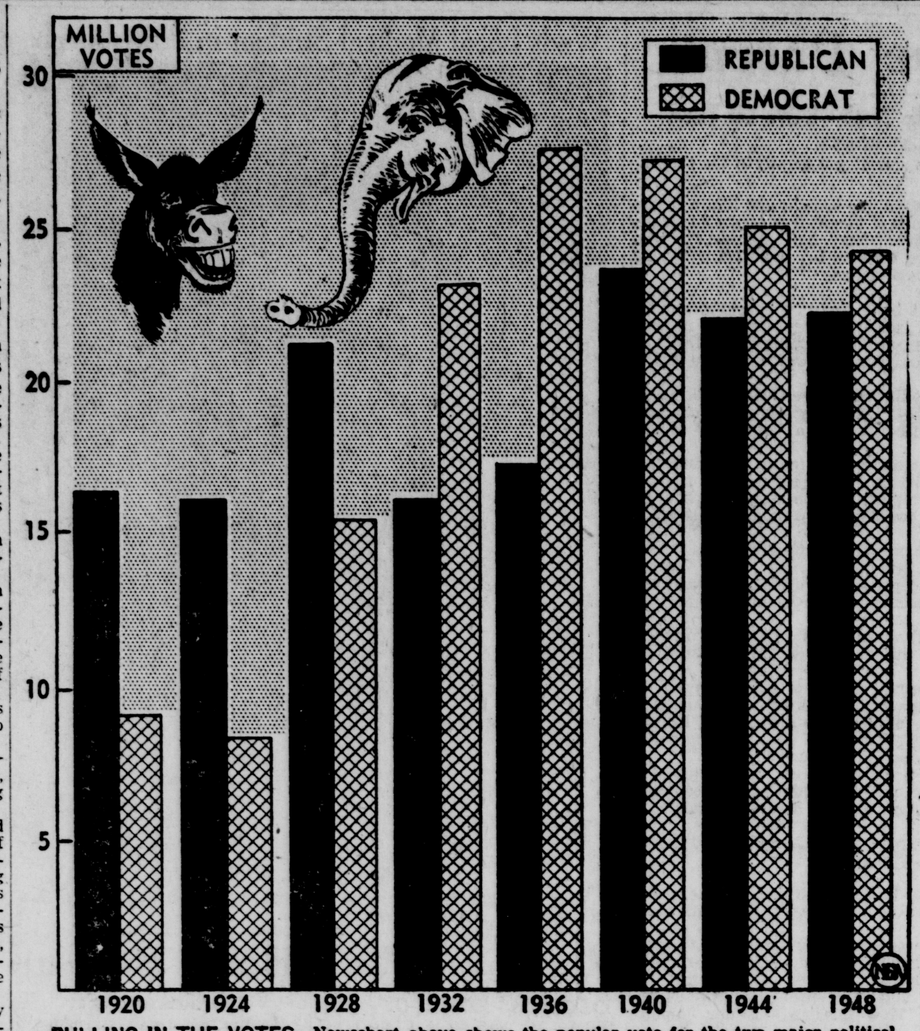

The board statement said Counts symbolizes "the high principles to which ADA subscribes."

The ADA is backing the Stevenson-Sparkman national ticket, and the Liberal party is doing likewise.

The statement said the board recognized that Ives is "one of the more able Republican senators." But it added that his voting record on a number of issues made him acceptable. These included support of states rights with respect to tidal oil lands, the Taft Hartley Act, the McCarran Internal Security Act and the loan to Spain.

Counts called on Ives to follow Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore.) in deciding not to campaign for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for president.

The ADA claims 8,000 members in eight chapters in New York state.

PULLING IN THE VOTES—Newschart above shows the popular vote for the two major political parties since 1920. The Democrats were second best until Franklin Roosevelt was elected in 1932. During the 1936 election, the Democrats established an all-time record in vote-getting with more than 27 million votes. The maximum vote for the Republican candidate to date is 22 million votes for Wendell Willkie in 1940. In the past two elections the GOP has narrowed the gap, but not enough to oust the Democrats from the White House.

Expert Would Have Made This Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY

"Is there any way for South to make four spades in the accompanying hand?" asks a Camden correspondent. "When we played the hand, South went down because of East's fine defense.

"West opened the deuce of diamonds, and East won with the king. East shifted to his singleton deuce of clubs, and the game was up. Declarer won and knocked out the ace of trumps, but East underled his ace of diamonds to let West win the second diamond trick. West then returned a club, and East's ruff defeated the contract.

"Can South make his contract by expert play? Would you say that East's defense was highly expert?"

East's defense was magnificent, but South didn't rise to the heights. He should have made his contract, and in an all-expert game he might have made an extra trick.

South should naturally see the plot when East returns a club at the second trick. South should therefore plan to cash the top hearts and then lead the ten of hearts from the South hand, discarding dummy's remaining diamond.

If East is compelled to win this trick, he gets only a heart instead of a diamond, and therefore gains nothing by the exchange. What's more, the diamond discard from the dummy prevents West from ever gaining the lead. West can therefore never lead a club for his partner to ruff.

When South begins by laying down the ace of hearts, a very expert East would see that his own plot had been discovered and would also understand South's plot. East would therefore begin to unblock by dropping the jack of hearts on dummy's ace. East would continued by dropping the queen of hearts on the second round of that suit.

East would hope that his partner had the ten of hearts, and would therefore be able to win the third round of that suit. If so, South's plot would fail.

Unfortunately for our expert East, the ten of hearts is in the South hand and becomes established by East's hopeful unblock. South therefore cashes the ten of hearts to discard dummy's remaining diamond. Then it's a cinch to knock out the ace of spades and win the rest of the tricks.

Predicts Planes Will Change Shape

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 15 (AP)—Sir William Hildred, director general of the International Civil Aviation Association, predicted today that the planes of the future would change shape in mid-air.

Designers of future aircraft, Sir William told the association in his annual report, will be faced by the problem that the thin, swept-back wings needed for high speeds at high altitudes may be unsuitable for slowing down to land.

"This could involve, he said, "changing the design of airliners in mid-air, on which I understand a good deal of experimental work has been done."

Sir William urged the executives of some 60 international airlines, here for the association's annual general meeting to continue the development of short-distance helicopter services.

Because it can land and take off in the heart of crowded cities, the helicopter "is surely destined to divert far more people from surface transport to the air than the jet plane, the atomic plane, or any other kind of plane that needs several square miles of airport to get into the air," he declared.

According to state surveyors, Montana's geographic center is in the kitchen sink of a Lewistown doctor's home.

Families of the Middle Ages had collapsible chairs and tables, which they carried from home to home.

Josephine DeCicco, Paul J. Schatzel Wed in St. Joseph's

MRS. PAUL J. SCHATZEL

The marriage of Miss Josephine DeCicco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael DeCicco, 20 Tietjen avenue, to Paul J. Schatzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Augustin Schatzel, 79 Andrew street, took place at 3 p. m., Sunday, Sept. 14, in St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. John D. Simmons, assistant pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The altar of the church was decorated with red and white gladioli. Mrs. Frank W. Rafferty was the organist. John Long, soloist, sang Mother Beloved and Schubert's Ave Maria.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over bridal satin, in princess style with long pointed sleeves, a yoke of nylon tulle, and a bouffant floor length skirt terminating in a chapel train. Her silk illusion three-quarter length veil was attached to a princess crown headpiece. She carried a white orchid with stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Adeline DeCicco was her sister's only attendant. She was attired in a gown of mint green nylon net and satin, fashioned with a molded bodice and tiered floor length skirt. A matching stole and picture hat, and a bouquet of bronze colored mums completed her ensemble.

Robert E. Schatzel was his brother's best man. The ushers were John J. McCourt of Marlborough and Ernest M. Ward of this city.

Upon their return from a trip the couple will live at 36 Wall street. For traveling, the bride chose a blue twill suit with brown accessories and a white corsage.

Mrs. Schatzel was graduated from Spencer's Business School and is employed in the law offices of Fowler and Abernethy.

Mr. Schatzel was graduated from Manhattan College and is a public accountant in this city. During World War 2, he served with the field artillery in the European theatre.

Only Children Dare Tell Us The Truth—If We Let Them

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. N. and the children had been spending a month in the country with her sister.

When Mr. N. came up for a weekend, his son showed him a magazine ad of a fishing rod. After a dinner of steak, fresh corn and blueberry pie, Mr. N. was feeling expansive. "Okay, boy," he said, "if your mother tells me you've behaved when I phone her next Thursday, I'll bring up that rod for you. Now what do you say?"

Steve said, "Gosh, dad, thanks."

The following week Steve took his little pest of a cousin swimming with him every day. He emptied the garbarge voluntarily. He remembered to hang up his swimming trunks on the line himself. He swept up dirt he had tracked in four times—but when Friday came, there was no rod.

In the car driving home from the station, Steve did not talk much. His father poked him jovially and said, "Aw, come on, wipe that sour look off your face. You know that I like people to look happy around me."

"You lied," said Steve. He said it under his breath, but his father heard him. Steve was spanked and has been in disgrace ever since.

Now Mr. N. cannot really afford his indignation at his son. It is his personal problem—his belief that he could not help breaking his promise to Steve.

His habit of breaking promises has cost him progress as a person and several promotions in his work. His need to have "happy" people around him hides an unwholesome dependence on their goodwill and approval, so that to get them, he has come to rely upon bribery by promises of favors.

At the same time, Mr. N. violently resents this dependence on what others think of him—and indulges this resentment by breaking the promises he has made.

Of course, nobody in his office would dream of saying to Mr. N. "Look, Jim, you're wrecking your chances in this firm by your habit of asking clients to lunch—and then forgetting to set a date." Nobody even mentions the quiet, but cruel fun made of Mr. N.'s custom of promising cases of liquor to customers that he never sends.

If they did try, Mr. N. would be furious, because he is so proud of the disposition that wants "happy" people about him and is absolutely unconscious that he wants them "happy" because he dreads their criticism.

Not even his wife would dare expose this miserable condition to Mr. N.

Only his child has dared.

Only the children dare tell us the truth, if we will let them. Our business friends, our neighbors, and relatives just tell the truth about us to each other.

Once there was an emperor who went parading through his capital without any clothes on. His tailors had said, "Only very clever people will be able to appreciate the wondrous garments we have made for the emperor." So, though he was naked, all the grownups clapped their hands as he passed, crying, "How gloriously is our emperor clothed!"

Only one of his subjects dared to say, "But look, the emperor is wearing no clothes at all!"

This subject was a child, Hans Christian Andersen tells us.

It is sad that the truthful child, like Steve, was unappreciated. It is said because the emperor was making such a fool of himself. The stupid creature just held himself higher, threw out his chest and paraded on in his kingly robes of nothing at all.

WEDDING PRESENT LIMITATIONS

A bride-to-be explains her unusual situation: "My fiance and I are planning to be married this fall and will live in a trailer. It is completely furnished except for a certain few dishes and kitchen utensils. We have no space for anything not strictly utilitarian and even these have to fit into the exact spaces available. We are having a large wedding and no doubt will receive many wedding presents—many of which will be useless to us. I was wondering if there is some way in which we could let it be known that we would prefer to receive money and buy things we need with it. My mother is horrified at the idea but our finances are quite limited and I cannot feel enthusiastic about accepting gifts which we will not be able to use. I would appreciate your opinion and any suggestions you have to offer."

I'm sorry but you really cannot ask for money instead of gifts. However, you will undoubtedly be able to exchange many of the things and put others—especially the more valuable—away for the someday when you may perhaps prefer living in a house.

Photographer's Clothes

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a photographer who specializes in photographing very elaborate society weddings. In the past I have been wearing a dark blue business suit to all weddings no matter what the hour of the day. Lately, however, I have been wondering whether I am correct in wearing these clothes when the men in the party as well as all of the guests are wearing formal day or evening clothes. In other words, should I dress as the others do? Your advice will be appreciated.

Answer: Your own dark blue suit with plain dark blue tie is in best taste. To be dressed like the men of the wedding party is likely to be considered false pretense.

Intimate Present

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be proper to give a quilted-satin bed jacket for a wedding present? The bride is a very dear friend of mine.

Answer: To an intimate friend, certainly.

MRS. GEORGE P. N. BOOLUKOS

The marriage of Miss Anna Sebastia Angelos took place on Sunday, Sept. 15, in Plattsburgh.

Miss Anna Angelos Becomes Bride of George P. Boolukos

Miss Anna Sebastian Angelos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Angelos of 5 Cumberland avenue, Plattsburgh, became the bride of George P. N. Boolukos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Boolukos of 14 Fair street, at 4:30 p. m., Sunday, Sept. 5, in the Trinity Church, Plattsburgh. The Rev. Nicholas Salamis of Montreal, Quebec, performed the double ring ceremony. A reception was held at the Royal Savage Inn, Plattsburgh.

Pink and white gladioli decorated the altar and pews of the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory silk taffeta, styled with a fitted bodice, scooped neckline, long sleves, and a bouffant skirt with cluster plaits, terminating in a chapel length train. Her veil of heirloom lace was draped from a band of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of Amazon lilies and stephanotis.

Miss Jane Raymond of New York was the maid-of-honor. She was attired in a bouffant gown of copper taffeta, a headpiece of copper leaves and she carried a ring of rust gladioli blossoms.

The other attendants were the Misses Theresa Brunelle and Claire Gilbert of Plattsburgh, and Vasilia Contomanolis of Laurelton, L. I. They wore bouffant gowns of ice green taffeta, headpieces of green leaves, and carried ring bouquets of pale yellow gladioli.

S. Peter Angelos was best man. The ushers were Richard Selzer of Troy; John Leaman of Valley Stream, L. I., and William St. John of Albany.

The couple left for a trip to Lake Placid and Miami, Fla. For traveling, Mrs. Boolukos chose a brown wool suit of ribbed faille with bronze and lime accessories and a yellow chrysanthemum corsage.

The bride was graduated from Plattsburgh High School and St. Lawrence University.

Mr. Boolukos was graduated from Colgate University and is a senior at the Albany Medical College.

The couple will reside in Albany.

Delegate to Art Conference

New York City, Sept. 13—Mr. Harvey Fite, famous Woodstock sculptor and Bard College professor, left International Airport Saturday as a delegate to the International Conference of Artists in Venice, Italy. Bidding bon voyage to Mr. Fite are (left to right) Lincoln Rothschild, director of Artists' Equity Association who arranged the tour of 50 Equity delegates and George Jenkinson, president of World Travel Plan which sponsored the Equity flight.

Says Curfew Law To Be Enforced Throughout City

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren said today he has served notice that the 11 o'clock curfew law is to be enforced in the city.

The Common Council, backing a suggestion by a recent grand jury, adopted at its regular meeting this month a resolution that fixes the curfew hour for unescorted children under the age of 16 at 11 p. m., the year around.

This amends a local curfew law effective here since 1906, which said in effect that all unescorted children under 16 must be at home during spring and summer months at 9 p. m., and during the rest of the year at 8 p. m.

The grand jury recommendation suggested a county-wide 11 o'clock curfew and the proposal has been endorsed by organizations and individuals.

Eighth Ward Alderman John Dolan offered the council resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Hirschell Mayes, first ward.

Stevenson to Visit

siders New York "reasonably safe." They expect a grim fight in the others. The Democrats lost Maryland in 1948, possibly because of votes siphoned off by Henry Wallace's Progressive party. Political analysts in Connecticut believe the growth of industry there may have tipped the balance to the Democrats this time.

Could Be for Ike

One of the top Virginia political leaders told a correspondent, before the Republican convention: "If the Republicans nominate Eisenhower, and the Democrats fumble the ball here, this state is going Republican this year."

Although the schedule calls for a major speech in Springfield, Mass., Friday, Stevenson is reserving his big effort there for later in the campaign.

However, he will travel there by automobile, "klaxon stopping" in a number of Massachusetts cities en route.

Part of his purpose on this swing, as it was during the western trip, will be simply to let people see him, make himself known, and soften up the territory for his bigger efforts later.

Satire Not Success

For that reason, his managers say, he did not attempt—except in a few of his appearances—to hammer the basic issues very hard in the west. A fast man with a phrase, Stevenson devoted at least half his time in the "whistle stops" between San Francisco and Los Angeles for example, simply to amusing his audiences with flicking a satirical whip at the Republicans.

The reactions to that were not all good.

Bystanders told correspondents on the tour he sounded "a little too smart," and said, in Kasson, Minn., "he impresses me as being a smoothie."

But He'll Talk His Way

Apparently some of these reactions have come back to Stevenson, for he said in Albuquerque, "I don't look on this campaign as a funeral—at least not as my funeral—and I intend to go on talking as I have been."

It was obvious, everywhere on the trip, that what the people want is a lambasting, rip-roaring, "give-em-hell" type of approach. Whenever he approached, or seemed to approach, this kind of reference, there were violent crowd reactions.

So far, Stevenson has not permitted much heat or aggravation to crimson his usually stately language. He came near it in Denver when he said he was sorry his GOP opponent, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, seemed to imply that he (Stevenson) could not cope with any corruption in government. "I shall not repay him in kind," he said.

And in Albuquerque, there was real feeling in his voice when he said, "this is untrue. This is mischievous. This is unworthy of people who aspire to lead us." He was referring to Republican claims that American diplomatic leaders "gave away" Poland and China.

Says He's 'Delighted'

The governor himself says he is "delighted" with the reports of his trip. His managers express complete satisfaction—but political leaders seldom wear any other face during a campaign.

In New York, Stevenson will address the American Federation of Labor convention and he is expected to amplify his views on the Taft-Hartley Act, first enunciated at Detroit on Labor Day. He will speak again on farm policy at Fort Dodge, Iowa, Oct. 4.

Tonight, a half-hour program, "Campaigning With Stevenson," will be televised and broadcast nationally at 9:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time (NBC television, ABC radio.)

Odds Are Slashed

London, Sept. 15 (AP) — Some sections of the British press declared today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, by making his peace with Sen. Robert Taft, has gravely imperiled his chances of becoming president. The betting odds in favor of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, his Democratic opponent, were slashed to 1 to 3—three dollars from the Stevenson backer to get one wagered against him—by one of London's biggest handbooks. A spokesman said "we aren't encouraging any more bets on the governor. It was developing into a one-way book."

British Ships Visit Spain

Barcelona, Spain, Sept. 15 (AP) —Four units of the British Mediterranean fleet steamed into port here today for a five-day visit depicted in some quarters as a first sign of strengthened British-Spanish relations.

Up In Smoke

Charred wreckage is all that remains of the three buildings of the Ideal Insulators Corporation that were destroyed by a fire, the cause of which is still a mystery. Police estimated damage of the Roslyn, L. I., N. Y., blaze to be $150,000. Company's secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lillian Robinson, 47, is currently being held in $30,000 bail, having been charged with swindling Mineola's Central National Bank out of close to half-a-million dollars over a four-year period. (NEA Telephoto).

Mineola Blaze Is Investigated

Roslyn, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—Authorities today probed the cause of a Sunday morning fire which destroyed the plant of Mrs. Lillian B. Robinson jailed on charges of swindling a Mineola bank out of $480,000.

The blaze practically razed the roofing and building materials firm, Ideal Insulators, Inc., insured for $200,000. Insurance coverage on the plant was to have been canceled as of midnight tomorrow.

Although the offices and warehouses of the concern are located almost opposite the Roslyn fire house, firemen were busy fighting another blaze which broke out in an unused recreation hall on the Clarence H. Mackay Estate located on the outskirts of town.

George Clough, Nassau county fire marshal, said the cause of both fires still was undetermined and that an "all-out" investigation would be made.

Clough said the Ideal plant fire apparently resulted from a blaze next door, a building occupied by Associated Manufacturers, Inc., a paint firm.

Arrested in August

The 47-year-old Mrs. Robinson, who headed the Ideal firm, was arrested last month and charged with swindling the Central National Bank of Mineola by falsifying loan applications for certificates of home improvement.

The bank's president, William R. Abel, 45, shot himself two days after making the charge against Mrs. Robinson. Abel, until recently a director in one of the woman executive's companies, is reported improving at Nassau Hospital.

Mrs. Robinson is in jail, unable to raise $40,000 bail.

John H. Dair of Manhasset, court-appointed receiver of the Ideal firm since the arrest of Mrs. Robinson, said all the insurance of the Ideal firm was canceled when it went into receivership.

Efforts to obtain new policies from a dozen companies, Dair said, were unsuccessful. He said a binder obtained from a Mineola insurance agent would be ineffective after midnight tomorrow.

The Ideal plant, except for one small warehouse building, was burned to the ground. Clough said 15 company trucks and a passenger sedan was destroyed in the fire, which started at 1:38 a. m. (EST) Sunday, and raged out of control for five hours.

Taft Will Start Talking Wednesday

Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—The first of several nationwide broadcasts by Sen. Robert A. Taft on behalf of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be made at 9 p. m. (EST) Wednesday over NBC.

Arthur E. Summerfield, Republican National Chairman, said Taft's opening campaign speech for the party's presidential nominee will be titled "progress through liberty" and will originate at a rally in Springfield, Ohio.

The 30-minute broadcast will be sponsored by the GOP National Committee.

Taft, replying to a question about his campaign plans during a CBS television show last night, said:

"I expect to be out three or four days every week during the six weeks of the campaign. I suppose we'll cover 15 or 16 states.'

U. S. Army Orders Reds to Leave Zone

Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 15 (AP)—The U. S. Army has taken accreditation cards away from three members of the Soviet military liaison mission here and ordered them out of the American zone. The action retaliated for similar Russian measures last month against three U. S. military men in Potsdam.

U. S. Army headquarters announced yesterday it had forced the three Russians—a lieutenant colonel, a captain and a private—to give up their passes on Sept. 5. Since then, they have remained in their mission compound here.

Three American Army men of the same ranks were arrested by the Russians north of Berlin in August and charged with spying on a restricted area. The Soviets later released the three but demanded their withdrawal from the U. S. mission at Potsdam, in the Soviet zone.

Kaplan Gets Contract

The Kaplan Furniture Company of 68 North Front street has been awarded the contract for furnishing living room and occasional pieces and rugs in the home economics department of the new James V. Forrestal Elementary School in Beacon. The local company was low bidder on the contract. The Kaplan Company recently was awarded a similar contract at the Onteora Central School.

VFW to Plan for Ball

There will be a special meeting of officers, committee chairmen and ball chairmen at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Eisenhower Sees

Truman administration of "bungling" its way into the Korean conflict. Stevenson has defended President Truman's actions.

As Eisenhower's 18-car special train rolled into the areas where Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio got strong support in his losing battle for the GOP nomination, the general's aides met with silence the announced loss of Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Republican, as an active campaigner.

Morse, who previously had offered to campaign vigorously for Eisenhower, said in Washington Saturday that he would sit out this campaign. He indicated that, among other things, he doesn't like Eisenhower's agreement with many of Taft's views.

Morse said yesterday that for the present, at least, he plans to vote for Eisenhower.

Carlson, who served as the trouble shooter who brought Eisenhower and Taft together in a "unity" meeting last Friday, was expected to be assigned the task of attempting to get Morse back into camp.

As an indication of the strength of the new alliance between Eisenhower and Taft, Victor A. Johnston, field director for the GOP senatorial campaign committee and a paid pre-nomination worker for Taft, turned up as a staff member of this political campaign train.

To Fly to New York

Eisenhower will leave the train at St. Paul, Minn., tomorrow to fly back to New York city to speak Wednesday before the American Federation of Labor Convention. Stevenson will address the convention Sept. 22.

The Republican nominee's backers say they expect the AFL to endorse Stevenson, but as Carlson put it: "Ike will get more labor votes than any Republican ever got before."

Eisenhower backers believe that in his labor speech Stevenson will go further to what they decribe as the "left." And in the Republican book that will be all to the good, so far as the GOP nominee is concerned.

Before he left New York last night, Eisenhower said in a statement that he opposes what he called "socialized medicine."

Contending that Federal control of medical care would lead to "assembly line treatment" of patients, he said tax bills also would increase because an army of clerks would be needed to administer the program.

Eisenhower's own health was reported good by John McCone, former under secretary of the air force, who said after a visit in New York yesterday that he found the general "looking much better than I expected" after several weeks of campaigning.

Ives Assails Adlai Wisecracks, Scorn

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives today assailed what he described as the "wisecracking phrases" and "polished scorn" of the Democratic presidential campaign, and called for a "complete change of administration."

Ives, here on an upstate swing in his campaign for re-election, asked in an address prepared for delivery at a luncheon meeting of the New York State Automobile Dealers' Association:

"* * * When the voices of millions of Americans—Democrats as well as Republicans—cry out for a change, what answer do we get?"

"We hear the President and his candidate for the presidency laugh in a smooth and polite way, and then ask, 'change to what? You think there's something better'?"

"Without trying to emulate that note of polished scorn," Ives continued, "let me say in all earnestness: Yes. We do think there is something better. Far better. We believe American intelligence — the kind of common sense we have developed through generations of free competitive enterprise—is a far better thing than the mismanagement of blundering theorists."

Ives maintained that "leaders of the administration" had given "little attention to the urgency of defense production."

He also said that Congress had voted the President "certain control powers" as a "safeguard against a continuation of spiraling inflation," but "the administration's delay in putting its power into execution brought hardships to most business men and to millions of consumers."

"The change we ask," he declared, "is a change from confusion to competence."

Rains Cause Drownings

Acapulco, Mexico, Sept. 15 (AP)—The garrison commander here reported today at least five persons drowned in the little town of Coyuca De Benitez as a result of heavy rains which flooded the town to a depth of six feet. Highway police reported about 1,000 tourists stranded on the single road between here and Mexico City.

Three Die in Crash

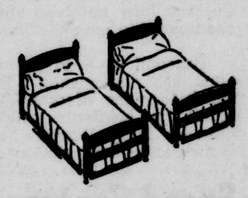

Matawan, N. J., Sept. 15 (AP)—A military training plane nosedived into an apple orchard near here last night killing its three occupants. A spokesman for Fort Monmouth, where the LC-126 plane had been assigned, said the three men were returning from Pittsburgh on an authorized flight. Army officials said state police searched through the twisted wreckage throughout the night for remains of the victims. The crash impact was so great, the spokesman said, that the wreckage "hardly resembled a plane."

"We hear the President and his candidate for the presidency laugh in a smooth and polite way, and then ask, 'change to what? You think there's something better'?"

"Without trying to emulate that note of polished scorn," Ives continued, "let me say in all earnestness: Yes. We do think there is something better. Far better. We believe American intelligence — the kind of common sense we have developed through generations of free competitive enterprise—is a far better thing than the mismanagement of blundering theorists."

Ives maintained that "leaders of the administration" had given "little attention to the urgency of defense production."

He also said that Congress had voted the President "certain control powers" as a "safeguard against a continuation of spiraling inflation," but "the administration's delay in putting its power into execution brought hardships to most business men and to millions of consumers."

"The change we ask," he declared, "is a change from confusion to competence."

Rains Cause Drownings

Acapulco, Mexico, Sept. 15 (AP)—The garrison commander here reported today at least five persons drowned in the little town of Coyuca De Benitez as a result of heavy rains which flooded the town to a depth of six feet. Highway police reported about 1,000 tourists stranded on the single road between here and Mexico City.

Three Die in Crash

Matawan, N. J., Sept. 15 (AP)—A military training plane nosedived into an apple orchard near here last night killing its three occupants. A spokesman for Fort Monmouth, where the LC-126, plane had been assigned, said the three men were returning from Pittsburgh on an authorized flight. Army officials said state police searched through the twisted wreckage throughout the night for remains of the victims. The crash impact was so great, the spokesman said, that the wreckage "hardly resembled a plane."

Jones - Wiltwyck Playoff Today; All Stars Lose to Poughkeepsie, 16 - 5

Joe Tuttle Scores Bridge City Win; Fisher and Finn Probable Pitchers

Weather permitting, Jones Dairy will try to close out the 1952 City Baseball League season in its sudden-death playoff against Wiltwyck Motors today at 5:45 p. m. at the Athletic Field.

A Jones victory would give the perennial champions a sweep of both halves and obviate plans for a playoff.

If Wiltwyck Motors triumphs, the stage will be set for a three-game championship series.

Veteran Tommy Fisher for Jones Dairy and curve-balling Bud Finn for Wiltwycks are the logical pitching choices.

Jones Dairy players who took part in Sunday's All Star contest against Poughkeepsie will carry bruises of that debacle into the playoff game.

The Bridge City club sent a 25-year pitching veteran—Lefty Joe Tuttle—to the hill and came off with a resounding 16 to 5 victory to sweep the home-and-home set.

Tuttle Fans Nine

Tuttle, who was a pitching fixture in Poughkeepsie and the Hudson Valley when several of the Kingston players had yet to see the light of day, scattered 10 hits effectively and was in trouble only twice. He walked only one batter and fanned nine.

The Bridge City Stars made it easy for their grand old southpaw. George Telepas, the youthful Colonial Merchant, had stymied Poughkeepsie through six innings of gilt-edge pitching a week ago but it wasn't his day Sunday. At least not with the way his defense acted up.

After raking George for a couple of runs in the first inning, Poughkeepsie exploded for seven runs in the second to give Telepas an early shower. Bruce Bechtold squelched the rally with two outs and nine runs and went the rest of the way, yielding seven runs and seven hits.

Wiltwycks Dominate

Five of the victorious Bridge City crew were members of the Wiltwyck Motors squad of the local league, if that means anything to Jones Dairy and Tommy Fisher.

Tim Murphy, the lanky right fielder who clouted a homer in Wiltwycks' 4-0 win over Colonial Merchants Thursday, led a 15-hit assault on Telepas and Bechtold with a double and three singles. Budd Finn, a pitcher-outfielder, socked three singles and J. Minadeo and D. Minadeo shared four hits in 12 at bats.

Joe Carlino continued his brilliant hitting in the series, with three singles in four trips. Joe also pounded three safeties in the opener at Poughkeepsie. Nippy Jones socked two singles.

In all fairness to Telepas and Bechtold, it must be pointed out that only six of the Poughkeepsie runs were untainted. A collapsible defense committed six costly miscues of record and a few of omission. Four of the five Kingston runs were earned, as Red Barber would like to say it.

Good Game Expected

Another close battle is expected today, if Fisher and Finn are near their peak. The big Jones right hander was thumped in the first All-Star contest and then dropped a decision in the twilight league down there. But the Dairymen are hoping that he is back on the beam today. Through the years he has seldom dropped "the big one."

If the Motormen decide to bypass Finn, they have strong-armed Ernie McCormick ready to go.

Graziano Predicts He'll Win in Five

Chicago, Sept. 15 (AP)—Former middleweight champion Rocky Graziano, in sharp physical condition, today predicted he would flatten welterweight Chuck Davey within five rounds of their Chicago Stadium 10-rounder Wednesday night.

"I've met his kind before," said Graziano of the undefeated Davey. "They are flashy for awhile, but I always catch them.

"How can a little kid like him beat a puncher like me?"

The sponsoring International Boxing Club expects the bout, to be televised and broadcast nationally, will attract 12,000.

Donald Van Aken Cops Caddie Title

Young Donald, who follows in the wake of big brother, Bill, two-time city champion, and Harold of the KHS golf varsity, defeated Leslie Comstock in the finals, 3 and 2.

En route to the title, Donald bowled over 9-year-old Buzzy Costello, 8 and 6, in a first round match. Then came an 8 and 7 win over Ronald Lawrence.

Leslie Comstock defeated William Husta by default; Don Balfe, 6 and 4; and won his semi-final match from John Fitzgerald, 3 and 2.

First Round

Ronald Lawrence defeated Bob Hirons, 4 and 3.

Donald Van Aken d Buzzy Costello, 8 and 6.

Henry Jacobs d Eddie Zwick, 7 and 5.

Scott Comstock d Bob McNierney, 7 and 6.

Don Balfe d Jerry White, 6 and 4.

Leslie Comstock d William Husta, default.

John Fitzgerald d James Colclough, default.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The City Baseball League is a hardy perennial that moves blithely in the face of adversity and, like the proverbial letter carrier, completes its appointed rounds in spite of everything.

It was a shockeroo to see the dismal turnout for Thursday's important meeting between Pucker Davis and his swaggering Colonial Merchants and the potent Wiltwyck Motors who were making a last ditch bid to tie for the second half pennant.

Undismayed, the two teams put on a tremendous skirmish. Davis inserted a big league touch by having two pitchers warm up as early as the second inning but to no avail as the superior qualities of the Motormen asserted themselves and they romped off with a 4-0 victory.

Midway in the contest Umpire Francis Stauble got himself involved in a freak accident with catcher Andy Juhl and the result was a severe gash on Stauble's forehead. He was rushed to the hospital while Bob Tierney moved behind the plate and George Glaser was hauled down from the bleachers to umpire the bases.

This evening the league has a second round playoff between Jones Dairy and Wiltwyck Motors that under normal conditions should jampack the area around Cornell street and Smith avenue. The baseball situation being anything but normal the league can at best only hope for a good paying crowd. But this is one time the fans should get out and make the City League players realize that their efforts are appreciated.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The Army football brass is still treating Big Ed Weaver with cautious reserve. None of the press blurbs out of the Point and the by-lined articles of football specialists in the metropolitan press have consistently referred to Ed as a "reserve end." Perhaps, we'll admit, but we venture to say he'll be first-string status within two games. Tom McNelis, ye olde Fordham Ram, enters Columbia University Saturday and what sort of football mammal will it be for Sir Thomas this year—Lion or Ram? If you caught Arthur Daley's recent column on the Little League, you must agree it was a treatise that dealt masterfully with a highly controversial but undercover reaction to the small fry baseball. And that is the chronic complaints of some people that LL baseball is too highly emotional and glamorized for immature youngsters. To that we say, let the results of Little League baseball speak for themselves.

Hudson Valley Bowling League squads are breathing easier since Cy's Diners of Newburgh, the perennial champions, decided to by-pass the 1952-53 season. The mantle of favorites naturally falls on the powerful Miron Lumber squad of Kingston. The city hasn't had a HVBL champion since the 1946-47 Jones Dairy team and that's a long time between drinks considering the quality of Kingston bowling. The Mirons figure to win with such stalwarts as Johnny Ferraro, Charlie Manfro, Larry Weishaupt, Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer and Harold Broskie. But like the Brooklyn Dodgers, Kingston powerhouses of the past have not been able to harness their pin busting power into a championship mould. This could be the year.

Baseball stars of the past have a way of slipping into Valhalla unnoticed and unsung. But when Charlie Gilmore read the honor roll before the silent multitude at Saugerties it was not difficult to recall the brilliant exploits of established stars like Jack Robins, Charlie Brice, Warren "King Kong" Shackett, Hank Smedes, Joe Brown and many others. Ah sweet mystery of baseball's yesteryear!

Snead Captures Eastern Open

Baltimore, Sept. 15 (AP) — Sam Snead has one new golf championship, the Eastern Open, on his victory belt today and has his deadly eye leveled on another.

Snead won the Eastern Open by a margin of two strokes in his first crack at it yesterday and he has the same designs on the inaugural National Celebrities Open starting Thursday in Washington.

Snead won the Eastern Open with a record-breaking 275. He was four strokes under the record of the past two tourneys, 13 under par for Mount Pleasant and two in front of second-place Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill.

Snead actually coasted home first with a 69 on the par 72 course. He started the last round of the 72-hole tourney four strokes ahead of Oliver who gave it a gallant try with a 67 for the final 18.

Oliver was the only one of 73 players who had a fighting chance to catch Snead. Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., who was three behind him going into the last round, dropped off to a final 71 to take third place five strokes off the pace.

Mountaineer Field, home of West Virginia University football, was built in 1924 and formally dedicated the next year.

Belmont Opening With $20,000 Race

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—The best race horses in the country will go out for the big money and perhaps a championship in their division as Belmont Park opens three rich weeks of racing today.

The opening, however, was marred by a fire last night which resulted in the death of 25 horses, some of them jumpers. The stable housed 49 horses. Some of those that escaped the flames were badly burned.

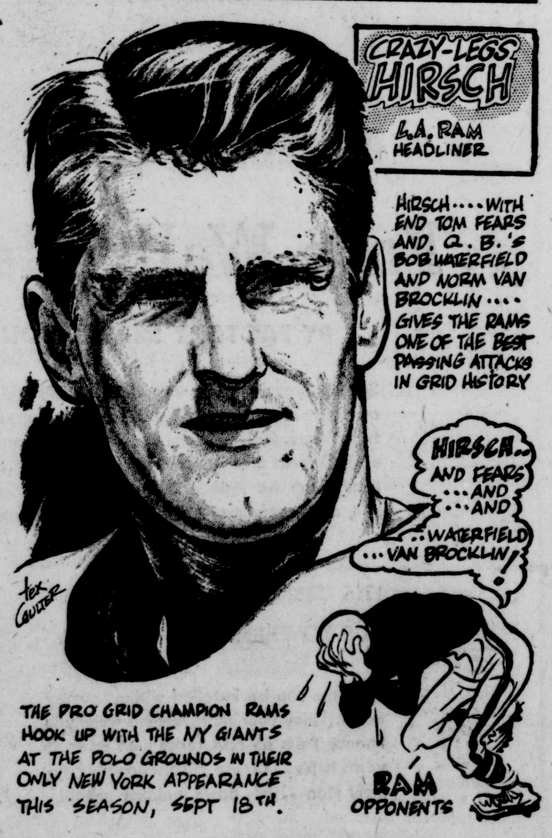

Fifteen stakes on the flat and through the field will be raced, starting with the $20,000-added Fall Highweight Handicap today and winding up with the $75,000-added Jockey Club Gold Cup and the $25,000-added Champagne Stakes on the closing day, Oct. 4.

The major event for two-year-olds will be the 63rd running of the $50,000-added Futurity Sept. 27. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Native Dancer, rated one of the finest juveniles to come down the pike in many a day, will meet a number of challengers in this six and one half furlong affair down the Widener straight course. Gross value of the Futurity will exceed $100,000.

Hialeah race track has stepped up its purses to $1,800,000 for this winter's meeting. This is an increase of $300,000 over last year's figures.

Massachusetts and New York each have 18 representatives on the Brandeis University football squad this season.

Mirons Score Sweep in HVBL Debut; Rapp's Express Drops Two to Arlington

Maybe this is the year when Kingston produces its first Hudson Valley Bowling League championship team since the 1946-47 season.

The newly-organized Miron Lumber squad, a mixture of Rapp's Express and Elston keglers of the last campaign, made their debut Saturday night with a 3-0 victory over the Channel Masters, a new entry out of Ellenville.

In other season's the local powerhouse invariably ran into rough going in getaway matches, particularly against Ellenville teams. Saturday's opening sweep may be an omen of changing fortunes.

Open With 2718

The 2718 series compiled by the three oldies—John Ferraro, Hank Kemmerer and Harold Broskie—and the two newcomers—Larry Weishaupt and Charlie Manfro—appears undistinguished in the light of the flock of 3200, 3300 and even a 3414 compiled by Rapp's last season. But the trundlers were bucking stiff alley conditions, newly resurfaced lanes with mineralastic and the inevitable new pins of 3-pound, 6-ounce weight.

The highest game they tossed Saturday night was their 929 opener. They dipped to 866 in the middle set but salvaged the game when Ellenville slumped to 851.

Harold Broskie's 572 led the Mirons. He pounded solos of 183, 177 and 212. Runnerup Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer furnished 211-562 for runnerup honors. The others batted out modest "500" triples. Larry LeCasse, the Ellenville sub-anchor, led both teams with 218-187-212-617.

Rapp's Drop Pair

The former "Whiz Kid" combination that created quite a commotion in match game circles last winter made its debut in the league under the banner of Rapp's Express and picked up one game against the touch Arlington Lanes keglers at Arlington.

After Kingston won the opener, Arlington batted 1004 in the middle set and finished with 927 for a 2-1 victory. Phil Versace anchored with 213-210-600 and Jerry Tanhope tossed a 231 solo. Chris Gallo rolled 213-585 in the anchor slot for Rapp's and Joe Ruzzo led off with 202-564. Jim Moss had a 200 solo.

White Plains Driver Dies in Stock Crash

Philadelphia, Sept. 15 (AP)—Larry Mann, of White Plains, N. Y., died in Nazareth Hospital here last night from injuries sustained when his car overturned during the 250-mile Grand National Stock Car championship race at nearby Langhorne Speedway.

Doctors said death was due to a pulmonary hemorrhage.

Another driver, Nelson Applegate, Mount Tabor, N. J., is in the hospital with a possible fractured skull. He lost control of his car on the 122nd lap and tumbled over the short guard rail.

Record Pari-Mutuel At Saratoga Raceway

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—A record one-night parimutuel handle of $182,323 today was written into the record of Saratoga Raceway's fall harness race meeting.

The wagering Saturday night by 5,677 fans erased the old autumn mark of $166,297 set in 1948. Attendance at the first Saturday program of the 30-night meeting was only 35 short of the all-time fall turnout of 5,712, set in 1946.

4th Western Amateur For Frank Stranahan

Chicago, Sept. 15 (AP)—Frank Stranahan has carved a niche for himself in the Western Golf Association's Hall of Fame by winning the group's Amateur championship for the fourth time.

He joins such old timers as H. C. Egan and Chick Evans as the only men to make such a monopoly of the coveted Western Amateur crown.

Shortly after the turn of the century Egan won it four times and then Evans captured it eight times.

Stranahan, who has won about every Amateur title but the National, defeated Harvie Ward of Atlanta 3 and 2 yesterday in a scheduled 36-hole windup of the 50th meet.

Arlington Races Are Washed Out

The fall season's first scheduled stock car racing program was rained out Sunday at Arlington Speedway.

The 50-lap Arlington Sweepstakes have been re-scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 21 when the largest entry of sportsmen's cars is expected. First heat is scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

BOWLING

The 14-team Tavern Association League launched its 1952-53 season in a new setting and as a pioneer in continuous Sunday bowling yesterday at the Central Recreation alleys.

When the 70 bowlers had completed their initial chores, George Williams stood up as the scoring leader by a single stick's margin over Al Roosa.

Williams reeled off 190-193-172 for 555 and Roosa had 188-217-149 for 544. The 217 was top solo of the night. Energetic Eddie Heins, the man who bowls in more leagues than any other local kegler, posted 201-551 and George Magley, of baseball fame, rolled 207-544.

Bill Johnson's big sweeping hook toppled 205-541 and Emil Jordan knocked off 517. Others in the "500" bracket were H. Bailey 509; Ed Lindhurst 201-507; A. Wood Jr. 500.

Geil Tops Cutters

Roy Geil took high scoring honors in the Jacobson Mixed League with a 477 series on solos of 177, 142 and 158. Al Studt with 466 and Joe Heidcamp 456 rounded out the top three spots. Warren Robinson and Paul Jones posted 453 and 452 respectively.

Jones - Wiltwyck Playoff Today; All Stars Lose to Poughkeepsie, 16 - 5

Joe Tuttle Scores Bridge City Win; Fisher and Finn Probable Pitchers

Weather permitting, Jones Dairy will try to close out the 1952 City Baseball League season in its sudden-death playoff against Wiltwyck Motors today at 5:45 p. m. at the Athletic Field.

A Jones victory would give the perennial champions a sweep of both halves and obviate plans for a playoff.

If Wiltwyck Motors triumphs, the stage will be set for a three-game championship series.

Veteran Tommy Fisher for Jones Dairy and curve-balling Bud Finn for Wiltwycks are the logical pitching choices.

Jones Dairy players who took part in Sunday's All Star contest against Poughkeepsie will carry bruises of that debacle into the playoff game.

The Bridge City club sent a 25-year pitching veteran—Lefty Joe Tuttle—to the hill and came off with a resounding 16 to 5 victory to sweep the home-and-home set.

Tuttle Fans Nine

Tuttle, who was a pitching fixture in Poughkeepsie and the Hudson Valley when several of the Kingston players had yet to see the light of day, scattered 10 hits effectively and was in trouble only twice. He walked only one batter and fanned nine.

The Bridge City Stars made it easy for their grand old southpaw. George Telepas, the youthful Colonial Merchant, had stymied Poughkeepsie through six innings of gilt-edge pitching a week ago but it wasn't his day Sunday. At least not with the way his defense acted up.

After raking George for a couple of runs in the first inning, Poughkeepsie exploded for seven runs in the second to give Telepas an early shower. Bruce Bechtold squelched the rally with two outs and nine runs and went the rest of the way, yielding seven runs and seven hits.

Wiltwycks Dominate

Five of the victorious Bridge City crew were members of the Wiltwyck Motors squad of the local league, if that means anything to Jones Dairy and Tommy Fisher.

Tim Murphy, the lanky right fielder who clouted a homer in Wiltwycks' 4-0 win over Colonial Merchants Thursday, led a 15-hit assault on Telepas and Bechtold with a double and three singles. Budd Finn, a pitcher-outfielder, socked three singles and J. Minadeo and D. Minadeo shared four hits in 12 at bats.

Joe Carlino continued his brilliant hitting in the series, with three singles in four trips. Joe also pounded three safeties in the opener at Poughkeepsie. Nippy Jones socked two singles.

In all fairness to Telepas and Bechtold, it must be pointed out that only six of the Poughkeepsie runs were untainted. A collapsible defense committed six costly miscues of record and a few of omission. Four of the five Kingston runs were earned, as Red Barber would like to say it.

Good Game Expected

Another close battle is expected today, if Fisher and Finn are near their peak. The big Jones right hander was thumped in the first All-Star contest and then dropped a decision in the twilight league down there. But the Dairymen are hoping that he is back on the beam today. Through the years he has seldom dropped "the big one."

If the Motormen decide to bypass Finn, they have strong-armed Ernie McCormick ready to go.

FYL Teams Feted

The Elks Club nine of the Fraternal Youth Baseball League will be guests of the club at a dinner tonight. Wednesday the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be host to its team. A dinner for all clubs in the league is scheduled at a later date.

Graziano Predicts He'll Win in Five

Chicago, Sept. 15 (AP)—Former middleweight champion Rocky Graziano, in sharp physical condition, today predicted he would flatten welterweight Chuck Davey within five rounds of their Chicago Stadium 10-rounder Wednesday night.

"I've met his kind before," said Graziano of the undefeated Davey. "They are flashy for awhile, but I always catch them.

"How can a little kid like him beat a puncher like me?"

The sponsoring International Boxing Club expects the bout, to be televised and broadcast nationally, will attract 12,000.

Donald Van Aken Cops Caddie Title

The Van Aken golfing dynasty has another champion in the fold.

This time it's 11-year-old Donald, who swept to the 1952 Caddie championship with four impressive victories at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

Young Donald, who follows in the wake of big brother, Bill, two-time city champion, and Harold of the KHS golf varsity, defeated Leslie Comstock in the finals, 3 and 2.

En route to the title, Donald bowled over 9-year-old Buzzy Costello, 8 and 6, in a first round match. Then came an 8 and 7 win over Ronald Lawrence.

Donald was hard pressed to eliminate Scott Comstock in the semi-finals but finally prevailed, 2-up.

Leslie Comstock defeated William Husta by default; Don Balfe, 6 and 4; and won his semi-final match from John Fitzgerald, 3 and 2.

First Round

Ronald Lawrence defeated Bob Hirons, 4 and 3.

Donald Van Aken d Buzzy Costello, 8 and 6.

Henry Jacobs d Eddie Zwick, 7 and 5.

Scott Comstock d Bob McNierney, 7 and 6.

Don Balfe d Jerry White, 6 and 4.

Leslie Comstock d William Husta, default.

John Fitzgerald d James Colclough, default.

Richard Mendel d Walter Colclough, default.

Second Round

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The City Baseball League is a hardy perennial that moves blithely in the face of adversity and, like the proverbial letter carrier, completes its appointed rounds in spite of everything.

It was a shockeroo to see the dismal turnout for Thursday's important meeting between Pucker Davis and his swaggering Colonial Merchants and the potent Wiltwyck Motors who were making a last ditch bid to tie for the second half pennant.

Undismayed, the two teams put on a tremendous skirmish. Davis inserted a big league touch by having two pitchers warm up as early as the second inning but to no avail as the superior qualities of the Motormen asserted themselves and they romped off with a 4-0 victory.

Midway in the contest Umpire Francis Stauble got himself involved in a freak accident with catcher Andy Juhl and the result was a severe gash on Stauble's forehead. He was rushed to the hospital while Bob Tierney moved behind the plate and George Glaser was hauled down from the bleachers to umpire the bases.

This evening the league has a second round playoff between Jones Dairy and Wiltwyck Motors that under normal conditions should jampack the area around Cornell street and Smith avenue. The baseball situation being anything but normal the league can at best only hope for a good paying crowd. But this is one time the fans should get out and make the City League players realize that their efforts are appreciated.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The Army football brass is still treating Big Ed Weaver with cautious reserve. None of the press blurbs out of the Point and the by-lined articles of football specialists in the metropolitan press have consistently referred to Ed as a "reserve end." Perhaps, we'll admit, but we venture to say he'll be first-string status within two games. Tom McNelis, ye olde Fordham Ram, enters Columbia University Saturday and what sort of football mammal will it be for Sir Thomas this year—Lion or Ram? If you caught Arthur Daley's recent column on the Little League, you must agree it was a treatise that dealt masterfully with a highly controversial but undercover reaction to the small fry baseball. And that is the chronic complaints of some people that LL baseball is too highly emotional and glamorized for immature youngsters. To that we say, let the results of Little League baseball speak for themselves.

Hudson Valley Bowling League squads are breathing easier since Cy's Diners of Newburgh, the perennial champions, decided to by-pass the 1952-53 season. The mantle of favorites naturally falls on the powerful Miron Lumber squad of Kingston. The city hasn't had a HVBL champion since the 1946-47 Jones Dairy team and that's a long time between drinks considering the quality of Kingston bowling. The Mirons figure to win with such stalwarts as Johnny Ferraro, Charlie Manfro, Larry Weishaupt, Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer and Harold Broskie. But like the Brooklyn Dodgers, Kingston powerhouses of the past have not been able to harness their pin busting power into a championship mould. This could be the year.

Baseball stars of the past have a way of slipping into Valhalla unnoticed and unsung. But when Charlie Gilmore read the honor roll before the silent multitude at Saugerties it was not difficult to recall the brilliant exploits of established stars like Jack Robins, Charlie Brice, Warren "King Kong" Shackett, Hank Smedes, Joe Brown and many others. Ah sweet mystery of baseball's yesteryear!

Snead Captures Eastern Open

Baltimore, Sept. 15 (AP)—Sam Snead has one new golf championship, the Eastern Open, on his victory belt today and has his deadly eye leveled on another.

Snead won the Eastern Open by a margin of two strokes in his first crack at it yesterday and he has the same designs on the inaugural National Celebrities Open starting Thursday in Washington.

Snead won the Eastern Open with a record-breaking 275. He was four strokes under the record of the past two tourneys, 13 under par for Mount Pleasant and two in front of second-place Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill.

Snead actually coasted home first with a 69 on the par 72 course. He started the last round of the 72-hole tourney four strokes ahead of Oliver who gave it a gallant try with a 67 for the final 18.

Oliver was the only one of 73 players who had a fighting chance to catch Snead. Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., who was three behind him going into the last round, dropped off to a final 71 to take third place five strokes off the pace.

Mountaineer Field, home of West Virginia University football, was built in 1924 and formally dedicated the next year.

Belmont Opening With $20,000 Race

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—The best race horses in the country will go out for the big money and perhaps a championship in their division as Belmont Park opens three rich weeks of racing today.

The opening, however, was marred by a fire last night which resulted in the death of 25 horses, some of them jumpers. The stable housed 49 horses. Some of those that escaped the flames were badly burned.

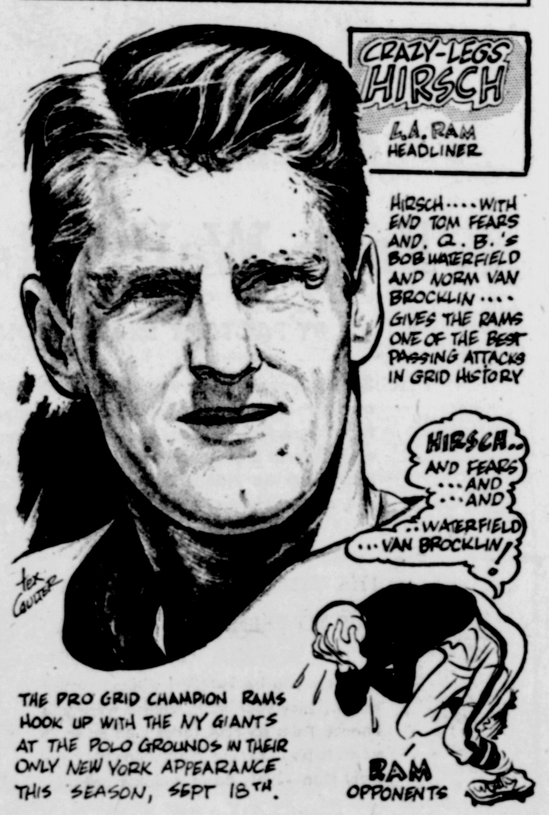

Fifteen stakes on the flat and through the field will be raced, starting with the $20,000-added Fall Highweight Handicap today and winding up with the $75,000-added Jockey Club Gold Cup and the $25,000-added Champagne Stakes on the closing day, Oct. 4.

The major event for two-year-olds will be the 63rd running of the $50,000-added Futurity Sept. 27. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Native Dancer, rated one of the finest juveniles to come down the pike in many a day, will meet a number of challengers in this six and one half furlong affair down the Widener straight course. Gross value of the Futurity will exceed $100,000.

Hialeah race track has stepped up its purses to $1,800,000 for this winter's meeting. This is an increase of $300,000 over last year's figures.

Massachusetts and New York each have 18 representatives on the Brandeis University football squad this season.

Mirons Score Sweep in HVBL Debut; Rapp's Express Drops Two to Arlington

Maybe this is the year when Kingston produces its first Hudson Valley Bowling League championship team since the 1946-47 season.

The newly-organized Miron Lumber squad, a mixture of Rapp's Express and Elston keglers of the last campaign, made their debut Saturday night with a 3-0 victory over the Channel Masters, a new entry out of Ellenville.

In other season's the local powerhouse invariably ran into rough going in getaway matches, particularly against Ellenville teams. Saturday's opening sweep may be an omen of changing fortunes.

Open With 2718

The 2718 series compiled by the three oldies—John Ferraro, Hank Kemmerer and Harold Broskie—and the two newcomers—Larry Weishaupt and Charlie Manfro—appears undistinguished in the light of the flock of 3200, 3300 and even a 3414 compiled by Rapp's last season. But the trundlers were bucking stiff alley conditions, newly resurfaced lanes with mineralastic and the inevitable new pins of 3-pound, 6-ounce weight.

The highest game they tossed Saturday night was their 929 opener. They dipped to 866 in the middle set but salvaged the game when Ellenville slumped to 851.

Harold Broskie's 572 led the Mirons. He pounded solos of 183, 177 and 212. Runnerup Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer furnished 211-562 for runnerup honors. The others batted out modest "500" triples. Larry LeCasse, the Ellenville sub-anchor, led both teams with 218-187-212-617.

Rapp's Drop Pair

The former "Whiz Kid" combination that created quite a commotion in match game circles last winter made its debut in the league under the banner of Rapp's Express and picked up one game against the touch Arlington Lanes keglers at Arlington.

After Kingston won the opener, Arlington batted 1004 in the middle set and finished with 927 for a 2-1 victory. Phil Versace anchored with 213-210-600 and Jerry Tanhope tossed a 231 solo. Chris Gallo rolled 213-585 in the anchor slot for Rapp's and Joe Ruzzo led off with 202-564. Jim Moss had a 200 solo.

White Plains Driver Dies in Stock Crash

Philadelphia, Sept. 15 (AP)—Larry Mann, of White Plains, N. Y., died in Nazareth Hospital here last night from injuries sustained when his car overturned during the 250-mile Grand National Stock Car championship race at nearby Langhorne Speedway.

Doctors said death was due to a pulmonary hemorrhage.

Another driver, Nelson Applegate, Mount Tabor, N. J., is in the hospital with a possible fractured skull. He lost control of his car on the 122nd lap and tumbled over the short guard rail.

Record Pari-Mutuel At Saratoga Raceway

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—A record one-night parimutuel handle of $182,323 today was written into the record of Saratoga Raceway's fall harness race meeting.

The wagering Saturday night by 5,677 fans erased the old autumn mark of $166,297 set in 1948. Attendance at the first Saturday program of the 30-night meeting was only 35 short of the all-time fall turnout of 5,712, set in 1946.

4th Western Amateur For Frank Stranahan

Chicago, Sept. 15 (AP)—Frank Stranahan has carved a niche for himself in the Western Golf Association's Hall of Fame by winning the group's Amateur championship for the fourth time.

He joins such old timers as H. C. Egan and Chick Evans as the only men to make such a monopoly of the coveted Western Amateur crown.

Shortly after the turn of the century Egan won it four times and then Evans captured it eight times.

Stranahan, who has won about every Amateur title but the National, defeated Harvie Ward of Atlanta 3 and 2 yesterday in a scheduled 36-hole windup of the 50th meet.

Arlington Races Are Washed Out

The fall season's first scheduled stock car racing program was rained out Sunday at Arlington Speedway.

The 50-lap Arlington Sweepstakes have been re-scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 21 when the largest entry of sportsmen's cars is expected. First heat is scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

BOWLING

The 14-team Tavern Association League launched its 1952-53 season in a new setting and as a pioneer in continuous Sunday bowling yesterday at the Central Recreation alleys.

When the 70 bowlers had completed their initial chores, George Williams stood up as the scoring leader by a single stick's margin over Al Roosa.

Williams reeled off 190-193-172 for 555 and Roosa had 188-217-149 for 544. The 217 was top solo of the night. Energetic Eddie Heins, the man who bowls in more leagues than any other local kegler, posted 201-551 and George Magley, of baseball fame, rolled 207-544.

Bill Johnson's big sweeping hook toppled 205-541 and Emil Jordan knocked off 517. Others in the "500" bracket were H. Bailey 509; Ed Lindhurst 201-507; A. Wood Jr. 500.

Geil Tops Cutters

Roy Geil took high scoring honors in the Jacobson Mixed League with a 477 series on solos of 177, 142 and 158. Al Studt with 466 and Joe Heidcamp 456 rounded out the top three spots. Warren Robinson and Paul Jones posted 453 and 452 respectively.

Yankees Appear 'In' but Dodgers Could Be Taken, but by Giants???

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The New York Yankees appear to have their fourth successive pennant wrapped up. The fast-fading Brooklyn Dodgers are ready to be taken but the New York Giants haven't the guns with which to do it.

That was the picture today following Sunday's activities which saw the Yankees win "the big one" from the Indians in Cleveland, and the Giants miss a grand opportunity to cut deeper into the Dodgers' lead.

With southpaw Eddie Lopat and righthander Allie Reynolds collaborating in fine style, the Yankees whipped the Indians, 7-1, to increase their American League lead over the Tribe to two and a half games. New York has 11 games left to play and Cleveland 10.

Although shut out 4-0 by the Cincinnati Reds, the Dodgers were able to retain their three game National League margin over the runnerup Giants when the third place St. Louis Cardinals drubbed the New Yorkers, 14-4. The Brooks and Giants each have 12 games left to play.

In other results, the Philadelphia Phillies swept a twin bill from Pittsburgh, 5-2 and 2-1; Boston's Braves and Chicago's Cubs divided a doubleheader, the Braves winning the opener, 1-0 and the Cubs took the second game, 3-2 in 10 innings.

Philadelphia's Athletics took two from the St. Louis Browns, 10-5 and 2-1; Washington whipped the Detroit Tigers, 6-2; and Chicago's White Sox nipped the Boston Red Sox, 4-3 in 17 innings. The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was cancelled by darkness after four innings with the White Sox leading 3-0.

Casey Cautious

Casey Stengel wouldn't call his Yankees "in," and Al Lopez wouldn't count his Indians "out," but the cold facts state plainly that if the Yankees win only six of their remaining 11, the Indians must win eight of 10 to tie.

"It doesn't make a bit of difference who I play, I gotta win every day," the Yankee skipper said, referring to his world champions in the first person. "It's a long time yet before the season's over."

Lopez, admitting that his team probably would have to win at least eight of its last 10 to stay in the running, continued to have hope.

"We're not out of this," he muttered after the defeat.

The Indian pilot had just seen Lopat and Reynolds limit his team to nine hits. Lopat worked five and a third innings until his arm tired and Reynolds took over, limiting the Tribe to one hit in three and two thirds innings.

Garcia Belted

Mike Garcia, who hadn't been scored on in 30 innings, gave up four runs in the third inning during a four-hit barrage to be tagged with his 10th defeat. He has won 20. Lopat notched his ninth win and his 35th lifetime wins in 44 decisions against the Indians.

Lopat ignited the big inning with a double, followed by singles by Phil Rizzuto, Joe Collins and Yogi Berra, and the Yankees had a 4-0 lead. The only Cleveland run resulted from singles by Dale Mitchell, Bob Avila and Al Rosen in the fifth.

Rookie Murders Brooks

A pair of rookies with less than a month of major league experience were key figures in the defeats of the Dodgers and Giants. A grand slam homer by Jim Greengrass, the first homer of his big league career, accounted for all the Cincinnati runs as Herman Wehmeier stopped the Dodgers with six hits.

Greengrass, 24-year-old outfielder acquired by the Reds from Beaumont of the New York Yankee chain in the deal for Ewell Blackwell, smashed his game-winning homer with two out in the third after Ted Kluszewski had been intentionally passed to load the bases. The homer came off John Rutherford, the starter and loser. It was the Dodgers' 13th death in the last 20 games.

An 11-run explosion in the fifth inning snapped a 3-3 tie and enabled the Cardinals to administer the defeat to Dave Koslo, an old nemesis. The veteran Giant southpaw had beaten the Redbirds 13 straight times and had not lost to them since June 11, 1950.

Harvey Haddix, 26-year-old southpaw, on terminal leave from the Army, went the distance for the Cards, permitting only four hits, two homers and two triples. It was his second victory against a single defeat.

Cone Indicates Volcano Off Mexico Is Declining

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 15 (AP)—Scientists back from their first look at the world's newest volcano said today the belching mountain on an island off Mexico's west coast already is on the decline.

Dr. Robert S. Dietz of the naval electronics lab here said the volcano on uninhabited Benedicto Island in Mexico's Revillagigedo group probably had its big blow-off when it started erupting six weeks ago.

While the volcano still belches clouds of smoke and yellow ash every 20 minutes, Dietz said gas odors from the 1,050-foot ash cone indicate the volcano is declining.

He said it is extremely unlikely the volcano will burst forth again with an eruption sufficient to cause a tidal wave or scatter ash here, 780 miles to the north.

Dietz and a group of other scientists flew over the volcano Saturday in an air force plane. The eruption was first reported by passing tuna fishermen.

Autumn Cools Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

The weather had caught up with the calendar today — there was a big breath of autumn cooling the midwest and east which had sweated out a belated spell of summer. It was 10 to 25 degrees cooler over the north and central plains states and the Great Lakes region. The cooling air rolled eastward about 15 miles an hour and already approached the Appalachians, bringing showers and scattered thunderstorms from Ohio and Tennessee to the Middle Atlantic States. Behind it, temperatures were rising slowly over the western third of the country.

Must Work Harder

Tehran, Iran, Sept. 15 (AP)—German financial expert Hjalmar Schacht left for home last night to prepare an economic new deal for Iran, but he bluntly told the Iranians they were "lazy" and would have to work harder to get on their feet. Schacht, whose financial wizardry backed Hitler's rise to power, said poverty stricken Iran must increase its productive labor and encourage private enterprise. Speaking with reporters at Tehran airport, he added that Iran "should increase insurance companies, co-operative companies, banking companies and get rid of (government) monopolies."

Constitution Day

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—Wednesday will be "Constitution Day" in New York state, in commemoration of the national charter's 165th anniversary. In a proclamation Saturday, Gov. Dewey said "posterity has unanimously esteemed the Constitution as the greatest charter of human liberty ever created by the mind of man."

Stu Miller, rookie pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, couldn't make his high school team. He was picked up as a free agent by the Cards' farm boss.

Scout Chuck Ward of the Phillies, a former Rutgers baseball coach, played five years as an infielder with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

A dollar to a doughnut isn't regarded as a long odds bet around here any more. Balancing the present value of a dollar against the high price of what it takes to make a doughnut, Arch Nearbrite says such a bet will soon be even money, the way things are going.

Co-Favorites Named For Little Brown Jug

Delaware, O., Sept. 15 (AP)—A 14-horse field is expected to go to the post in the Little Brown Jug race here Thursday at the Delaware County Fair Grounds.

Jug spokesmen expect 13 colts and one filly in the $60,000 three-year-old race.

Spokesmen said probable favorites may include Meadow Rice owned by W. G. Reynolds of Louisville, Ky., and Thunderclap, Saunder Mills Stable entry from Toledo, O.

Thunderclap won the $10,000 event at Grandview Oval near Cleveland last Friday night.

Holsapple Cops Katrine Trapshoot

Breaking 24 targets the first time around and 21 on the closing run, William Holsapple of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club scored a 45 to win Sunday's trapshoot at the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club.

Tony Benoit of Glasco broke 43 birds for second place and A. Emerick of Saugerties took third place with 42.

Others in the top group were William Lang 41; Frank Bruno 39 and Ben DeGraff 38.

Syracuse University, ready to start its 64th gridiron season, has never had an undefeated season.

How Well Do Bears Smell?

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

I have stood unmoving within 30 feet of a bear and watched it crop sedge, the sweetish green grass that coastal bears favor in the spring, with the animal completely unaware of my presence until the wind freaked man-scent to him.

I have several times stalked up within easy shooting range of both black and brown bears across flats empty of man-size cover, simply by moving when the critter's head was down or away, freezing when he swung up and around.

Bears have notoriously poor eyesight, although the brown bear will do better than his smaller cousin on objects both moving and still. Once either has seen a man or even a boat at fair distance he will strain for a clearer view, often raising on hind legs not to threaten but to see better. Generally speaking, however, bruin's vision leaves much more to be desired.

But there's nothing wrong with his nose. Let a stray breeze carry the whiff of the ripe aroma of a man who has been hunting for some days in the same clothes, and brother bear snaps to attention pronto. Usually he sets off for the hills in haste dignified or undignified, depending on whether he's a kingly brownie or a black.

And the range of his scenting power is phenomenal. It is my private opinion that his powers of scent are keener than those of even the suspicious whitetail.

This past Spring we were in a little bight behind Point Latouche up in Yakutat Bay. When we dropped anchor the wind was quartering offshore so that man and boat smells were carried away from the snow-filled valley that ran five or six miles back in the mountains. On a slide between 800 and 1,000 yards up the valley we spotted a young brownie out of hibernation unwisely early, obviously on the prowl for feed. His aimless wandering carried him through a patch of alders and out onto another snow patch a good 200 yards farther from us, still quite unsuspicious of anything in the world but his own empty belly.

Suddenly the boat veered around under a gusty breeze that eddied around the point and up the valley. Three or four minutes later we saw that bear whip to attention, take a healthy lung-full of tainted air, and then start along the slope away from us as hard as he could go.

With a noseful of danger, a black bear will make for the heavy timber without hesitation in just this same fashion; but a brown bear or grizzly, boss of the local boiler works until he has acquired education about the threat mankind offers, may not always be in such a sweat to depart a tainted area.

Only a pair of seasons ago a friend was obliged to shoot a bear that had seen him clearly moving, had obviously winded him, and had heard him yelling, but still kept coming in with deadly purposefulness. That brownie had earlier been wounded by some trigger-happy nincompoop, and to it man-smell meant merely an opportunity for revenge.

Usually even the big bears take any taint of man as reason for having a date over the ridge—and they can pick up the slightest trace. Not just camp smoke, which doesn't bother them too much, but merely the trace of human scent occasioned by a careless touch of a log by the trail, a brush against a bush, or even, believe it or not, the prints of wet rubber boots on stream gravel.

Here's something extra-good

IRISH CREAM ALE
BRAND

After a long, hard day that seemed like it was never going to end, you deserve something extra-good. May we suggest that you make it a tall, cold glass of Irish Cream Ale. It has that true ale taste you prize, yet—because it is brewed on the light side—it is never heavy or bitter. So today, or any day, pick up bottles or cans on your way home. Or enjoy it from the tap. Either way, you're making a mighty smart move.

IRISH CREAM ALE
ON TAP, TOO!

The mellow brew that's tried and true!

Yankees Appear 'In' but Dodgers Could Be Taken, but by Giants???

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The New York Yankees appear to have their fourth successive pennant wrapped up. The fast-fading Brooklyn Dodgers are ready to be taken but the New York Giants haven't the guns with which to do it.

That was the picture today following Sunday's activities which saw the Yankees win "the big one" from the Indians in Cleveland, and the Giants miss a grand opportunity to cut deeper into the Dodgers' lead.

With southpaw Eddie Lopat and righthander Allie Reynolds collaborating in fine style, the Yankees whipped the Indians, 7-1, to increase their American League lead over the Tribe to two and a half games. New York has 11 games left to play and Cleveland 10.

Although shut out 4-0 by the Cincinnati Reds, the Dodgers were able to retain their three game National League margin over the runnerup Giants when the third place St. Louis Cardinals drubbed the New Yorkers, 14-4. The Brooks and Giants each have 12 games left to play.

In other results, the Philadelphia Phillies swept a twin bill from Pittsburgh, 5-2 and 2-1; Boston's Braves and Chicago's Cubs divided a doubleheader, the Braves winning the opener, 1-0 and the Cubs took the second game, 3-2 in 10 innings.

Philadelphia's Athletics took two from the St. Louis Browns, 10-5 and 2-1; Washington whipped the Detroit Tigers, 6-2; and Chicago's White Sox nipped the Boston Red Sox, 4-3 in 17 innings. The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was cancelled by darkness after four innings with the White Sox leading 3-0.

Casey Cautious

Casey Stengel wouldn't call his Yankees "in," and Al Lopez wouldn't count his Indians "out," but the cold facts state plainly that if the Yankees win only six of their remaining 11, the Indians must win eight of 10 to tie.

"It doesn't make a bit of difference who I play, I gotta win every day," the Yankee skipper said, referring to his world champions in the first person. "It's a long time yet before the season's over."

Lopez, admitting that his team probably would have to win at least eight of its last 10 to stay in the running, continued to have hope.

"We're not out of this," he muttered after the defeat.

The Indian pilot had just seen Lopat and Reynolds limit his team to nine hits. Lopat worked five and a third innings until his arm tired and Reynolds took over, limiting the Tribe to one hit in three and two thirds innings.

Garcia Belted

Mike Garcia, who hadn't been scored on in 30 innings, gave up four runs in the third inning during a four-hit barrage to be tagged with his 10th defeat. He has won 20. Lopat notched his ninth win and his 35th lifetime wins in 44 decisions against the Indians.

Lopat ignited the big inning with a double, followed by singles by Phil Rizzuto, Joe Collins and Yogi Berra, and the Yankees had a 4-0 lead. The only Cleveland run resulted from singles by Dale Mitchell, Bob Avila and Al Rosen in the fifth.

Rookie Murders Brooks

A pair of rookies with less than a month of major league experience were key figures in the defeats of the Dodgers and Giants. A grand slam homer by Jim Greengrass, the first homer of his big league career, accounted for all the Cincinnati runs as Herman Wehmeier stopped the Dodgers with six hits.

Greengrass, 24-year-old outfielder acquired by the Reds from Beaumont of the New York Yankee chain in the deal for Ewell Blackwell, smashed his game-winning homer with two out in the third after Ted Kluszewski had been intentionally passed to load the bases. The homer came off John Rutherford, the starter and loser. It was the Dodgers' 13th death in the last 20 games.

An 11-run explosion in the fifth inning snapped a 3-3 tie and enabled the Cardinals to administer the defeat to Dave Koslo, an old nemesis. The veteran Giant southpaw had beaten the Redbirds 13 straight times and had not lost to them since June 11, 1950.

Harvey Haddix, 26-year-old southpaw, on terminal leave from the Army, went the distance for the Cards, permitting only four hits, two homers and two triples. It was his second victory against a single defeat.

Cone Indicates Volcano Off Mexico Is Declining

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 15 (AP)—Scientists back from their first look at the world's newest volcano said today the belching mountain on an island off Mexico's west coast already is on the decline.

Dr. Robert S. Dietz of the naval electronics lab here said the volcano on uninhabited Benedicto Island in Mexico's Revillagigedo group probably had its big blow-off when it started erupting six weeks ago.

While the volcano still belches clouds of smoke and yellow ash every 20 minutes, Dietz said gas odors from the 1,050-foot ash cone indicate the volcano is declining.

He said it is extremely unlikely the volcano will burst forth again with an eruption sufficient to cause a tidal wave or scatter ash here, 780 miles to the north.

Dietz and a group of other scientists flew over the volcano Saturday in an air force plane. The eruption was first reported by passing tuna fishermen.

Co-Favorites Named For Little Brown Jug

Delaware, O., Sept. 15 (AP)—A 14-horse field is expected to go to the post in the Little Brown Jug race here Thursday at the Delaware County Fair Grounds.

Jug spokesmen expect 13 colts and one filly in the $60,000 three-year-old race.

Spokesmen said probable favorites may include Meadow Rice owned by W. G. Reynolds of Louisville, Ky., and Thunderclap, Saunder Mills Stable entry from Toledo, O.

Thunderclap won the $10,000 event at Grandview Oval near Cleveland last Friday night.

Holsapple Cops Katrine Trapshoot

Breaking 24 targets the first time around and 21 on the closing run, William Holsapple of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club scored a 45 to win Sunday's trapshoot at the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club.

Tony Benoit of Glasco broke 43 birds for second place and A. Emerick of Saugerties took third place with 42.

Others in the top group were William Lang 41; Frank Bruno 39 and Ben DeGraff 38.

Syracuse University, ready to start its 64th gridiron season, has never had an undefeated season.

Autumn Cools Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

The weather had caught up with the calendar today — there was a big breath of autumn cooling the midwest and east which had sweated out a belated spell of summer. It was 10 to 25 degrees cooler over the north and central plains states and the Great Lakes region. The cooling air rolled eastward about 15 miles an hour and already approached the Appalachians, bringing showers and scattered thunderstorms from Ohio and Tennessee to the Middle Atlantic States. Behind it, temperatures were rising slowly over the western third of the country.

Must Work Harder

Tehran, Iran, Sept. 15 (AP)—German financial expert Hjalmar Schacht left for home last night to prepare an economic new deal for Iran, but he bluntly told the Iranians they were "lazy" and would have to work harder to get on their feet. Schacht, whose financial wizardry backed Hitler's rise to power, said poverty stricken Iran must increase its productive labor and encourage private enterprise. Speaking with reporters at Tehran airport, he added that Iran "should increase insurance companies, co-operative companies, banking companies and get rid of (government) monopolies."

Constitution Day

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP)—Wednesday will be "Constitution Day" in New York state, in commemoration of the national charter's 165th anniversary. In a proclamation Saturday, Gov. Dewey said "posterity has unanimously esteemed the Constitution as the greatest charter of human liberty ever created by the mind of man."

Stu Miller, rookie pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, couldn't make his high school team. He was picked up as a free agent by the Cards' farm boss.

Scout Chuck Ward of the Phillies, a former Rutgers baseball coach, played five years as an infielder with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

A dollar to a doughnut isn't regarded as a long odds bet around here any more. Balancing the present value of a dollar against the high price of what it takes to make a doughnut, Arch Nearbrite says such a bet will soon be even money, the way things are going.

How Well Do Bears Smell?

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

I have stood unmoving within 30 feet of a bear and watched it crop sedge, the sweetish green grass that coastal bears favor in the spring, with the animal completely unaware of my presence until the wind freaked man-scent to him.

I have several times stalked up within easy shooting range of both black and brown bears across flats empty of man-size cover, simply by moving when the critter's head was down or away, freezing when he swung up and around.

Bears have notoriously poor eyesight, although the brown bear will do better than his smaller cousin on objects both moving and still. Once either has seen a man or even a boat at fair distance he will strain for a clearer view, often raising on hind legs not to threaten but to see better. Generally speaking, however, bruin's vision leaves much more to be desired.

But there's nothing wrong with his nose. Let a stray breeze carry the whiff of the ripe aroma of a man who has been hunting for some days in the same clothes, and brother bear snaps to attention pronto. Usually he sets off for the hills in haste dignified or undignified, depending on whether he's a kingly brownie or a black.

And the range of his scenting power is phenomenal. It is my private opinion that his powers of scent are keener than those of even the suspicious whitetail.

This past Spring we were in a little bight behind Point Latouche up in Yakutat Bay. When we dropped anchor the wind was quartering offshore so that man and boat smells were carried away from the snow-filled valley that ran five or six miles back in the mountains. On a slide between 800 and 1,000 yards up the valley we spotted a young brownie out of hibernation unwisely early, obviously on the prowl for feed. His aimless wandering carried him through a patch of alders and out onto another snow patch a good 200 yards farther from us, still quite unsuspicious of anything in the world but his own empty belly.

Suddenly the boat veered around under a gusty breeze that eddied around the point and up the valley. Three or four minutes later we saw that bear whip to attention, take a healthy lung-full of tainted air, and then start along the slope away from us as hard as he could go.

With a noseful of danger, a black bear will make for the heavy timber without hesitation in just this same fashion; but a brown bear or grizzly, boss of the local boiler works until he has acquired education about the threat mankind offers, may not always be in such a sweat to depart a tainted area.

Only a pair of seasons ago a friend was obliged to shoot a bear that had seen him clearly moving, had obviously winded him, and had heard him yelling, but still kept coming in with deadly purposefulness. That brownie had earlier been wounded by some trigger-happy nincompoop, and to it man-smell meant merely an opportunity for revenge.

Usually even the big bears take any taint of man as reason for having a date over the ridge—and they can pick up the slightest trace. Not just camp smoke, which doesn't bother them too much, but merely the trace of human scent occasioned by a careless touch of a log by the trail, a brush against a bush, or even, believe it or not, the prints of wet rubber boots on stream gravel.

Here's something extra-good

IRISH CREAM ALE
BRAND

After a long, hard day that seemed like it was never going to end, you deserve something extra-good. May we suggest that you make it a tall, cold glass of Irish Cream Ale. It has that true ale taste you prize, yet — because it is brewed on the light side — it is never heavy or bitter. So today, or any day, pick up bottles or cans on your way home. Or enjoy it from the tap. Either way, you're making a mighty smart move.

IRISH CREAM ALE
ON TAP, TOO!

The mellow brew that's tried and true!

The F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co., Albany, N.Y.

WANT-AD WONDERS Trade Mark

Want Ads Aid to Famed Pinkertons In Solving Crimes

Among the earliest cases solved by Allan Pinkerton and his famous detective agency was "the baffling case of A. B.," the murder of Adolph Bonner, an obscure German immigrant artist, at Edgewood, N. Y. A Personal ad placed in a German language paper brought identity of the victim, subsequently led to trapping of his slayer.

Conley Case Is Adjourned Week

The case of Richard Conley, of 285 North street, who was arrested Saturday on three charges was put over to Sept. 22 when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Conley was arrested Saturday on charges of driving while intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident and with having no operator's license. It is charged that the car he drove struck and damaged a sedan parked on the strand near Gill street Saturday.

Conley is represented by Attorney Howard C. St. John and John Larkin appeared for the district attorney's office. Bail was set at $200.

Wilbur Weaver, 25, of 100 West Union street, who was arrested early Sunday by Geraldine Longtoe of West Union street on a third degree assault charge, pleaded not guilty, and the case was put over until Thursday. Bail was fixed at $100.

that while he was at the scene of the mishap at Broadway and McEntee street, a car owned by the Curtis Circulation Co., of Philadelphia and driven by Arthur Hansen, of 169 Pine street, skidded and struck a no-parking sign on the Broadway hill. Both the car and sign were damaged slightly, he said.

Man Struck by Car

Officers George Dougherty and Francis Loeffler reported at 10:25 p. m., Sunday that Cecil Mowell, 54, of 15 Green street, suffered abrasions of the head and right elbow in another mishap at John and Wall streets.

A car owned by James DeCicco, of 325 East Chester street, and driven by Charles Mayone, of Glasco, was turning from Wall street into John street, when Mowell was struck. He was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment, the report said.

Police investigated a call at 5:52 a. m., Sunday which said a strange car was in the yard at 291 West O'Reilly street, and found that a car owned by Jane Ackley, of 12 Mary's avenue and driven by Walter Buddenhagen, 18, of the same address, had damaged shrubbery and the lawn on the Tracy Van Kleeck property. Officers George Loughran and Harold Bowers investigated.

At 3:50 a. m., today police were notified that a car operated up Broadway by Ina Plass, of 291 Washington avenue, had struck a light pole near Foxhall avenue and damaged it at the base.

Europeans Are . . .

by a 26-man committee aided by 13 observers from other nations, including three from Britain.

The assembly also requested the Council of Europe to make available to it a report on the legal aspects of federation of confederation drawn up by a panel of experts on international law.

The convention's speedy start on its task—it hopes to complete a constitution by March 10—posed a new challenge to British Foreign Secretary Eden who arrived last night from London to outline Britain's position toward this newest move toward European unity.

The British diplomat is the author of his own Eden plan to coordinate such supra-national European communities as the Shuman group and the projected European Defense Community (EDC) under the Council of Europe, of which Britain is a member. Some advocates of continental unity see the Eden plan as a British attempt to brake progress toward a European federation.

Britain previously has contended that the council provides the best vehicle for the collaboration of the continental nations and herself. Instead of an all-embracing federation, she has argued for an overall linking which she can join, with smaller groupings in various fields which she can stay out of if she desires.

Night-flying B-25 bomber pilots made a series of attacks on the North Korean highway net last night. Pilots reported 120 vehicles destroyed, the highest total in five months.

In the only ground fighting of any size across the 155-mile battle front Sunday, South Korean infantrymen failed in a savage attempt to throw Chinese Reds off Finger Ridge on the Central Front.

The South Koreans smashed up the slopes with bared bayonets and flame throwers and grabbed the crest of the hill about 6 a. m. The Chinese lashed back with a counter attack several hours later and regained the position.

Tito Would Put Off Trieste Dispute Talks

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Sept. 15 (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito says Italy and Yugoslavia should put aside their bitter dispute over Trieste until they can approach the question "with more sense."

"Let's cooperate on other questions which are of extreme importance such as assurance against aggression, economic exchanges and the preservation of the peace of the world," Tito said. He spoke yesterday before an estimated crowd of 250,000 persons who had converged by truck and train on the little Slovene town of Dolenjske Toplice to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the formation of a wartime partisan unit there.

The unyielding claims of both Italy and Yugoslavia to the free territory of Trieste, at the head of the Adriatic, have worried the western allies trying to promote cooperation between countries opposed to Soviet aggression.

Recommendations Made

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—A minimum wage of 80 cents an hour and a one-week paid vacation a year are recommended for some 26,000 cleaning and dyeing workers in the state by a minimum wage board for the industry. The board's recommendations were made yesterday to State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi. He must hold public hearings on the proposals within 30 days, and then accept or reject the proposals.

Bones Placed in Castle

Hechingen, Germany, Sept. 15 (AP)—The bones of Frederick the Great and his father, Frederick Wilhelm I, rested in the 1,000-year-old hilltop Hohenzollern castle here today after seven years of wandering. Members of the old imperial family brought the caskets of the two great Prussian kings from Marburg for reburial yesterday. The hallowed national relics will remain here, the family said, until "Germany will again be reunited in freedom."

Recommendations Made

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—A minimum wage of 80 cents an hour and a one-week paid vacation a year are recommended for some 26,000 cleaning and dyeing workers in the state by a minimum wage board for the industry. The board's recommendations were made yesterday to State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi. He must hold public hearings on the proposals within 30 days, and then accept or reject the proposals.

Bones Placed in Castle

Hechingen, Germany, Sept. 15 (AP)—The bones of Frederick the Great and his father, Frederick Wilhelm I, rested in the 1,000-year-old hilltop Hohenzollern castle here today after seven years of wandering. Members of the old imperial family brought the caskets of the two great Prussian kings from Marburg for reburial yesterday. The hallowed national relics will remain here, the family said, until "Germany will again be reunited in freedom."

Choose Vegetables Carefully

When you are broiling steak or chops for dinner choose vegetables that can be broiled along with the meat. This saves time, dish washing and fuel.

Family Rosary Crusade Is Launched Here

Rosary Crusade Begun in Counties

The Family Rosary Crusade of the Catholic Archdiocese of New York was launched Sunday for the restoration of the Rosary as a family prayer.

Plans for the participation of Ulster and Sullivan counties were discussed at two meetings in Kingston Friday at which time the Rev. Patrick Peyton, C.S.C., director of the crusade, met with religious and lay leaders of Catholic parishes in the two counties.

At the meeting Friday night Father Peyton told an audience of pastors and key laymen that the intensive five-week campaign to restore the Rosary would begin Sunday with the reading of a pastoral letter from His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman. Father Peyton explained the nature of the crusade and pointed out that the highlight in this area would be a rally at the municipal stadium Sunday, Sept. 28, at 3 p. m.

Rt. Rev. Martin J. Drury, P.R., V.F., dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties and honorary chairman of the crusade in this area, presided and introduced Father Peyton.

The Rt. Rev. Joseph A. McCaffrey, P.A., archdiocesan director of the campaign, said that the crusade came at a time when family life was disintergrating and families being dispersed. "It can be the means of uniting the American family again by bringing God back into the home," he stated.

The Rt. Rev. John J. Murphy, C.S.C., Father Peyton's associate in the crusade, outlined the parish organization and explained the use of the literature provided.

The Rev. John Simmons of St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, is general chairman of the crusade for Ulster and Sullivan counties.

Friday afternoon a meeting of teachers in Catholic schools in the two counties was held at which Father Peyton explained their part in the crusade.

Tells of Captivity

New York, Sept. 15 (AP) — A young Brooklyn mother reported to police that a hulking Negro forced her from a subway train at knife-point and held her captive for nearly six hours. Mrs. Henry Bratteson, 22, wife of a stock clerk and mother of a 21-month-old daughter, said she successfully resisted her captor's attempts to rape her.

To Begin 42-Hour Week

New York, Sept. 15 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri announced today that all city employes will go on a 42-hour week beginning Jan. 1. The present city work week is 48 hours.

Two Persons Injured

Mattawa, Ont., Sept. 15 (AP)—Two Canadian Pacific passenger trains collided head-on in a fog here last night but only two persons, a fireman and an engineer, were seriously injured. Two others were hurt less seriously and about 100 passengers suffered minor cuts and bruises. No immediate cause was given for the wreck, in which the westbound express crashed into an eastbound train standing still at Mattawa.

Medals Are Presented

Paris, Sept. 15 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, now touring American cemeteries in Europe as chairman of the U. S. Battle Monuments Commission, presented the Medal of Freedom today to 11 Frenchmen and a Belgian who helped protect Americans' graves during World War 2. One of those decorated was a woman.
